THE ASSOCIATION REGISTER: A CORRECTION.

Owing to an unfortunate misunderstanding the name of Dr. Alexander Ninian Bruce was struck off the Association register published in the January number. A letter of apology and regret has been addressed to Dr. Bruce by the General Secretary and his name restored to the register. The number of ordinary members was thus 632, bringing the total membership up to 667. (Vide p. xxix, January number, 1922).

OBITUARY.

Henry Kingsmill Abbott, B.A., M.D., B.Ch.Dublin, D.P.H.

Dr. Abbott, a member of the Association since 1900, died on February 27th, 1922, at Fareham Asylum, of which he was the Medical Superintendent. He was born at Monkestown, Co. Dublin, in September, 1863, being the eldest son of a well-known scholar, the late Rev. Thomas Kingsmill Abbott, Litt.D., D.D., Senior Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin. He was educated at the old Kingstown Grammar School and at the Evesley College, Dublin, and entered Trinity College in 1881. He obtained term honours in Natural Science and Logic, and graduated B.A. in 1885. He obtained the degrees of M.B., B.Ch. in 1887 and the degree of M.D. was conferred upon him in 1887. He took his D.P.H. with honours in 1898.

During his university career Dr. Abbott was fond of all kinds of athletics. He rowed for the old Dublin University Boat Club and was keen on both cricket and football. His interest for sport was maintained throughout his life, and until quite shortly before he died he bicycled over regularly from Fareham to Hayling Island Golf Club to indulge in his favourite game. He was an excellent bridge and billiard player and was a much respected member of the Royal Albert Yacht Club at Southsea. After serving a short time as surgeon on one of the shipping lines to India, Abbott was appointed in 1890 as Assistant Medical Officer at Hants County Asylum, and in 1906 he succeeded the late Dr. Worthington as Medical Superintendent. He was also for a time Stewart Lecturer on Mental Disease in Trinity College, Dublin, and Examiner in Psychiatry for the University.

He was a man of wide culture and a great reader, but he was an extremely reserved and unassuming man and few people suspected the extent of his knowledge. He went quietly about his work and administered his asylum conscientiously and with conspicuous ability. He was extremely just in his decisions, sound in his judgments, and the writer often found his advice of great value in administrative problems. He was a man of remarkable will-power, and this was seen particularly in the fortitude and courage with which he bore the prolonged illness which terminated fatally. He made no difference whatever in the routine of his life, and scarcely ever referred to his illness even to his most intimate friends. Almost up to the end he played golf and did his work, and he only took to his bed a few days before his death. He was buried in the Asylum Cemetery, according to his wishes. His funeral was attended by his brother, Canon T. F. Abbott, B.D., and other relatives, members of the Visiting Committee, the Staff, and a number of his personal friends. He will be much missed in the asylum, to which he gave thirty-two years of faithful service.
