Changes to Membership Cycle in 2003

With the launch of Perspectives on Politics in 2003, APSA members will now receive one journal a month rather than two journals bundled together every three months. PS will arrive in your mailbox in January, April, July, and October. APSR will show up in February, May, August, and November. Perspectives will come in March, June, September, and December.

Due to this new publication schedule, APSA is changing its annual membership cycle. Now, membership expiration dates will be assigned to the end of members' anniversary months. For example, if someone joins APSA on February 20, 2003, her membership will run through February 28, 2004, rather than expiring on December 31, 2003 as it has in the past.

Members who renew on time will retain the same expiration month. However, members who renew late will have the option of receiving back issues of the journals they've missed or of receiving a full calendar year of membership instead.

As always, if you have any questions about your membership please contact member services at 202.483.2512 or membership@apsanet.org.

2003 Small Research Grant Program

APSA announces its 2003 Small Research Grant Program, which supports research in all areas of political science. The Program is competitive, peer-reviewed, and intended to advance opportunities for scholars who are not affiliated with Ph.D.-granting institutions.

Proposals should address significant issues in political science. In honor of APSA's upcoming centennial in 2003, priority will be given to projects that emphasize the history of the discipline, the profession, or of the APSA. Applicants must be APSA members and political science faculty members at non-Ph.D.-granting institutions, or political scientists who are not affiliated with an academic institution. Individual grants of up to $2,500 may be used for such research activities as travel, administration and coding of instruments, research assistance, and the purchase of data sets. Proposals should be five pages or less and must use the cover page which is available on the APSA web site. The deadline for submissions is February 1, 2003. The APSA will accept proposals starting on December 1, 2002.

For further details, please visit our web site at www.apsanet.org/opps/srg. Inquiries may be directed to grants@apsanet.org, or APSA Small Research Grants, American Political Science Association, 1527 New Hampshire Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20036.

Coming in 2003

Twelve months. Twelve journals.

Beginning in 2003 APSA members will find a journal from the Association in their mailbox each month. No longer will the American Political Science Review and PS: Political Science & Politics arrive together, instead, readers can now focus on a new APSA journal every month. This new cycle corresponds with the introduction of APSA's latest journal, Perspectives on Politics.

PS: Political Science & Politics

January * April * July * October

American Political Science Review

February * May * August * November

Perspectives on Politics

March * June * September * December

Have you logged onto APSANet Lately?

myAPSA
Try our new online system that provides members with access to a number of special online services, including membership information, online journals, searchable directories, and more.

PSonline
Looking for past issues of PS? No need to dig too deep. Now you can find full-text issues online going back to 1997. At the same time, be sure to check out our PS essay-paks, collections of articles with similar themes.

APSR Online
Find full-text articles from the current APSR on the web. This new feature is available to APSA members only.

Centennial Center
Learn about the new fellowship opportunies available with the launch of the new study center in 2003.

Visit often at www.apsanet.org.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S1049096503001811 Published online by Cambridge University Press