RAYMOND CARVER: Collected Stories

William L. Stull & Maureen P. Carroll, editors

A definitive edition of Raymond Carver's legendary and controversial stories, including never before seen versions

Gathering for the first time all Carver's stories, including several posthumous works, this volume provides the first comprehensive overview of Carver's career: the promise of Will You Please Be Quiet, Please?, the breakthrough of What We Talk About When We Talk About Love, the departures taken in Cathedral and the later tales included in Where I'm Calling From. But it also prompts a fresh consideration of Carver by publishing for the first time Beginners, the original manuscript of What We Talk About that Carver submitted to Gordon Lish, his editor and a crucial influence on his development.

'Tinkers'
Synge and the Cultural History of the Irish Traveller
MARY BURKE
2009 is the centenary of the death of major early twentieth-century Irish playwright J.M. Synge, whose work constitutes some of the most influential but misunderstood representations of Travellers ('tinkers'), members of a minority that has existed on Irelanc's margins for centuries. This volume is the first examination of the cultural history of the Traveller.

2009 256 pp. Hardback $95.00

The Victorians and Old Age
KAREN CHASE
Widespread acceptance of old age as a recognizable social category, acknowledgment that old age is attended by certain physiological manifestations and represents a distinct psychological phase or stage were all products of the Victorian period. Karen Chase studies the social and literary conditions which helped construct the experience of old age in the nineteenth century.

2009 300 pp. 26 halftones Hardback $115.00

The Movement Reconsidered
Essays on Larkin, Amis, Gunn, Davie and Their Contemporaries
Edited by ZACHARY LEADER
The Movement was the preeminent poetical grouping of post-war Britain. It has also been the source of much controversy. This collection of original essays by distinguished poets, critics, and scholars from Britain and America, complicates the extreme and reductive formulations of defenders and detractors, offering a more balanced assessment of the grouping and of its influence.

2009 320 pp. 8 halftones Hardback $39.95

Owning Up
Privacy, Property, and Belonging in U.S. Women's Life Writing, 1840–1890
KATHERINE ADAMS
"Owning Up takes on a significant subject for feminist historians and literary scholars and gives it new life. Katherine Adams has produced an influential new category in determining how 'the rhetoric of privacy' not only affirms, but also challenges, the dominance of democratic authority."
—Shirley Samuels, Cornell University

2009 272 pp. Hardback $65.00

The Novelty of Newspapers
Victorian Fiction After the Invention of the News
MATTHEW RUBERY
"In exploring what the nineteenth-century novel learned from the newspapers, Matthew Rubery also uncovers how private lives unfolded in a changing public sphere. Sensitive to feeling, attentive to form, The Novelty of Newspapers exemplifies the study of print culture at its very best."
—Amanda Claybaugh, Columbia University

2009 248 pp. Hardback $65.00

The Literate Eye
Victorian Art Writing and Modernist Aesthetics
RACHEL TEUKOLSKY
"No society in modern history, surely, has accorded art criticism a larger public role than Victorian Britain. The Literate Eye illuminates the consequences of this distinctive presence through a series of dazzling readings in literature, popular science, period debates, and other forms. Teukolsky's is an absolutely brilliant book, a must-read for students of nineteenth-century culture and its legacies."
—Douglas Mao, Johns Hopkins University

2009 336 pp. 5 color line illus.; 54 halftones Hardback $35.00

The Oxford Book of Latin American Poetry
Edited by CECILIA VICUÑA and ERNESTO LIVON GROSMAN
"Impressive in its scope, variety, and sheer liveliness, The Oxford Book of Latin American Poetry is a must for poetry explorers eager to venture into the many wonders that lie beyond the boundaries of English."
—Billy Collins

2009 608 pp. Hardback $49.95

The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy and Literature
Edited by RICHARD ELDRIDGE
This volume contains 23 newly commissioned essays by major philosophers and literary scholars that investigate literature as a form of attention to human life. Various forms of attention are considered under the headings of Genres, Periods, Devices and Powers, and Contexts and Uses.
(Oxford Handbooks in Philosophy)
