VOLUME 42 NUMBER 2 WINTER 2025

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654

Social Philosophy & Policy

Wealth of Nations at 250

Guest Editor: Maria Pia Paganelli

Editor: David Schmidtz

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Social Philosophy & Policy

ISSN 0265-0525

Editor: David Schmidtz
Executive Editors: Fred D. Miller, Jr. and Jeffrey Paul
Associate Editors: Carmen Pavel, Bas van der Vossen, Jason Brennan, and Jacob T. Levy
Administrative Editor: Tamara Sharp
Managing Editor: Lynn A. Jansen
Production Editor: Carrie-Ann Biondi

Editorial Board

Jennifer Baker
College of Charleston

Allen Buchanan
University of Arizona

Tyler Cowen
George Mason University

Richard A. Epstein
New York University School of Law

James S. Fishkin
Stanford University

Daniel Jacobson
University of Colorado, Boulder

Chandran Kukathas
Singapore Management University

Loren E. Lomasky
University of Virginia

Eric Mack
Tulane University

Harvey C. Mansfield
Harvard University

Michael C. Munger
Duke University

Molly McGrath
Assumption University

Mary Rigdon
University of Arizona

Geoffrey Sayre-McCord
University of North Carolina–Chapel Hill

Hillel Steiner
University of Manchester
University of Arizona

Project Editors

Christopher Berry
University of Glasgow

Richard Boyd
Georgetown University

James Chandler
The University of Chicago

Kristen Collins
Mercatus Center, George Mason University

Samuel Fleischacker
University of Illinois, Chicago

Fonna Forman
University of California, San Diego

Christel Fricke
University of Oslo

Heinz Kurz
University of Graz

Jacob Levy
McGill University

Erik Matson
The Catholic University of America

Nerio Naldi
University of Rome

Margaret Schabas
University of British Columbia

Craig Smith
University of Glasgow

Copyright © 2025 Social Philosophy and Policy Foundation

Printed by Sheridan, a CJK Group Company

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, in any form or by any means, electronic, photocopying or otherwise, without permission in writing from Social Philosophy & Policy. Photocopying information for users in the USA: The Item-Free Code for this publication (0265-0525/12 $15.00) indicates that copying for internal or personal use beyond that permitted by Sec. 107 or 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law is authorized for users duly registered with the Copyright Clearance Center (CCC) Transaction Reporting Service, provided that the appropriate remittance is paid directly to: CCC, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923. Specific written permission must be obtained from Social Philosophy & Policy for all other copying.

Social Philosophy & Policy is a registered trademark owned by the Social Philosophy and Policy Foundation.

Printed in the United States of America

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

TABLE OF CONTENTS

DAVID SCHMIDTZ	The Wealth of Nations at 250	223
MARIA PIA PAGANELLI	Adam Smith the Dissenter	237
PAUL SAGAR	Adam Smith, David Hume, and the Problem of Moral Relativism	250
KAREN HORN	The Impartial Spectator's Counterpart in Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations	274
ROOS SLEGERS	Localized and Isolated: Mary Wollstonecraft and Adam Smith on the Rich, Women, and Public Opinion	295
SHEILA CHRISTINE DOW	Adam Smith and the Foundations of Pluralism	314
MARIA A. CARRASCO	Sympathy and the Wealth of Nations	330
RYAN PATRICK HANLEY	Adam Smith on the American Crisis: An Economic, Moral, and Political Case Study	351
YOSHIE KAWADE	The Structure of Liberty in Montesquieu and Adam Smith	368
DENNIS C. RASMUSSEN	Adam Smith and the Prudence of a Legislator	387
BARRY R. WEINGAST	An Emendation of Adam Smith's "Luxury Hypothesis"	402
MAURICIO C. COUTINHO	Real and Nominal Prices in Smith	416
AARON JAMES	Does Adam Smith Have a Theory of Money?	434
FABRIZIO SIMON	Adam Smith and Whig Constitutionalism in the Mediterranean	455

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

ERIC SCHLIESSER	Federalism and the Unity of Early Liberalism: Bentham's and Kant's Reception of Adam Smith's "New Imperialism"	474
AARON GARRETT	Gewgaws, Baubles, Frivolous Objects, and Trinkets: Adam Smith (and Cugoano) on Slavery	495
MASAZUMI WAKATABE	"Opulence and Freedom": What Adam Smith Could Teach Us about the Future of Capitalism	516
CAROLINE BREASHEARS	Cover Stories: Marketing and Debating the Wealth of Nations through Book Arts	546

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

CONTRIBUTORS

David Schmidtz is Editor of Social Philosophy & Policy.

