EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES IN LINGUISTICS

In posting the job announcements below, we remind readers that job discrimination is illegal. The Linguistic Society of America thus retains the right to refuse or edit all discriminatory statements from copy sent to the Secretariat for publication in Language that are not in consonance with the principles of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Executive Committee of the LSA hopes that all the job announcements will facilitate open hiring on the basis of merit to the advantage of all.

The LSA accepts listings from academic institutions under censure by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP). However, these listings are identified in this publication by (*) preceding position openings in order to advise applicants that the employing institution or its administration has been censured by the AAUP and that further information may be obtained on the situation from the AAUP.

Georgetown University: The Department of Linguistics invites applications for a position as Assistant Professor with a specialization in Phonology. We seek candidates who have a record of excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will be able to teach introductory courses in general linguistics, phonology, and morphology, as well as advanced courses in their area of specialization. We seek applicants with research interests in morphophonology, and in formal and computational models. Applicants with research interests in language acquisition or language documentation are also encouraged to apply. The appointment will start on August 1, 2017. Applicants must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree by the time of the appointment. Applications should be received by November 30, 2016, for full consideration. Dossiers should include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, one to three representative publications, and names (with contact information) of three references. Complete application materials must be submitted via email to: Mr. Conor Sinclair, conor.sinclair@georgetown.edu. Please send application materials as PDF files in a zipped folder with the applicant's name. The words 'Phonology Search' and the applicant's name should appear in the subject line. Applications should be addressed to: Phonology Search Committee, Department of Linguistics, Georgetown University, 1437 37th Street NW, Box 571051, Washington, DC 20057-1051, USA. Inquiries about the search can be sent to Prof. Elizabeth Zsiga (elizabeth.zsiga@georgetown.edu).

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability, or other categories protected by law.

MIT: The Department of Linguistics & Philosophy invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. The appointment will be made in the area of Language Acquisition, with a specific interest in candidates whose research focuses on the nature of linguistic theory from the perspective of language development. We particularly seek candidates whose experimental or computational research on language development interacts productively with open questions in syntactic theory, but strongly welcome applicants whose interests span multiple subdisciplines of linguistics. The successful applicant will be a leader in MIT's Language Acquisition lab, but we also encourage applicants whose research includes a focus on interactions between linguistic theory and other issues in learning or language processing. Apply online at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8451. Application deadline: 12/15/2016.

MIT is an equal opportunity employer committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community, and strongly encourages applications from women, minority candidates, veterans, and individuals with disability. The Five-Minute Linguist offers quick and reliable answers to questions about language that most of us have. The book is the work of experts, authoritative and full of facts, but not technical or aimed at an audience of scholars. It is used by beginning students of linguistics and anthropology, and has broad appeal for general readers, people who read for enjoyment as well as knowledge. The second edition of the book was produced under the sponsorship of the Linguistic Society of America and the (U.S.) National Museum of Language.

INFORMATION FOR CONTRIBUTORS

LANGUAGE, a journal of the Linguistic Society of America, carries technical articles dealing with problems of linguistic science, reviews of recently published linguistic works, and notes of interest to professional linguists.

MANUSCRIPTS for publication should be submitted to the online portal at http://journals.linguisticsociety.org/language, where submission guidelines and Society membership requirements can be found. BOOKS for review should be sent to the Review Editor of LANGUAGE (Helen Goodluck, Department of Language and Linguistic Science, University of York, Heslington, York, YO10 5DD, United Kingdom; lang525@york.ac.uk). Normally at least one author of any article or review article submitted to LANGUAGE must be a member of the Society.

Manuscript form. Authors of articles submitted to LANGUAGE should follow the latest version of the LANGUAGE style sheet in preparing their manuscripts for initial submission to LANGUAGE. For the complete style sheet, see the LANGUAGE web page at http://www.linguisticsociety.org/files/style-sheet.pdf, or write to the editors. Please see the 'Notes to Contributors' on the LANGUAGE website for more information about the submission process (http://www.linguisticsociety.org/lsa-publications/language/notes-to-contributors).

Book reviews are solicited by the Review Editor and must adhere as closely as possible to the LANGUAGE style sheet on first submission, but special notice must be taken of the specific instructions for book review formatting found online at http://www.linguisticsociety.org/publications/language/bookreviews/stylesheet.
