Constitutionalising Anarchy

Anarchism is often assumed to stand outside constitutionalism, yet it forms a significant, if overlooked tradition of constitutional thought. Addressing global constitutional crises and the impasses of state-centred politics, this book brings anarchism into productive dialogue with constitutional, political and international theory. At its core is a reconstruction of anarchist social theory grounded in an ontology of anarchy shaped by European social science and republican concerns with dividing and balancing power. These ideas were reinterpreted by major anarchist thinkers – from Proudhon to Lucy Parsons, and from Tolstoy to Kōtoku Shūsui – who advanced decentralised, federalist alternatives to imperial and hierarchical orders. Combining intellectual history with co-produced research alongside anarchist groups, Constitutionalising Anarchy shows how constitutional practices developed within militant labour unions, protest movements and co-operatives across the twentieth century. It reconsiders anarchy, constitutionalism and the possibilities of political organisation. This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core.

Ruth Kinna is a political theorist and historian of ideas at Loughborough University. Her books include The Government of No One (2019) and Kropotkin: Reviewing the Classical Anarchist Tradition (2016). She is the co-founder of the Political Studies Association's (PSA) Anarchist Studies Network and the co-editor of the journal Anarchist Studies.

Alex Prichard is an International Relations theorist at the University of Exeter. His books include Anarchism: A Very Short Introduction (2022) and Justice, Order and Anarchy: The International Political Theory of Pierre-Joseph Proudhon (2013). He is the co-founder of the PSA Anarchist Studies Network and the co-editor of the Contemporary Anarchist Studies' monograph series.

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

Constitutionalising Anarchy is easily one of the most thought-provoking and groundbreaking works on anarchist theory published this century. Kinna and Prichard masterfully bridge the gap between powerful examples of anarchy in action and intellectual histories of societal norms-making to challenge dominant statist paradigms. This is an urgent appeal for activists to further conceptualise their organisational structures and political theorists to take seriously the anti-state tradition of collective decision-making from below.

Mark Bray
Assistant Teaching Professor, Rutgers
University-New Brunswick

Kinna and Prichard show how anarchism, grounding and shaping an emancipatory politics, can offer an appealing and viable alternative to modern conceptions of politics as rooted in state sovereignty. Combining insights from a range of disciplines and attending to both historical and contemporary examples, they argue provocatively that, far from disregarding or attacking social order, anarchism embodies a conception of our common life that enables constitutional order to emerge from the bottom up.

Gary Chartier
Distinguished Professor of Law and Business Ethics, La Sierra University

Combining academic rigor with deep inside knowledge of its subject, this book is a major landmark in anarchist thought. Bridging anarchism's fundamentals with contemporary theory and practices, the authors shed new light on the often-overlooked constitutional dimension of anarchism. This opens exciting directions for an anarchism deeply rooted in everyday life.

Tomás Ibáñez
Professor of Social Psychology, Autonomous
University of Barcelona, Spain

Kinna and Prichard not only make a convincing, counterintuitive case that anarchism is compatible with constitutionalism, they demonstrate that constitutional anarchy is the only institutional form appropriate for our contemporary world, where power relations have radically changed on the local, national and global levels. Constitutionalising Anarchy is an instant 'must read' in contemporary democratic theory.

John P. McCormick
Professor of Political Science,
University of Chicago

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

This bold and original book is a springboard for reimagining constitutional politics without the state. Moving nimbly between political theory, history and rich empirical case studies, it uncovers a hidden tradition of anarchist constitutionalising and shows how anarchy can organise, rather than destroy, social order. Accessible yet rigorous, it offers activists and scholars a powerful new language for thinking about domination, democracy and global justice, and makes a compelling case that the future of constitutionalism lies in federated, bottom-up experiments in freedom and creativity.

Patricia Owens
Professor of International Relations,
University of Oxford

Kinna and Prichard deftly uncover a neglected body of anarchist political theory and practice extending from Kropotkin and Proudhon in the nineteenth century to radical twenty-first-century movements such as Occupy and the Industrial Workers of the World. They untether anarchy from its connotations as constitutionalism's nemesis. Their timely and masterful book brings anarchist thought back to the fore of public debate opening possibilities to think constitutionalism and anarchism beyond the state. A must read for all those interested in radical new alternatives.

Manjeet Ramgotra
Senior Lecturer in Political Theory, SOAS
University of London

Professors Kinna and Prichard have co-created an outstanding intellectual history and contemporary political theory and practice of participatory democratic constitutional anarchy at the local, federal, and global levels. They also argue for its superiority to state-based sovereign constitutionalism.

James Tully
Emeritus Professor, University of Victoria, Canada

This book offers a thoroughly innovative take on constitutionalism. By unearthing the origins and inherently constructive aspect of 'an-archy', Kinna and Prichard present a most welcome novel take on anarchy as a normative organising principle in late modern times. Conceived in this way, anarchy enables us to grasp the full range of 'constituent power beyond the state' in appreciation of 'post-colonial, liberal and socialist critics of domination and arbitrary power'. As such the book makes fascinating reading, a must-read, especially for students of International Relations but also for Political Scientists more generally.

