Woolf

A Guide for the Perplexed

Kathryn Simpson, Cardiff Metropolitan University, UK

Drawing on some of the main critical debates and on Woolf's non-fictional writings, this guide untangles some of the difficulties and perplexities that can prove a barrier to understanding of Woolf's writing. These include aspects of the process of writing (such as narrative techniques, formal structures, characterization), as well as the thematic concerns so central to Woolf's writing, the cultural context in which it emerged and to recent criticism, including representations of gender and sexuality, class and race.

The American Biographical Novel

Michael Lackey, University of Minnesota, USA

The American Biographical Novel charts the shifts in intellectual history that made the biographical novel both acceptable to the literary establishment and popular with the general reading public. More specifically, it clarifies the origin and evolution of this genre of fiction, specifies the kind of "truth" it communicates, provides a framework for identifying how this genre uniquely engages the political, and demonstrates how it gives readers new access to history.

Filled with slapstick humor, musical wizardry, and religious imagery, Tyler Perry's films have inspired legions of fans, and yet critics often dismiss them or demean their audience. Tyler Perry's America takes the films seriously in their own right. After providing essential background information on Perry's life and film career, the book looks at what the films reveal about post–civil rights America and why they inspire so many people. Tyler Perry's America is a thought-provoking examination of this powerhouse filmmaker which highlights the way Perry's films appeal to viewers by connecting a rich African-American folk-cultural past with the promise of modern sophistication.

"The book is lovingly informative, and Lee knows the context of the films (be it reality, novels, or other films). . . . Highly recommended."—CHOICE

"It is impossible to understand modern America without understanding the phenomenon that is Tyler Perry. In this book, Shayne Lee does a masterful job bringing us into the world of Tyler Perry films and helping us understand what they tell us about ourselves. A riveting read; be prepared to be surprised."—Michael Emerson, Rice University

"In T*yler Perry's America: Inside His Films*, sociologist Shayne Lee offers an unmatched and unrivaled scholarly consideration of the sociocultural relevance of Perry's oeuvre for a post–civil rights, post-soul era. . . . Lee offers here a compelling, rigorous sociological approach to his data that sets a new standard of engagement that future treatments will have to, no doubt, consider."

The Submerged Plot and the Mother's Pleasure from Jane Austen to Arundhati Roy

KELLY A. MARSH

$84.95 | cloth 978-0-8142-1297-4

"The Submerged Plot and the Mother's Pleasure from Jane Austen to Arundhati Roy is a very significant rereading of the Victorian courtship novel and its twentieth-century heirs. It recenters the courtship novel on the absent mother and revalues the vilified mothers in more recent stories of injured and alienated daughters. Marsh's study makes significant contributions to feminist literary criticism, to narrative theory, and to scholarship on the novel." —Margaret Homans, Yale University

"Narrative Sequence in Contemporary Narratology coheres very strongly as a series of explorations of current research from various perspectives on what narrative theory can tell us about sequence—mostly sequence of discourse, though occasionally sequence of story. People who do narrative theory and who teach narrative theory will want to read this book."

OSTEND

Stefan Zweig, Joseph Roth, and the Summer Before the Dark

VOLKER WEIDERMANN

Translated by Carol Janeway

"Like Wes Anderson's Zubrowska in The Grand Budapest Hotel . . . at once haunting and ornamental: an antique music-box of melancholic atmosphere. . . . A meditation on the act of creation, one that explores how we make refuges out of our own pasts."

—The New Republic

"Resonant. . . . As Europe tumbles towards darkness, the writers in Ostend create a haven for love and literature–one they know is doomed that Weidermann evokes with skill and delicacy."

—The Sunday Times

THE ART OF CHARLIE CHAN HOCK CHYE

SONNY LIEW

"A startlingly brilliant tour de force. . . . Although the premise sounds simple—it purports to be the biography of a fictional comic book artist—what Liew does with it is anything but. At once dizzyingly meta and deeply heartfelt, the book spans 80 years and its complicated layering, reminded me of everything from Maus to The Tin Drum to Ulysses."

A Fiery Heart

CLAIRE HARMAN

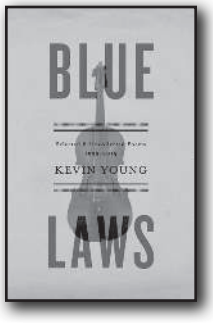

"A well-researched, wonderfully lucid, pleasingly written treatment of a most extraordinary woman. . . . What makes this biography such a rewarding work is the poise and easy confidence with which Harman summons character and creative imagination."

—Chicago Tribune

"[An] excellent new bicentennial biography. . . . Ms. Harman writes with warmth and a fine understanding of Ms. Brontë's literary significance."

BLUE LAWS

Selected and Uncollected Poems, 1995–2015

KEVIN YOUNG

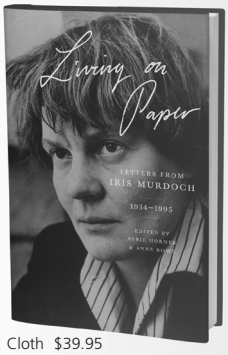

"Encompassing 20 years of his work, [Young's] collection draws from and deepens the African American poetic tradition. Young brilliantly conveys the struggles and triumphs of those oppressed by slavery, economic hardship after emancipation, Jim Crow laws and prejudice that still tinge life today. . . . Tremendous depth and breadth . . . builds toward the gorgeous work from Book of Hours, where the speaker deals with the loss of his father and his own impending parenthood."

Living on Paper

Letters from Iris Murdoch, 1934–1995

Iris Murdoch
Edited by Avril Horner & Anne Rowe

"Living on Paper, the first major collection of Murdoch's correspondence, is a dense inventory of her passions and affairs. . . . Anyone who misses the regular appearance of new Murdoch novels will find plenty to enjoy and admire in these letters. They pitch us back into her cerebral yet vaguely surreal and magical intellectual world. Her mind, here as in everything she wrote, is formidable."

CULTURAL STUDIES AT DE GRUYTER

Doris Bachmann-Medick (Ed.)
The Trans/National Study of Culture
A Translational Perspective
2016. viii, 271 pages, 2 figures (bw)
Pb. RRP US$ 35.00
ISBN 978-3-11-045469-7
Also available as an eBook

This volume establishes key concepts for a trans/national expansion in the study of culture. Using translation as an analytical category, it explores what is translatable between nation-specific approaches such as British/American "Cultural Studies", German "Kulturwissenschaften" and French "Sciences Humaines". Theoretical reflections and case studies contribute to a new trans/national view of the study of culture within an entangled world society.