Maria Pia Paganelli is a Professor of Economics at Trinity University. Her research focuses on Adam Smith, David Hume, and eighteenth-century monetary theories. She is author of The Routledge Guidebook to Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations (2020), and coeditor of The Oxford Handbook of Adam Smith (2013; with Christopher Berry and Craig Smith) and Adam Smith and Rousseau: Ethics, Politics, Economics (2018; with Dennis Rasmussen and Craig Smith). Paganelli's articles have appeared in journals such as Cambridge Journal of Economics, History of European Ideas, and Journal of Scottish Philosophy. She served as the Vice President of the History of Economics Society and as the book review editor for the Journal of the History of Economic Thought. She is the current President of the International Adam Smith Society as well as of the History of Economics Society.

Paul Sagar is a Reader in Political Theory at King's College London. He works in the history of political thought and contemporary political theory. He is author of The Opinion of Mankind: Sociability and the Theory of the State from Hobbes to Smith (2018); Adam Smith Reconsidered: History, Liberty, and the Foundations of Modern Politics (2022); and Basic Equality (2024). He is editor of Interpreting Adam Smith: Critical Essays (2023). Sagar has also published articles on the political thought of Bernard Williams, "realist" approaches to political philosophy, the nature of liberty under conditions of modernity, and the idea of immortality in journals such as Political Theory, Journal of Politics, and Journal of Moral Philosophy. He also writes for more popular audiences in The Guardian, The Times Literary Supplement, Aeon, Unherd, and The Critic.

Karen Horn is Honorary Professor teaching the history of economic thought and journalism at the University of Erfurt, Germany. Her academic interests are located at the intersection of philosophy, economics, political science, and history. In her teaching and research, she focuses on the works of Adam Smith, Friedrich Hayek, Walter Eucken, and the German "ordoliberals." She also serves as the Editor-in-Chief of Perspektiven der Wirtschaftspolitik, a scholarly journal published by the German Economic Association. She is a co-founder and co-chair of the Network for Constitutional Economics and Social Philosophy (NOUS).

Roos Slegers is an Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Tilburg University, the Netherlands. In her research and teaching, Slegers explores the intersection of philosophy, literature, and popular culture, with a focus on the way eighteenth-century narratives can help us frame and understand twenty-first-century social issues, such as loneliness, vanity, alienation, and hope. Slegers is author of Courageous Vulnerability (2010) and Adam Smith's Moral Sentiments in Vanity Fair (2018). Her articles have appeared in journals such as Ethical Perspectives, The Journal of Ethics, and The Journal of Business Ethics. Slegers also writes for a wider, non-academic audience on horror, fantasy, and science fiction—genres uniquely suited to address the anxieties of our time, from ecological crisis to social fragmentation.

Sheila Dow is Emeritus Professor of Economics at the University of Stirling, Scotland; Adjunct Professor of Economics at the University of Victoria, Canada; a member of the Academic Council of the Institute for New Economic Thinking; and a Fellow of the Academy of Social Sciences. Her research focuses on the history of economic thought—especially the work of David Hume, Adam Smith, and John Maynard Keynes—and on raising methodological awareness in the fields of macroeconomics and money and banking. She has held positions with the Bank of England and the Government of Manitoba and has served as special advisor on monetary policy to the U.K. Treasury Select Committee. Dow is author of several books, including Foundations for New Economic Thinking (2012) and Economic Methodology: An Inquiry (2002), and is coeditor of The General Theory and Keynes for the 21st Century (2018; with Jesper Jespersen and Geoff Tily) and Money, Method, and Contemporary Post-Keynesian Economics (2018; with Jesper Jespersen and Geoff Tily).

