LANGUAGE MATTERS

A Guide to Everyday Questions About Language

DONNA JO NAPOLI

Is Ebonics really a dialect or simply bad English? Will computers ever really learn human language? Do animals have language? Napoli provides an entertaining tour through the world of language, examining these and other vexing and contraversial language-related questions.

A GLOSSARY OF SOCIOLINGUISTICS

PETER TRUDGILL

"A landmark event. It signifies the dramatic growth of sociolinguistics over the past several years and the level of interest it now attracts...No one is in a better position to write a glossary of the field, and no one can match Trudgill's lucid, readable style."

Aims and Scope of the Series

The goal of this new and provocative collection is to put at the disposal of the linguistic community studies which contribute to a deeper understanding of the nature of linguistic variation within the generative tradition that has been developing since the middle of the twentieth century. The series will pay particular attention to the tension between descriptive and explanatory adequacy more accurate ly reformulated as a tension between the simplicity of the language faculty and its apparent complexity. Volumes will cover the traditional domain of syntactic studies, but will also include related areas such as semantics, morphology, phonology, and the lexicon. The series aims at distributing studies which constitute important contributions to the field, in particular to the domain of micro- and macro- variation, which are currently difficult to access. Although the main focus will be on generative linguistics, it does not exclude studies of a more general nature or from different schools of thought, insofar as they contribute to the advancement of the generative program.

A rich resource for those interested in the development of Louisiana Creole and in Francophony

If I Could Turn My Tongue Like That

The Creole Language of Pointe Coupee Parish, Louisiana

THOMAS A. KLINGLER

This is the first comprehensive grammatical description of a variety of Lousiana Creole that may be dying out. The heart of the book is a detailed morphosyntactic description based on some 150 hours of interviews with Pointe Coupee Creole speakers. Historical and sociolinguistic background on the region is also provided. This kind of rarely printed material will be essential in preserving Creole culture in the future.

Formal Approaches to Function in Grammar

In honor of Eloise Jelinek

Edited by Andrew Carnie, Heidi Harley and MaryAnn Willie
University of Arizona

The contributions making up this volume in honor of Eloise Jelinek are written from a formalist perspective that deals with stereotypically functionalist questions about language. Jelinek's work has highlighted the importance of incorporating the effects of discourse and information structure on the syntactic representation. This book aims to invoke Jelinek's work either in substance or spirit.

Discussions with John J. Gumperz

Edited by Susan L. Eerdmans, Carlo L. Prevignano and Paul J. Thibault
University of Bologna / University of Venice and Lingnan University, Hong Kong

This book features a fascinating and extended focal interview with Professor John J. Gumperz, who ranges over his long career trajectory and reflects on his scientific achievements and how they relate to the contemporary linguistic scene. In this way, the reader is presented with a snapshot introduction to Gumperz's work in a contemporary context.

Postvelar Harmony

Kimary N. Shahin
University of British Columbia

This book examines the formal bases of postvelar harmony and its crosslinguistic variation. It is of interest especially to phonologists concerned with segmental harmony and its explanation within Optimality Theory. Postvelar harmony in two unrelated languages, Palestinian Arabic and St'át'imcets Salish, is examined in detail. The result is the first comprehensive clarification of postvelar phonology for either language.

INFORMATION FOR CONTRIBUTORS

LANGUAGE, the journal of the Linguistic Society of America, carries technical articles dealing with problems of linguistic science, reviews of recently published linguistic works, and notes of interest to professional linguists.

MANUSCRIPTS for publication and exchange JOURNALS should be sent to the Editor of LANGUAGE (Brian D. Joseph, 202 Mount Hall, The Ohio State University, 1050 Carmack Road, Columbus, Ohio 43210; language@ling.ohio-state.edu). BOOKS for review should be sent to the Review Editor of LANGUAGE (Stanley Dubinsky, Linguistics Program, University of South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina 29208; dubinsky@sc.edu). Manuscripts of articles and reviews should be submitted in FOUR ANONYMOUS copies; they will not be returned. Normally at least one author of any article or review article submitted to LANGUAGE must be a member of the Society.

Manuscript form. Authors of articles submitted to LANGUAGE are not asked to follow the LANGUAGE style sheet in preparing their manuscripts for initial submission to LANGUAGE. There is no restriction on the format of manuscripts, although authors should make their submissions as reader-friendly as possible. Any manuscript, however, that has been accepted for publication as an article will have to be revised so as to conform strictly to the LANGUAGE style sheet. For the complete style sheet, see the December LSA Bulletin, the LANGUAGE web page at www.lsadc.org/language/, or write to the editors.

This policy does not apply to book reviews and book notices. These are all solicited by the Review Editor and they must adhere as closely as possible to the LANGUAGE style sheet on first submission.
