Strangers in a Strange Land:

Occidentalist Publics and Orientalist Geographies in Nineteenth-Century Georgian Imaginaries
By Paul MANNING
ISBN 978-1-936235-76-6(cloth) $85.00 / £53.99 350 pp.

Strangers in a Strange Land examines the formation of nineteenth century intelligentsia print publics in the former Soviet republic of Georgia both anthropologically and historically. At once somehow part of "Europe," at least aspirationally, and yet rarely recognized by others as such, Georgia attempted to forge European style publics as a strong claim to European identity. These attempts also produced a crisis of self-definition, as European Georgia sent newspaper correspondents into newly re-conquered Oriental Georgia, only to discover that the people of these lands were strangers. In this encounter, the community of 'strangers' of European Georgian publics proved unable to assimilate the people of the 'strange land' of Oriental Georgia. This crisis produced both notions of Georgian public life and European identity which this book explores.

"Tsar and God" and Other Essays in Russian Cultural Semiotics

By Victor ZHIVOV and Boris USPENSKIJ
Translated by Marcus LEVITT
ISBN 978-1-936235-49-0 (cloth) $99.00 / £53.25 300 pp.

"Tsar and God" and Other Essays in Russian Cultural Semiotics features the pioneering essays by the internationally known Russian cultural historians Boris Uspenskij and Victor Zhivov, this collection includes a number of works appearing in English for the first time. Focusing on several of the most interesting and problematic aspects of Russia's cultural development, these essays examine the survival and the reconceptualization of the past in later cultural systems and some of the key transformations of Russian cultural consciousness. The essays in this collection contain some important examples of Russian cultural semiotics and remain indispensable contributions to the history of Russian civilization.

The Russian Avant-Garde and Radical Modernism

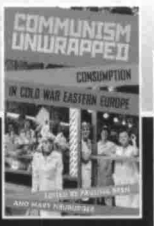

An Introductory Reader
Edited by Dennis G. IOFFE and Frederick WHITE
ISBN 978-1-936235-29-2 (cloth) $59.00 / £40.25 500 pp.

The Russian avant-garde was a composite of antagonistic groups who wished to overthrow the basic aesthetics of classical realism. Modernism was the totality of these numerous aesthetic theories which achieved a measure of coherence immediately after the First World War. The Russian Avant-Garde and Radical Modernism is a collection of essays by leading scholars examines the major figures, movements and manifestos of the period. Scholarly attention is given to literature, visual arts, cinema and theatre in an attempt to capture the complex nature of the modernist movement in Russia. This book would be especially relevant for university courses on the Russian twentieth century as well as for those looking for a comprehensive approach to the various movements and artistic expressions that constitute the Russian avant-garde.

Dostoevsky

A Writer in His Time

Joseph Frank

Edited by Mary Petrusewicz

With a new preface by the author

Joseph Frank's award-winning, five-volume Dostoevsky is widely recognized as the best biography of the writer in any language—and one of the greatest literary biographies of the past half-century. Now Frank's monumental, 2500-page work has been skillfully abridged and condensed in this single, highly readable volume with a new preface by the author.

"No one could produce a better one-volume biography of Dostoevsky than the author of a much-acclaimed five-volume biography. . . . A masterful abridgement."
—Bryce Christensen, Booklist (Starred Review)
