THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

5801 South Ellis Avenue Chicago, Illinois 60637

THE LINGUISTIC TURN

Recent Essays in Philosophical Method

Edited by Richard Rorty, Princeton University

This book is designed to be useful to philosophers who oppose, as well as to those who sympathize with, the linguistic movement. It is the first attempt to provide a comprehensive collection of documents which exhibit the full sweep of the movement that has come to dominate philosophy in England and America in the twentieth century. Richard Rorty has assembled some thirty essays covering the entire historical and doctrinal range; contributors include Moritz Schlick, Rudolf Carnap, Gilbert Ryle, John Wisdom, Irving Copi, Willard v. O. Quine, Stuart Hampshire, and many others.

"One could suggest no better exemplar of methodological subtlety and analytical care ... than the present collection of essays." (Commonweal) Cloth edition (1967), $10.00

1971 6 × 9 404 pages Paper $4.50

MEANING AND THE STRUCTURE OF LANGUAGE

Wallace L. Chafe, University of California at Berkeley

This book approaches language deliberately and provocatively from the semantic direction. The work has grown out of the author's conviction that at the present time, as the shortcomings of the Chomskyan, or transformational, theory have become increasingly apparent, linguistics needs some new alternatives. Mr. Chafe takes semantic structure as the basis for his original theory of the nature of language, thereby departing from the main traditions of both structuralist and transformationalist linguists. He illustrates the theory mostly from English, with application also to Onondaga, an Iroquois language, showing that the differences between this language and English are relatively trivial in the semantic area but extensive in the area of postsemantic processes.

1970 6 × 9 374 pages Cloth $10.50

CENTER FOR APPLIED LINGUISTICS

Field Techniques in an Urban Language Study, by Roger W. Shuy, Walter A. Wolfram and William K. Riley.

A report of the methodology employed in a survey of Detroit speech conducted in 1966–67. A descriptive, rather than theoretical work, in order to provide a practical base for large-scale urban language study.

1968 128 pages $3.00

A Sociolinguistic Description of Detroit Negro Speech, by Walter A. Wolfram.

A descriptive study of the correlation of linguistic variables with the social variables of status, sex, age, racial isolation, and style in the speech of Detroit Negroes.

1969 237 pages $5.00

All orders and inquiries should be addressed to:

Publications Section
Center for Applied Linguistics
1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0097850771037603 Published online by Cambridge University Press

Two essential and complete books for your History of the English language course from Little, Brown

WORKING WITH THE ROOTS OF MODERN ENGLISH

Richard L. Hoffman
Queens College

L. M. Myers
Arizona State University

A supplementary reader and workbook designed specifically to accompany L. M. Myers' widely-adopted text, The Roots of Modern English. Part one — based largely upon Richard L. Hoffman's History of the English Language: Selected Readings and Exercises, contains extracts from a variety of early English texts representing many dialects of Old and Middle English. Part two provides, for each of the ten chapters in Roots, review questions and exercises designed to help students recognize and organize the most essential information. There is also additional study material to encourage students to apply what they've learned in Myers' Roots of Modern English. Because the workbook is concise and provides realistic questions and exercises, students can easily translate the readings into their language. Comprehensive and illustrative exercises introduce students to such diverse subjects as the etymology of words, phonemic and phonetic transcription, Old and Middle English grammar and paleography. The format allows ample space for answers to all questions and exercises on perforated tear-sheets. Used in conjunction with Myers' Roots — this new reader-workbook constitutes a complete package of essential books for your History of the English language course.

Instructor's Manual and Answer Key accompany the text.

paperbound / approx. 320 pages / August 1971

ROOTS OF MODERN ENGLISH

L. M. Myers
Arizona State University

A highly effective text presenting the development of the English language in a concise and comprehensible manner. Professor Myers avoids unnecessary detail in favor of concentrating on giving students maximum help both in approaching the earlier stages of English and in understanding current tendencies. The author has included ample selections from Early English texts to illustrate the growth of the language. Together with its companion workbook, Working with Roots of Modern English, this is a most successful text for introducing students to the history of the language.

cloth / 323 pages / $6.95 / 1966

College Division
Little, Brown and Company
34 Beacon Street
Boston, Mass.
02106

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0097850771037603 Published online by Cambridge University Press

PUBLICATIONS

of the

Linguistic Society of America

LANGUAGE, the journal of the Linguistic Society of America, carries technical articles dealing with problems of linguistic science, reviews of recently published linguistic works, and notes of interest to professional linguists.

As supplements to LANGUAGE, the Linguistic Society of America issues a series of occasional publications, LANGUAGE MONOGRAPHS. These are included in the subscription price of the journal, but may also be purchased separately. In the LANGUAGE MONOGRAPH series, the Society publishes independently subsidized studies which are too long to appear as articles or are otherwise unsuitable for publication in the journal. The method of application for admission to this series of supplements, and the terms of publication, may be secured from the Secretary of the Society.

SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS in the field of linguistic science are issued by the Society from time to time. These are not included in the subscription price of the journal.

MEETING HANDBOOKS, which contain program listings and abstracts of papers presented at LSA Annual Meetings, 1965 through 1969, may also be purchased separately.

A list of publications in print is available from the Secretary of the Society. Current prices for LANGUAGE are as follows: Complete volume 43, $8.00; volume 45 onward, $16.00; single numbers currently in print from volumes 39–44, $3.00; volume 45 onward, $6.00. Reprint editions of volumes 1–38 of LANGUAGE, Monographs 1–21, and Dissertations 1–52 are available from Kraus Reprint Corporation, 16 East 46th Street, New York, N.Y. 10017, and a price list can be obtained from that address.

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0097850771037603 Published online by Cambridge University Press