1. From John Gerald, Dublin, 24 April 1654, 821, fos 1–2.

Letter of request, seeking charitable relief and support to help lift the writer and his family out of their sad condition; refers to an earlier unanswered letter to the same purpose of July 1653 and expresses regret at his failure to wait on Henry Cromwell in person during the latter's recent visit to Ireland.[1]

[1] Henry Cromwell was sent by his father on a brief mission to Ireland in March 1654 but was there for less than three weeks.
