China's Regional Relations:

Evolving Foreign Policy Dynamics

MARK BEESON AND FUJIAN LI

"An excellent overview of China's foreign relations and the impact of China's rise on the world and East Asia. Beeson and Li's argument is deep, straightforward, and balanced."—Yong Wang, Peking University

"Lively and accessible.... A comprehensive and timely review of the emerging dynamics of China's regional diplomacy."—Yong Deng, US Naval Academy

Has China's much-discussed "charm offensive" come to an end? Are fears about the country's more assertive foreign policies justified? How will a rising China interact with its regional neighbors? Mark Beeson and Fujian Li address these questions by comprehensively exploring the nature, effectiveness, and implications of China's foreign policy strategy in Asia and Australia.

Myanmar: The Dynamics of an Evolving Polity

DAVID I. STEINBERG, EDITOR

"Excellent.... A well-written, comprehensive, and thoughtful analysis of the political and economic changes underway in Myanmar."

—Priscilla Clapp, former US Charge d'Affaires in Myanmar

What issues will Myanmar need to address as it moves beyond the immediate complexities of a transition from an authoritarian state to a more pluralistic polity? The authors of this forward-looking volume offer a careful, timely analysis of the kaleidoscopic array of changes occurring in Myanmar and consider the potential long-term impact of those changes for both the country and the region.

The journal accepts a manuscript on the understanding that its content is original and that it has not been accepted for publication or review elsewhere. Once accepted for publication, copyright resides with the journal. Rejected manuscripts will not be returned.

Preparing the Manuscript

Please follow these guidelines when you prepare your manuscript for submission. Manuscripts that do not conform to these guidelines will not be reviewed.

Spelling and style: Note that we conform to Webster's Collegiate Dictionary and The Chicago Manual of Style in matters of spelling, abbreviation, punctuation, etc. On first use of an acronym or abbreviation in the manuscript, please spell it out in full.

Abstract: Write the abstract in direct, vigorous prose. Length should be 150 words or less. A list of up to ten keywords, expressing the precise content of the manuscript, should appear directly below the abstract.

Figures and tables: All figures and tables should be professional in appearance. Provide figures as separate data (Excel) files instead of as pictures embedded within the Word document. Location of illustrations should be indicated by a note in the text (e.g., "Table 1 about here").

Biographical sketch: Include a biographical sketch for each author, including institutional affiliation and relevant experience. Length should be 75 words or less.

References: The Journal of East Asian Studies uses The Chicago Manual of Style author-date system. All sources are cited in the text in parentheses by author's last name and date of publication, with page numbers as appropriate (Kim 2007, 65). The short citations are amplified in a list of references where full bibliographic information is provided. For further information on references, please consult The Chicago Manual of Style, 16th edition, chapters 14 and 15.

Books and monographs: Diamond, Larry, and Byung-kook Kim, eds. 2000. Consolidating Democracy in South Korea. Boulder: Lynne Rienner.

Articles in journals: Wong, Joseph. 2004. "The Adaptive Developmental State in East Asia." Journal of East Asian Studies 4, 3: 345–362.

Chapters in books: Sadli, Mohammed. 1999. "The Indonesian Crisis." In Southeast Asia's Economic Crisis, ed. H. W. Arndt and Hal Hill, 16–27. Singapore: Institute of Southeast Asian Studies.

Online sources: Please include the author, article title, URL, and date.

Endnotes: Notes should not be used only to cite references and should be kept to a minimum. Acknowledgments should appear before the notes.