Maria A. Carrasco is Professor of Moral Philosophy at University of los Andes in Chile. She has published dozens of articles on the Scottish Enlightenment, especially concerning Adam Smith's Theory of Moral Sentiments. Her articles have appeared in scholarly journals, including Review of Metaphysics, Journal of Scottish Philosophy, and British Journal for the History of Philosophy.

Ryan Patrick Hanley is the J. Joseph Moakley Professor of Political Science at Boston College. He is author of four books and sixty articles and chapters on Enlightenment political philosophy. His work on Adam Smith includes his authored books Adam Smith and the Character of Virtue (2009) and Our Great Purpose: Adam Smith on Living a Better Life (2019); an edited collection Adam Smith: His Life, Thought, and Legacy (2015); and scholarly articles published in journals such as Political Theory and Constellations. Most recently he is author of The Political Philosophy of Fénelon (2020) and translator of a companion volume, Fénelon: Moral and Political Writings (2020).

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

Yoshie Kawade is a professor at the Open University of Japan and Professor Emeritus of History of Political Thought at the University of Tokyo, Japan. Her research and publications lie at the intersection of politics, economics, and culture. She is the author of Aristocracy and Commerce: Montesquieu and the Problem of Despotism (1996) and The Pursuit of Peace: Cosmopolitanism and Patriotism in Eighteenth-Century France (2023).

Dennis C. Rasmussen is a Professor of Political Science and the Hagerty Family Fellow at Syracuse University's Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. His research focuses on the Enlightenment, the American founding, and the virtues and shortcomings of liberal democracy and market capitalism. He is the author of five books, including The Infidel and the Professor: David Hume, Adam Smith, and the Friendship That Shaped Modern Thought (2017); The Problems and Promise of Commercial Society: Adam Smith's Response to Rousseau (2008); and The Pragmatic Enlightenment: Recovering the Liberalism of Hume, Smith, Montesquieu, and Voltaire (2014). He is coeditor of Adam Smith and Rousseau: Ethics, Politics, Economics (2018; with Maria Pia Paganelli and Craig Smith). Rasmussen's articles have appeared in journals such as Adam Smith Review and History of Political Thought.

Barry R. Weingast is the Ward C. Krebs Family Professor of Political Science at Stanford University and a Senior Fellow at the Hoover Institution. Weingast's research focuses on the political foundation of markets, economic reform, and regulation. He has written extensively on problems of political economy in development, federalism and decentralization, legal institutions and the rule of law, and democracy. Weingast is coauthor of Violence and Social Orders: A Conceptual Framework for Interpreting Recorded Human History (2009; with Douglass C. North and John Joseph Wallis) and Korean Political and Economic Development (2013; with Jongryn Mo). He coedited The Oxford Handbook of Political Economy (2006; with Donald Wittman). Weingast has won numerous awards, including the William H. Riker Prize, the Heinz Eulau Prize (with Ken Shepsle), the Franklin L. Burdette Pi Sigma Alpha Award (with Kenneth Schultz), and the James L. Barr Memorial Prize in Public Economics.

Mauricio C. Coutinho is Professor of Economics at the University of Campinas (UNICAMP), Brazil. His research concerns the history of economic ideas, most recently concentrating on the formation of modern monetary economics, the economic thought of Adam Smith and James Steuart, and the spread of political economy in Portugal and Brazil during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. His articles have appeared in scholarly journals, including Journal of Contemporary Economics and Economic Studies.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

Aaron James is Professor of Philosophy at the University of California, Irvine. His research ranges over topics on the foundations of ethics, moral theory, money and trade, and political philosophy. He is the author of many articles in journals such as Journal of Moral Philosophy, Journal of International Political Theory, Ratio Juris, and Legal Theory. He has authored Fairness in Practice: A Social Contract for a Global Economy (2012) and coauthored Money from Nothing: Or, Why We Should Stop Worrying about Debt and Learn to Love the Federal Reserve (2020; with Robert Hockett).

