Celebrating 15 years of American Literary History

Edited by Gordon Hutner

Readers agree that it's the best-written journal in the field, with more poised and decisive critical argument than they will confront anywhere else.

ALH presents the most trenchant and engaging scholarly and critical articles over the whole spectrum of US literary and cultural studies. Not to mention our inimitable essay-reviews, on clusters of recent books. And don't miss our forums and award-winning special issues.

For 15 years, American Literary History has been startling the field with an array of distinguished and provocative discussion. And issue by issue, year by year, it remains dedicated to upholding that ideal.

Drawing from more than a dozen academic fields, American Literary History is the place to find more indispensible articles about the multitude of subjects bordering our parameters. Since 1989, ALH has been making American literary history.

Journals Special Issues

Ralph Ellison: The Next Fifty Years
a special issue of boundary 2
volume 30, number 2
While Ralph Ellison is perhaps best known for his novel Invisible Man, he was also a significant twentieth-century intellectual, having authored numerous essays and papers that shaped thought on subjects from jazz to liberalism.
Special Issue Editors
Ronald A. T. Judy, Jonathan Arac

National Literary Histories
a special issue of Modern Language Quarterly
volume 64, number 2
This issue explores the reason behind the creation of new national literary histories, including the recognition of more nations and the need to update old histories in response to market pressures and new generational concepts.
Special Issue Editors
Brook Thomas and Marshall Brown

Technologies of Public Persuasion
a special issue of Public Culture
volume 15, number 3
This issue offers richly descriptive examples of how technologically influenced forms and artifacts of communication effect transformations in the self-understanding of publics and subjects.
Special Issue Editors
Dilip Parameshwar Gaonkar and Elizabeth A. Povinelli

Palestine America
a special issue of SAQ: South Atlantic Quarterly
volume 102, number 4
Mapping the complicated relationship among Palestine, the United States, and Israel, this issue includes critical essays on the politics, culture, literature, and history of the Palestinian people.

differences

A Journal of Feminist Cultural Studies

Duke University Press is pleased to be the new publisher of differences.

differences has established a critical forum where the problematic of differences is explored in texts ranging from the literary and visual to the political and social. The journal highlights theoretical debates across disciplines that address the ways concepts and categories—notably but not exclusively gender—operate within culture.

The Collected Letters of Thomas and Jane Welsh Carlyle

A periscope into the past

"This project will be, if it is not already, the single most important work of scholarship in 19th-century English literature. . . . [The volumes] illuminate the whole of the highest literary circles of mid-Victorian England. At that time no writer, however much he or she professed to despise the occasional rantings of Carlyle, could deny that he exerted the strongest influence over them."—Simon Heffer, The Spectator, August 2, 2003

Charles Dickens	Elizabeth Gaskell	Robert Browning
George Eliot	Johann Wolfgang von Goethe	William M. Thackeray
Erasmus Darwin	Geraldine Jewsbury	Alfred Tennyson
John Stuart Mill	Ralph Waldo Emerson	Ivan Turgenev

This list represents only a few of the Victorian notables with whom Thomas and Jane Carlyle corresponded. The collection of the Carlyle letters is regarded as one of the finest and most comprehensive literary archives of the nineteenth century.

Pedagogy:

Critical Approaches to Teaching Literature, Language, Composition, and Culture

Pedagogy is an innovative journal that aims to build a new discourse around teaching in English studies. Drawing from a multiplicity of positions and perspectives, it offers a forum for critical reflection as well as a site for spirited and informed debate. This journal strives to reverse the long-standing marginalization of teaching and the scholarship produced around it; it asserts the centrality of teaching to the work of scholars and professionals.

MAKING LITERATURE MATTER
An Anthology for Readers and Writers
Second Edition

John Schilb, Indiana University
John Clifford, University of North Carolina at Wilmington

2003/paper/1662 pages ■ Instructor's Manual ■ bedfordstmartins.com/makinglitmatter

A widely adopted success in its first edition, Making Literature Matter combines an innovative writing text with a uniquely organized anthology for introductory literature courses that emphasize critical thinking and writing. The writing instruction and assignments in the second edition are even more extensive than in its groundbreaking predecessor.

"I have been impressed by the difference your textbook makes for students in approaching literature. I enjoyed teaching it and my students liked it as well."

— Sabine A. Klein, Purdue University

THE COMPACT BEDFORD INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE
Reading ■ Thinking ■ Writing
Sixth Edition

Michael Meyer, University of Connecticut

2003/cloth/1638 pages ■ Extensive Ancillary Package ■ bedfordstmartins.com/meyer/bedintrolit

Ideally suited for courses emphasizing writing about literature, the compact edition of The Bedford Introduction to Literature offers all the distinctive features of Michael Meyer's best seller in a shorter, less expensive paperback format. With its rich array of selections, its many innovative editorial features, and now fully integrated with its own companion Web site, the compact edition provides more options than ever before to help students read, think, and write effectively about literature.

The companion Web site features

- The VirtuaLit Interactive Poetry Tutorial — Where constant interaction engages students in close reading.
- LitLinks Online Research Links — Where pre-selected links bring literature to life.
- LitQuiz Online Quizzing — Where students test themselves on every story, play, and element of poetry.
- Multimedia Project Guides — Where students get help finding and evaluating online materials for innovative projects.

Innovative online resources for literature

>>>VirtuaLit Interactive Tutorials

bedfordstmartins.com/virtualit

With a series of exciting online multimedia activities, the innovative VirtuaLit Interactive Tutorials draw students step-by-step through the close reading of a literary work's elements and the in-depth study of its critical and cultural contexts. These tutorials — for fiction and poetry — feature audio clips, sample essays, and an online notebook that records students' responses to exercises and writing prompts.

