Law & Society Review
BASIC STYLE SHEET

All manuscripts should be typed double spaced on one side only. Rejected manuscripts cannot ordinarily be returned. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include footnotes and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the author to conform to the style of the Review. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult recent issues of this journal for further illustrations. A more detailed style sheet is available from the editorial office.

1. CITATIONS: All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. They should follow the statement they support and be in the following style:

(last name of author, year: page number or numbers to which you refer, if any)

EXAMPLE: . . . the opposition in Paris (Rudé, 1967: 167).

2. FOOTNOTES: All footnotes should be numbered sequentially and placed immediately after the text. They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.

3. REFERENCES: References are to be placed at the end of the manuscript and double spaced. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in chronological order beginning with the oldest. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a; 1970b).

a. BOOKS: LAST NAME, First name (year) Title of book. City: Publisher.

EXAMPLE: ARNOLD, Thurman W. (1935) The Symbols of Government. New York: Harcourt, Brace and World.

b. ARTICLES: LAST NAME, First name (year) "Title of article," volume number Journal initial page of article (month and day only if each issue is separately paginated).

EXAMPLE: STERN, Curt (1970) "The Continuity of Genetics," 99 Daedalus 882.

4. TABLES AND FIGURES: Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

5. ABSTRACTS: All articles should include an abstract of between 50 and 100 words.

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

Deadlines Announced for LSA Student Research Awards

The Trustess of the Law and Society Association voted at the 1987 annual meeting to initiate a program of awards for undergraduate and graduate student research. The awards of $100 each will be based on submissions and nominations made by nonstudent members of the association to the Committee on Student Awards. The committee encourages members of the association to submit examples of meritorious student papers.

The subject matter and methodology of recommended papers should participate in the tradition of interdisciplinary law and society research, and should approximate the type of article that appears in the Law & Society Review. All papers entered in the competition should be authored by matriculated students at any (U.S. or non-U.S.) institution of higher education between September 1987 and January 1989. Submissions from undergraduate students will be evaluated separately from those by graduate and law students. We hope to announce two awards at the annual meeting in June 1989.

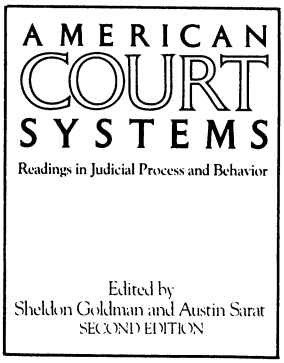

Submissions for the June 1989 awards should be received by January 5, 1989 and sent to Susan S. Silbey, Department of Sociology, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181. The papers will be read and evaluated by the Committee on Students Awards: Lawrence Baum, Ohio State University; Sheldon Messinger, UC–Berkeley; John Monahan, University of Virginia; Marjorie Zatz, Arizona State University; and Susan S. Silbey, Wellesley College.

AMERICAN COURT SYSTEMS

Readings in Judicial Process and Behavior SECOND EDITION

Edited by Sheldon Goldman and Austin Sarat

This timely collection illustrates the many facets of the American judicial system with 63 readings–42 new to this edition–many never before published.

Representing the most recent important additions to the literature, the essays cover public opinion and the court; how and why judges decide cases as they do; who wins and who loses in the judicial process; the impact of court decisions–and more. Now updated to include the latest statistics on Reagan's federal court appointees and the voting behavior on the Rehnquist Court, American Court Systems, Second Edition offers you a valuable new teaching tool.

LAW AND POLICY

Edited by Keith Hawkins, Thomas Headrick and John Thomas

Law and Policy is a multidisciplinary journal which critically analyses the role of law in the policy process. Articles by legal scholars, social scientists and policy makers deal with the relationship of law, legal institutions and processes to major issues such as government regulation, social welfare, dispute resolution, economic analysis, and criminal justice. Volume 10, 1988 will include a Special Issue on white collar crime, edited by Herbert Edelhertz, which will explore how white collar crime affects the success or failure of government programs.

Recent articles include:

A communication model of taxpayer honesty
ROBERT MASON

Grass-roots activism and the drunk driving issue: a survey of MADD chapters
FRANK J. WEED

Community participation and the function of rules: the case of urban zoning boards

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Established in 1953, SOCIAL PROBLEMS is one of the most widely read and highly regarded journals in the social sciences. As a general journal of research and theory, it features work covering a wide range of topics, methods, and theoretical approaches to the study of social problems. Recent issues include articles on political scandals, television violence and violent crime, mental illness among the homeless, the anti-nuclear power movement, abuse of the elderly, and the origins of sexual psychopath laws. Occasionally, entire issues of the journal are devoted to important themes such as feminist thought and women's problems or critical perspectives on social problems and criminological theory. Throughout its history, the journal's editors have emphasized both scholarly excellence and stylistic clarity in publishing work that will be of interest to a broad readership.

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR HARRY KALVEN PRIZE

The Harry Kalven Prize is awarded by the Law & Society Association biennially for "distinguished research on law and society." It is not a book prize, but is given in recognition of a body of scholarly work. Neither is it a "career achievement" award, however, and at least some portion of the work for which the award is given should therefore have been completed within the past few years.

A committee has been appointed to select the 1989 recipient of the award. The members of the committee are:

Phoebe Ellsworth, University of Michigan
Malcolm Feeley, University of California, Berkeley
Carol Greenhouse, Cornell University
John Heinz, chair, American Bar Foundation/Northwestern University
James Short, Washington State University

Nominations of candidates or suggestions for the committee's consideration should be forwarded to the chair of the committee:

John P. Heinz
American Bar Foundation
750 North Lake Shore Drive
Chicago, IL 60611

Documentation concerning the significance and contributions of the research, including citations to publications, will assist the committee in the consideration of candidates. Nominations should be sent to the committee by December 1, 1988. The award will be presented at the 1989 annual meeting of the Association in Madison, Wisconsin.
