THE SCHOOL OF CRITICISM & THEORY at Cornell University

An international program of study with leading figures in critical theory invites you to apply for its 2015 Summer Session, June 14 - July 24

"The SCT combines a relentless schedule of events with a pervasive spirit of conviviality."
Martin Moraw, Brandeis University

"In this community of critics, away from the familiar ecology of one's home institution, one is offered new ways of seeing, new questions, new connections."
David Russell, Princeton University

"One of the most enriching intellectual experiences of my academic life."
Karine Côté-Boucher, York University

"Six weeks in Ithaca gave me many moments of hopefulness: I made extraordinary friends; I found space, seven years into a faculty position, to think and to argue without the pressure of writing or publication."
Andrew van der Vlies, Queen Mary, University of London

Hent de Vries, Director
Russ Family Professor in the Humanities and Philosophy, Director of The Humanities Center, Johns Hopkins University

The Program
In an intensive six-week course of study, participants from around the world, across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, explore recent developments in critical theory.

Tuition
The fee for the session is $2700. Applicants are eligible to compete for partial tuition scholarships and are urged to seek funding from their home institutions.

Admission
We welcome applications from faculty members and advanced graduate students at universities worldwide. Applications must be submitted online by February 1, and admissions decisions are announced in March.

From Owlworks

An Essay on the Original of Literature

Daniel Defoe

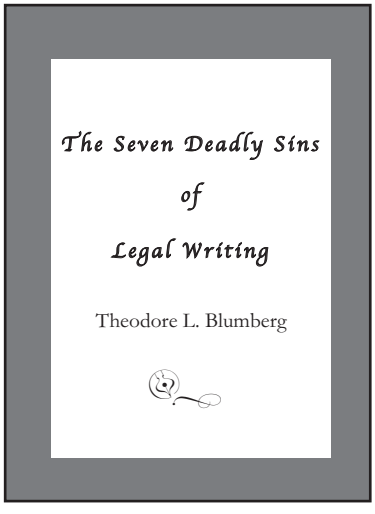

The young Daniel Defoe thought he was destined to become a Presbyterian minister. Instead, he became a man of letters: poet, political journalist, economic essayist, novelist. His Essay on the Original of Literature is a writer's glorification of the invention and craft of literature, radically understood.

The Seven Deadly Sins of Legal Writing

Theodore L. Blumberg

A supremely cogent guide to good legal writing. Blumberg not only provides a sleek typology of the profession's most common literary sins; he explores the motivations behind them. At once witty and exhilarating, The Seven Deadly Sins of Legal Writing will change the way lawyers and scholars do business.

NEW BOOKS from PENN PRESS

BARBAROUS ANTIQUITY
Reorienting the Past in the Poetry of Early Modern England
Miriam Jacobson

"Barbarous Antiquity makes a substantial contribution by demonstrating how lyric and narrative poetry were as important to the English image of the Ottoman Mediterranean as drama and travel writing."
—John Archer, New York University

2014 | 288 pages | 13 illus. | Cloth | $59.95

THE DIFFICULT ART OF GIVING
Patronage, Philanthropy, and the American Literary Market
Francesca Sawaya

"A fresh, original, and important revisionist literary history. Francesca Sawaya explores the ways that corporate-based philanthropy emerges from, without fully displacing, older forms of cultural sponsorship like patronage. By discussing how this new philanthropy intersects with the careers of key turn-of the-century writers and is manifested in some of the major fictions by these writers, Sawaya tells a new story about this period that is anchored in illuminating rereadings of fictional texts." —Kenneth W. Warren, University of Chicago

IN THE SHADOW OF THE GALLOWS
Race, Crime, and American Civic Identity
Jeannine Marie DeLombard

"Through the double helix of print and legal history, [Jeannine Marie DeLombard] chronicles the metamorphic role of authorship in African Americans' bids for enfranchisement against the backdrop of a nation entangled in contradictory definitions of personhood and property and of criminality and civility. Exemplary of humanities scholarship at its best, the book establishes the connections between American literature and the African American struggle for civic inclusion."
—Priscilla Wald, Duke University

Haney Foundation Series
2014 | 456 pages | 15 illus. | Paper | $27.50

THE KILLERS
A Narrative of Real Life in Philadelphia
George Lippard. Edited by Matt Cohen and Edlie L. Wong

