Acknowledgements

A volume of this scope is invariably the fortunate outcome of collaboration among many individuals, to whom we would like to express our sincere gratitude. Foremost among them are the contributors to this volume, who joined us on the long and often challenging journey that such an ambitious editorial project entails. We are deeply thankful for their insightful contributions as well as for their enduring patience throughout the process.

We are also grateful for the generous financial support provided by the Tübingen–Durham Seedcorn Fund and the Universitätsbund Tübingen e.V. as well as by research funds from Durham University and the International Centre for Ethics in the Sciences and Humanities (University of Tübingen). Their support made it possible for this volume to be published Open Access.

Behind the scenes, we have been fortunate to receive help from several dedicated people. We warmly thank Matt Lloyd and Maya Zakrzewska-Pim at Cambridge University Press for their guidance and support, Anna Voigtländer for creating the cover image, and Natalie Halseband for producing the index. Our sincere thanks also go to our student assistants, Lukman Mezdour and – sine qua non – Valerie Weber, whose skill and diligence ensured a steady grasp of an ever-expanding manuscript.
