Palliative and Supportive Care

cambridge.org/pax

I die as a fighter, rather than living as a quitter

Dominikus David Biondi Situmorang, S.PD., M.PD., M.SI., C.T., C.PS., C.BNLP.

Department of Guidance and Counseling, Atma Jaya Catholic University of Indonesia, DKI Jakarta, Indonesia

Poetry

Cite this article: Situmorang DDB (2024) I die as a fighter, rather than living as a quitter. Palliative and Supportive Care 22(6), 2241. https://doi.org/10.1017/S1478951524000828

Received: 20 April 2024
Revised: 20 April 2024
Accepted: 23 April 2024

Email: david.biondi@atmajaya.ac.id

Life is an adventure. Enjoy every surprise that may never be repeated.
When I am afraid to face something new, I have lost an excellent opportunity to develop myself.
Fear and doubt are the most dangerous enemies in life, while courage and confidence are the most formidable friends.
Even though I lose, I die as a fighter, rather than living as a quitter, who gave up before fighting.

Acknowledgments. The author wishes to express their gratitude to the Creative Counseling Center Indonesia for supporting this manuscript.

Funding. The author declared no funding was received for this poetry.

Competing interests. The author declares no conflict of interest.

© The Author(s), 2024. Published by Cambridge University Press.