"With its resonant social commentary, The Killers has assumed significance in recent American studies. But this engaging novel stands on its own as a portrait of city life, with special emphasis on the street gangs of Philadelphia's underworld."
—David S. Reynolds, CUNY Graduate Center

2014 | 256 pages | 11 illus. | Cloth | $45.00

THE ALTAR AT HOME
Sentimental Literature and Nineteenth-Century American Religion
Claudia Stokes

"Claudia Stokes presents a more textured account and provocatively mixed assessment of the sentimental tradition of American women's letters than we have yet encountered."
—Tracy Fessenden, Arizona State University

2014 | 312 pages | Cloth | $59.95

BLACK COSMOPOLITANISM
Racial Consciousness and Transnational Identity in the Nineteenth-Century Americas
Ifeoma Kiddoe Nwankwo

"Black Cosmopolitanism seeks to tell a story about the complex hemispheric context in which multiple public discourses of blackness emerged in the work of black intellectuals, writing and publishing throughout a nineteenth century shaped by the cataclysmic impact of the Haitian revolution . . . [The book reflects] the richness of new pathways in a hemispheric American studies, moving outward to explore philosophies of race and histories of racial identity that traveled back and forth between colonial and imperial worlds."—American Literature

the SHELBY CULLOM DAVIS CENTER for HISTORICAL STUDIES

http://www.princeton.edu/dav/

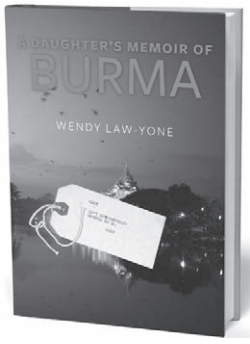

In the Aftermath of Catastrophe

During the academic years 2014/15 and 2015/16, the Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies will focus on the topic of "In the aftermath of catastrophe." What happens in the wake of cataclysmic experiences: war, civil war, genocide, imperial collapse, natural disaster? The aim in part is to understand processes of reconstruction but not only that. How was the experience of catastrophe remembered and memorialized; how was trauma conceived and dealt with; how was the post-catastrophic present understood in relation to the pre-disaster past? As always, we hope to address these questions from a wide variety of periods and places, from prehistory to the present and from all parts of the world.
The Center will offer a limited number of research fellowships for one or two semesters, running from September to January and from February to June. Early career scholars must have their doctoral degrees in hand at the time of the application. Fellows are expected to live in Princeton in order to take an active part in the intellectual interchange with other members of the Seminar. Funds are limited, and candidates are, therefore, strongly urged to apply to other grant-giving institutions as well as the Center if they wish to come for a full year.
To apply please link to: http://jobs.princeton.edu, requisition #1400477. The deadline for receipt of applications and letters of recommendation for fellowships for 2015/2016 is December 1, 2014. Please note that we will not accept faxed applications. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, cover letter, research proposal, abstract of proposal, and contact information for three references. For further information about the Davis Center, please go to http://www.princeton.edu/dav. Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Drawing on a range of fiction and nonliterary sources, Aeron Hunt explores the personal dimension of business in Victorian culture and shows how character was both a mediating concept and a crucial mode of power in commercial and interpersonal life.

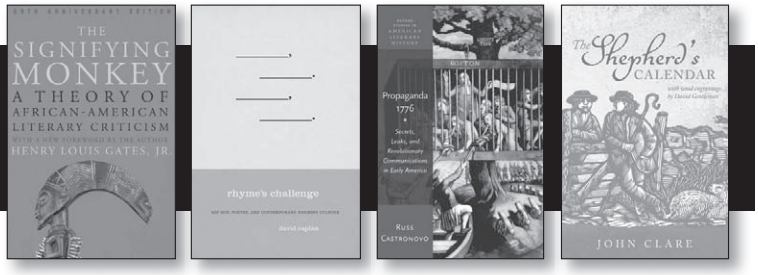

Prophetic Remembrance
Black Subjectivity in African American and South African Trauma Narratives
Erica Still
$24.50 | PAPER
Bringing together contemporary African American narratives about slavery and Black South African narratives about apartheid, Erica Still shows how they reveal a black subjectivity that accepts its traumatic past but also claims a future that overcomes it.