Fabrizio Simon is Associate Professor at the University of Palermo where he teaches courses in history and economics. His research focuses on Enlightenment economic thought, international circulation of economic ideas, institutional history of Italian and Sicilian economic thought during the liberal age, and the origin and history of the economic analysis of law. He has coauthored Le Carte di Francesco Ferrara (2014; with Anna Li Donni). His articles have appeared in scholarly journals such as History of Economic Ideas and Journal of the History of Economic Thought.

Eric Schliesser is Professor of Political Science at the University of Amsterdam. He is the author of Adam Smith: Systematic Philosopher and Public Thinker (2017) and coauthor of Sophie de Grouchy's Letters on Sympathy: A Critical Engagement with Adam Smith's The Theory of Moral Sentiments (2019; with Sandrine Berges). He has edited numerous books, including Ten Neglected Classics of Philosophy (2017) and Sympathy: A History (2015). His research ranges from economic statistics in classical Babylon, the history of the natural sciences, and forgotten eighteenth-century feminists to political theory, assumptions used in mathematical economics, and the methodology and political role of economists as experts. He has published over seventy scholarly articles in journals such as Proceedings of the Aristotelian Society, AI and Society, and British Journal for the History of Philosophy.

Aaron Garrett is Professor of Philosophy at Boston University. His main areas of research are the history of modern moral philosophy, the history of philosophical methodology, and more recently the philosophy of art and the philosophy of film. He is the author of Meaning in Spinoza's Method (2003); coeditor of several collections, including Scottish Philosophy in the Eighteenth Century, two volumes (2015; with James Harris); and editor of several collections, including The Routledge Companion to Eighteenth-Century Philosophy (2014). Garrett's articles have been published in numerous journals, including Mind, Journal of Scottish Philosophy, Journal of the History of Philosophy, and European Journal of Philosophy.

Masazumi Wakatabe is Professor of Economics and Political Science at Waseda University, Japan. His research interests range over the historical relationship between economic crises and economics, central banking in theory and in practice, the economics of knowledge, and development in the history of economic thought. He is author of The Showa Depression (2004), which earned the Nikkei Prize for Excellent Book in Economics; Economic Crises and Policy Responses (2009), which earned the Ishibashi Tanzan Prize; and Japan's Great Stagnation and Abenomics (2015). Wakatabe served as Deputy Governor of the Bank of Japan from 2018 to 2023.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

Caroline Breashears is Professor of English at St. Lawrence University. She specializes in eighteenth-century British literature and teaches courses in dystopian fiction; British literature; and the intersection between literature, ethics, and economics. Breashears is author of Eighteenth-Century Women's Writing and the "Scandalous Memoir" (2016) and The Practical Morality of Life: Adam Smith, George Anne Bellamy, and the Theatre (2025). Her articles have been published in journals such as Script & Print, Eighteenth-Century Fiction, Modern Philology, and Economic Affairs.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The editors thank the John Templeton Foundation for its generous support. Opinions expressed in this issue are those of the several authors and do not necessarily reflect views of the Templeton Foundation. For additional support, with the same disclaimer, we thank Chambers College of Business & Economics at West Virginia University and the Center for Philosophy of Freedom at the University of Arizona.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0265052525100654 Published online by Cambridge University Press

EDITORIAL NOTE

Following scholarly custom, this issue cites references to Liberty Fund reprints of the Glasgow edition of Adam Smith's works in the following ways:

WN = An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, with (WN I.ii.3) referring to Book 1, Chapter 2, paragraph 3.

TMS = The Theory of Moral Sentiments, with (TMS I.ii.3.4) referring to Part 1, Section 2, Chapter 3, paragraph 4.

LJA (report of 1762–1763) or LJB (report of 1766) = Lectures on Jurisprudence, with (LJA iii.12) referring to Volume 3, paragraph 12, and (LJB 62) referring to paragraph 62.