Antje Wiener
Chair of Political Science, especially Global Governance and Professor of Law, University of Hamburg and By-Fellow, Hughes Hall, University of Cambridge

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

LSE INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

SERIES EDITORS

Imaobong Umoren (Lead Editor)
Department of International History, London School of Economics
Stephen Humphreys
Department of Law, London School of Economics
Ayça Çubukçu
Department of Sociology, London School of Economics
Sumi Madhok
Department of Gender Studies, London School of Economics
Katharine Millar
Department of International Relations, London School of Economics

This series, published in association with the Centre for International Studies at the London School of Economics, is centred on three main themes. First, the series is oriented around work that is transdisciplinary, which challenges disciplinary conventions and develops arguments that cannot be grasped within existing disciplines. It will include work combining a wide range of fields, including international relations, international law, political theory, history, sociology and ethics. Second, it comprises books that contain an overtly international or transnational dimension, but not necessarily focused simply within the discipline of International Relations. Finally, the series will publish books that use scholarly inquiry as a means of addressing pressing political concerns. Books in the series may be predominantly theoretical, or predominantly empirical, but all will say something of significance about political issues that exceed national boundaries.

Previous books in the series:
Culture and Order in World Politics Andrew Phillips and Christian Reus-Smit (eds.)
On Cultural Diversity: International Theory in a World of Difference Christian Reus-Smit
Socioeconomic Justice: International Intervention and Transition in Post-war Bosnia and Herzegovina Daniela Lai
The World Imagined: Collective Beliefs and Political Order in the Sinocentric, Islamic and Southeast Asian International Societies Hendrik Spruyt
How the East was Won: Barbarian Conquerors, Universal Conquest and the Making of Modern Asia Andrew Phillips
Before the West: The Rise and Fall of Eastern World Orders Ayşe Zarakol
Capitalism, Jacobinism and International Relations: Revisiting Turkish Modernity Eren Duzgun
The Counterinsurgent Imagination: A New Intellectual History Joseph MacKay Dying Abroad: The Political Afterlives of Migration in Europe Osman Balkan Resisting Racial Capitalism: An Antipolitical Theory of Refusal Ida Danewid
Regional Politics in Oceania: From Colonialism and Cold War to the Pacific Century Stephanie Lawson
Fueling Sovereignty Naosuke Mukoyama
Ways of Seeing International Organisations: New Perspectives for International Institutional Law Negar Mansouri and Daniel R. Quiroga-Villamarín

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

Representants and International Orders: The Staging of Political Authority Alena Drieschova

Global Decolonisation and Non-Sovereignty: Small Island States in the Caribbean Grace Carrington

Anticolonialism and Social Thought Anaheed Al-Hardan and Julian Go

Türkiye, Iran, and the Politics of Comparison: America's Wife, America's Concubine Perin E. Gürel

From Frontiers to Borders: How Colonial Technicians Created Modern Territoriality Kerry Goettlich

Before Recognition: How the Politics of Religion shaped the International Order Maria Birnbaum

Off the Map: A Critical Geography of International Law Nikolas M. Rajkovic

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

Constitutionalising Anarchy

RUTH KINNA
Loughborough University

ALEX PRICHARD
University of Exeter

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518

Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8EA, United Kingdom

One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA

477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia

314–321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre,
New Delhi – 110025, India

Cambridge University Press is part of Cambridge University Press & Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge.

We share the University's mission to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org
Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781009785495
DOI: 10.1017/9781009785518

© Ruth Kinna and Alex Prichard 2026

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, with the exception of the Creative Commons version the link for which is provided below, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press & Assessment.

An online version of this work is published at doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518 under a Creative Commons Open Access license CC-BY-NC-ND 4.0 which permits re-use, distribution and reproduction in any medium for non-commercial purposes providing appropriate credit to the original work is given. You may not distribute derivative works without permission. To view a copy of this license, visit https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0

When citing this work, please include a reference to the DOI 10.1017/9781009785518

First published 2026

Cover illustration: Josh MacPhee, Flags (Black),
Risograph print, 2018.

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

A Cataloging-in-Publication data record for this book is available from the Library of Congress

ISBN 978-1-009-78549-5 Hardback
ISBN 978-1-009-78547-1 Paperback

Cambridge University Press & Assessment has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

For EU product safety concerns, contact us at Calle de José Abascal, 56, 1°, 28003 Madrid, Spain, or email eugpsr@cambridge.org.

Downloaded from https://www.cambridge.org/core. UNIVERSIDAD AUTONOMA METROPOLITANA, on 17 Nov 2026 at 06:20:17, subject to the Cambridge Core terms of use, available at https://www.cambridge.org/core/terms. https://doi.org/10.1017/9781009785518