A provocative look at the fate of the written and spoken word

CRITICAL ACCLAIM FOR JOHN MCWHORTER:

"McWhorter's arguments are sharply reasoned, refreshingly honest, and thoroughly original."

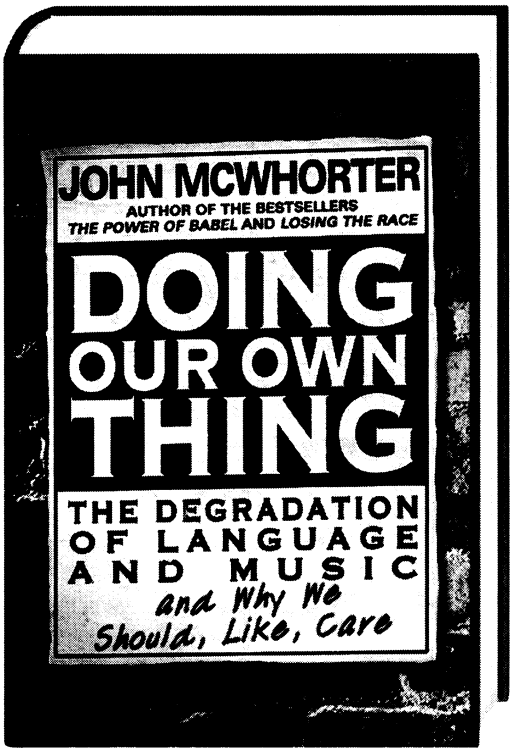

Steven Pinker

"McWhorter is in a long and honorable tradition of dissent, one composed of both liberal and conservative strains."

The Washington Post

Critically acclaimed linguist John McWhorter explores the triumph of casual over formal speech and its effect on Americans' ability to write, read, critique, argue, and imagine. He contends that "our increasing alienation from 'written language' signals a gutting of our intellectual powers, our self-regard as a nation, and thus our very substance as a people."

Timely, thought-provoking, and compellingly written, Doing Our Own Thing is sure to stoke many debates about the fate of our threatened intellectual culture, and the destiny of our democracy.

Any manuscript, however, that has been accepted for publication as an article will have to be revised so as to conform strictly to the LANGUAGE style sheet. For the complete style sheet, see the December LSA Bulletin, the LANGUAGE web page at www.lsadc.org/language/, or write to the editors.

This policy does not apply to book reviews and book notices. These are all solicited by the Review Editor and they must adhere as closely as possible to the LANGUAGE style sheet on first submission.
