THE SCHOOL OF CRITICISM & THEORY at Cornell University

An international program of study with leading figures in critical theory invites you to apply for its 2013 Summer Session, June 16 - July 26

IN NEW YORK STATE'S FINGER LAKES REGION

"One of the most enriching intellectual experiences of my academic life."
Karine Côté-Boucher, York University

"This summer odyssey transformed not only many ideas I previously had about theory and criticism, but also the very experience of being an academic."
Katarzyna Bojarska, Polish Academy of Sciences

"In this community of critics, away from the familiar ecology of one's home institution, one is offered new ways of seeing, new questions, new connections."
David Russell, Princeton University

"At SCT the exposure to learning is absolutely open and continuous."
Stefano Selenu, Brown University

"At SCT there is a spirit of lively, respectful exchange, serious commitment to critical dialogue, and actual interest in listening to others."
Lynda Paul, Yale University

"Our classroom was a rich mosaic of heterogeneous disciplinary backgrounds and interests."
Alicia Garcia, Johns Hopkins University

The Program
In an intensive six-week course of study, participants from around the world, across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, explore recent developments in critical theory.

Tuition
The fee for the session is $2700. Applicants are eligible to compete for partial tuition scholarships and are urged to seek funding from their home institutions.

Admission
We welcome applications from faculty members and advanced graduate students at universities worldwide. Applications must be submitted online by February 1, and admissions decisions are announced in March.

The Literary Invention of Margaret Cavendish

By Lara Dodds

As a reader of her literary predecessors, and as a writer who herself contributed to the emerging literary tradition, Margaret Cavendish is an extraordinary figure whose role in early modern literary history has yet to be fully acknowledged. Here, Lara Dodds reassesses the literary invention of Cavendish—the use Cavendish makes of other writers, her own various forms of writing, and the ways in which she creates her own literary persona.

A Variorum Commentary on the Poems of John Milton

Volume 5, Part 4 [Paradise Lost, Book 4]

Cheryl H. Fresch, Edited by P. J. Klemp

The first part of this variorum edition to appear on Paradise Lost, Fresch's study presents a comprehensive and detailed narrative survey of the critical responses to Paradise Lost, book 4, from 1695 through 1970.

"Fresch addresses the broader critical matters of a section of the poem and then follows each broader discussion with appropriate close analysis of specific technical and interpretive issues. . . . [L]audably user-friendly. This truly is an outstanding volume, one that I would urge every academic library—and every individual Miltonist who can afford it—to purchase." —Review of English Studies

ISBN 978-0-8207-0442-5 / $85.00s

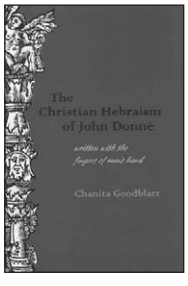

Pleasure and Gender in the Writings of Thomas More

Pursuing the Common Weal

A. D. Cousins

"A. D. Cousins's ambitious study . . . covers a lot of intellectual historical territory. Cousins's agenda is laid out cleverly, and the analyses that follow are remarkable for their thoroughness, the breadth of foregrounding in More's classical and early Christian precedents, and the acuity of the author's rhetorical observations." —Sixteenth Century Journal

ISBN 978-0-8207-0438-8 / $58.00s

The Christian Hebraism of John Donne

Written with the Fingers of Man's Hand

Chanita Goodblatt

"Goodblatt's careful attention to the individual Hebrew words that Donne pondered so eloquently in his sermons forms the most fascinating part of this valuable study. [Her] thesis is a valuable one. Donne's . . . familiarity and ongoing engagement with the Hebrew language and Jewish exegetical tradition have not been sufficiently emphasized until now." —Sixteenth Century Journal

Italo Calvino
Letters, 1941–1985
Italo Calvino
Selected and with an introduction by Michael Wood
Translated by Martin McLaughlin

"Calvino liked to present an inscrutable face to the world, but this literally marvelous collection of letters shows him to have been gregarious, puckish, funny, combative, and, above all, wonderful company, and opens a new and fascinating perspective on one of the master writers of the twentieth century. Michael Wood and Martin McLaughlin have done Calvino, and us, a great and loving service."

Against the Current

Essays in the History of Ideas

Second Edition

Isaiah Berlin

Edited by Henry Hardy

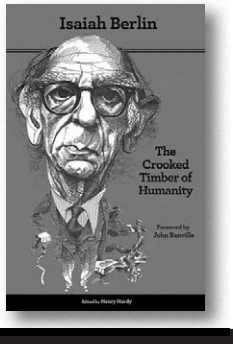

With a new foreword by Mark Lilla

Introduction by Roger Hausheer

"A most remarkable intellectual achievement. There are few books published in our time which more dazzlingly illuminate some of the most crucial problems of western culture and civilisation."
—Goronwy Rees, Encounter

"Isaiah Berlin was the most esteemed intellectual figure in the English-speaking world. Against the Current may be the most representative of [his] books."
—Mark Feeney, Boston Globe

Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture

SCHOLARS IN RESIDENCE

Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, a unit of The New York Public Library's Research Libraries, announces its Scholars-in-Residence Program for the academic year of 2014-2015.

The Fellowship Program encompasses projects in African, Afro-American, and Afro-Caribbean history and culture, with an emphasis on African Diasporan Studies and Biography, Social History and African American Culture. (Please see our website for information on the Center's holdings.)

Requirements Fellows are required to be in full-time residence at the Center during the award period. They are expected to utilize the Center's resources extensively, participatein scheduled seminars, colloquia and luncheons, reviewand critique papers presented at these forums, and prepare a report on work accomplished at the end of their residency. Persons seeking support for research leading to degrees are not eligible under this program. Candidates for advanced degrees must have received the degree or completed all requirements for it by the application deadline.

Award Fellowships funded by the Program will allow recipients to spend six months in residence with access to resources at both the Schomburg Center and The New York Public Library. The fellowship stipend is $30,000 for six months. This program is made possible in part through grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Ford Foundation, the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, and the Samuel I. Newhouse Foundation.
