This bibliography almost exclusively includes materials published in 2024, with a small number of items from 2023 that were not included in the Early China 47 annual bibliography. Please note that much of the information provided here has been collected using metadata attached to online publications. Accordingly, Chinese names have in many cases been listed in the Western style where they are presented as such in publication metadata. While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of this bibliography, users are advised to refer to print versions of articles where available as the final authority for bibliographical information. For online-only publications, article numbers are sometimes supplied in lieu of page numbers. To facilitate online access to the research included here, we have retained article DOIs where available.