What's New from Harper Perennial

"With superb, exhaustive research and finely dramatic writing, Carla Kaplan's brilliant Miss Anne in Harlem fills an aching void in our knowledge of the Harlem Renaissance. It also significantly deepens our understanding of American culture in the 1920s and American feminism in general."
—Arnold Rampersad, author of The Life of Langston Hughes

"Carla Kaplan has given us and history a great gift."
—New York Journal of Books

Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry: A Postdoctoral Program in the Humanities and Social Sciences

Washington University announces the fifteenth year of Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry, a postdoctoral fellowship program endowed by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and designed to encourage interdisciplinary scholarship and teaching across the humanities and social sciences. We invite applications from recent Ph.D.s for the position as Fellow. In September 2015, the selected Fellow will join the University's ongoing interdisciplinary programs and seminars. The Fellow will receive a two-year appointment with a nine-month academic year salary beginning at $51,665 per year. Postdoctoral Fellows have pursued their own continuing research in association with a senior faculty mentor at Washington University. Over the course of their two-year appointment, they will also teach three undergraduate courses and collaborate in leading an interdisciplinary seminar on theory and methods for advanced undergraduates and beginning graduate students in the humanities and interpretive social sciences.

There is no application form, but further information on Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry is available on the web at http://mii.wustl.edu/. Applicants should submit a cover letter, a description of their research program (no more than 1800 words), a brief proposal for the seminar in theory and methods, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants who have not completed their doctoral work should indicate, in their cover letters, how many chapters of their dissertation are complete and how complete the remaining chapters are. Cover letters should include all relevant contact information and the applicant's name should appear on each page of all application materials. Applicants should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of recommendation.

Submit materials by email, post, or online document handler by December 3, 2014 to Joseph Loewenstein (mii@artsci.wustl.edu). The mailing address is: Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry, Washington University, Campus Box 1029, One Brookings Drive, St. Louis, MO 63130-4899. For express mail, please send materials to: Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry, Washington University, Umrath Hall, Room 231, One Brookings Drive, St. Louis, MO 63130-4899. Washington University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Employment eligibility verification requested upon hire.

Mikhail Bulgakov

Дон Кихот [Don Kikhot]

edited by Margarita Marinova and Scott Pollard

Don Quixote

translated by Margarita Marinova

"This volume has great merit and will be valuable in advanced Russian language classes, in Russian literature courses on Bulgakov, or in classes on Soviet culture or theater."

—Rachel May
Syracuse University

When Soviet censors approved Mikhail Bulgakov's stage adaptation of Don Quixote, they were unaware that they were sanctioning a subtle but powerful criticism of Stalinist rule: Bulgakov's Don Quixote fits comfortably into the nineteenth-century Russian tradition of idealistic, troubled intellectuals, but the knight's quest becomes an allegory of the artist under the strictures of Stalin's regime.

The volume's introduction provides background for Bulgakov's adaptation and compares Bulgakov with Cervantes and the twentieth-century Russian work with the seventeenth-century Spanish work.

Mikhail Bulgakov (1891–1940) practiced medicine but soon turned to journalism and writing. He struggled persistently for artistic freedom but was frustrated by the Soviet censorship. "In the last seven years," he wrote to a friend in 1937, "I have created sixteen works in various genres, and they have all been slain."

LITERARY RESEARCH GUIDE

The new, sixth edition of James L. Harner's Literary Research Guide is now available in a searchable online format for individuals.

Updated regularly, the Literary Research Guide is a selective, annotated guide to reference sources essential to the study of British literature, literatures of the United States, other literatures in English, and related topics.

The sixth edition of the Literary Research Guide contains over 1,000 entries, which refer to more than 1,600 additional resources and cite over 700 reviews. The Guide also shows how scholars identify and locate primary and secondary works.

Entries can be looked up in WorldCat and Google Books, and the Guide offers flexible search options.

The annotations for each work

- describe its type, scope, major limitations, and organization
- evaluate coverage, organization, and accuracy
- explain its uses in research
- note related works, including ones not accorded separate entries in the Guide

"Animatedly, energetically, enthusiastically, and vigorously recommended . . . it should serve as a model for bringing a printed reference online."
