International Scholar Travel Grants

Forty-two senior and graduate student international scholars benefitted from the APSA's international travel grant program this year. Eighteen grants to scholars representing 12 countries were awarded for travel expenses or lodging in Philadelphia. All award winners were involved in the 2003 Annual Meeting program. In the grant program's eight years of existence, over 200 international scholars have benefitted.

Eighteen international advanced graduate students were awarded travel grants to help defray their costs to attend the 2003 meeting. All awardees presented papers or posters at the meeting and all were advanced graduate students who had begun work on their dissertations.
