Issue 1 of this electronic periodical publishes a regularly updated, downloadable electronic text of the 'New Posidippus', as well as translations into various languages, a bibliography, and other resources.

Packard Humanities Institute Greek Epigraphy: http://epigraphy.packhum.org/
This is a well-designed, highly searchable (and concordance-generating) database containing the texts from the most important corpora of Greek inscriptions, region by region. Greek text only (at time of writing), but with some functionality even for those with limited knowledge of Greek: clicking on an inscription removes letters reconstructed by epigraphists, revealing how much can actually be read on the stone.