>>>LitLinks

bedfordstmartins.com/litlinks

With biographies and annotated links to reliable sites for over 600 authors, LitLinks provides students with an immediate working context for each author while focusing their extended research. Supplementary links lead to sites with useful information on the various literary periods.

>>>LitGloss

bedfordstmartins.com/litgloss

This convenient online reference tool gives students easy access to clear and concise definitions of more than 200 literary terms. Hyperlinked cross-references help students explore the relationships between associated terms, ensuring that they understand the nuances of important concepts.

>>>LitQuiz

bedfordstmartins.com/litquiz

A unique online database of quizzes that assess students' comprehension of fiction, poetry, drama, and essays, LitQuiz helps students evaluate their understanding of individual selections and allows instructors to use class time more productively. With over 500 quizzes already in the database and new quizzes added each semester, LitQuiz is an ever-expanding resource.

WRITING ABOUT LITERATURE
A Portable Guide

Janet E. Gardner, University of Massachusetts – Dartmouth
2004/paper/112 pages

Short enough to be read in one sitting and far less expensive than comparable guides, this handy volume introduces strategies for reading literature; explains the writing process; covers common writing assignments; offers specific instruction in writing about fiction, poetry, and drama; and concludes with extensive treatment of the literary research paper.

Journals

Critical Inquiry

W.J.T. Mitchell, Editor

"...academe's most prestigious theory journal..."
The New York Times

In Critical Inquiry new ideas and reconsideration of those traditional in criticism and culture are granted voice. International authors express inspiring and often provocative ideas on literature, art, architecture, film, history, music, philosophy, science, and more. This wide interdisciplinary focus creates surprising juxtapositions and linkages of concepts, offering new grounds for theoretical debate.

Modern Philology

Joshua Scodel, Editor

Modern Philology publishes important studies on literature, from the Middle Ages to the present. For the past century, the journal has elucidated the complex relations between texts and contexts in a variety of critical and theoretical modes.

Journal of British Studies

James Epstein and Nicholas Rogers, Editors

The Journal of British Studies publishes research articles and thematic review essays by an array of international authors addressing British history, literature, and allied disciplines.

Signs

Sandra Harding and Kathryn Norberg, Editors

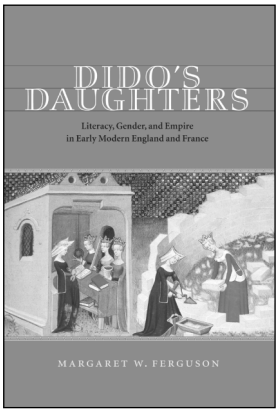

As the leading international publication in women's studies, Signs presents insightful, and often controversial, articles that advance feminist thinking in literature, philosophy, art, sociology, and history.

Complete Poems

CLAUDE McKAY

Edited and with an Introduction by William J. Maxwell

"Claude McKay's Complete Poems comes as an invaluable gift to all lovers of McKay, African American literature, and literature in general. McKay's eminence among poets of the Harlem Renaissance is richly documented in this scrupulous collection. With a lively, always perceptive introduction and meticulous notes, the Complete Poems stands as the definitive gathering of the verse of a writer who saw early the beauty and humanity of the black world at home and abroad."
— Arnold Rampersad, author of The Life of Langston Hughes and the Sara Hart Kimball Professor of the Humanities, Stanford University

"This is a wonderful book. McKay is a hugely important figure in the development of Caribbean and African American poetry, and bringing his poems together in one place does an invaluable service to readers of all backgrounds. Maxwell's outstanding introduction is the most insightful and cogent critical assessment of McKay's poetry to date."
—James Smethurst, author of The New Red Negro: The Literary Left and African American Poetry, 1930–1946

Containing more than three hundred poems, including nearly a hundred published here for the first time, this landmark collection showcases the range and dynamism of Claude McKay (1889–1948), the Jamaican-born poet whose life and work were marked by restless travel and steadfast social protest. McKay eludes easy definition, which is why this complete anthology, vividly introduced and carefully annotated by William J. Maxwell, is at once necessary and rewarding. Here readers can finally trace the complex transnational evolution of a major voice in twentieth-century verse.

Renato Barahona

Sex Crimes, Honour, and the Law in Early Modern Spain

VIZCAYA, 1528-1735

Explores the litigation of honour and dishonour by female victims of seduction and demonstrates that – in this region and era – female honour lost through sexual transgression could be redeemed through recourse to the law.

Jim Ellis

Sexuality and Citizenship

METAMORPHOSIS IN ELIZABETHAN EROTIC VERSE

Ellis provides detailed readings of fifteen examples of the epyllion, considering the poems in their cultural milieu and arguing that these myths of the transformations of young men are also stories of sexual, social, and political metamorphoses.

272 pp Ê HC 0802087353 $55.00

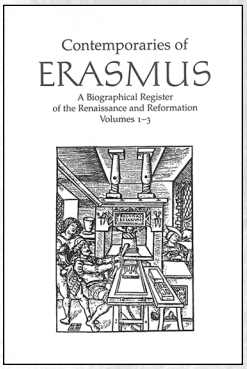

Madhavi Menon

Wanton Words

RHETORIC AND SEXUALITY IN ENGLISH RENAISSANCE DRAMA

Menon couples classical and Renaissance handbooks of rhetoric with canonical Renaissance plays and demonstrates their shared propensity to speak about sex in the same instance that they speak about the workings of language.

Contemporaries of Erasmus

A BIOGRAPHICAL REGISTER OF THE RENAISSANCE AND REFORMATION

NEW IN PAPER! Originally published in three volumes between 1985 and 1987, Contemporaries of Erasmus contains biographical information about more than 1900 people mentioned in the writings of Erasmus, combining the famous with the obscure: popes and politicians, artists and poets, knights and theologians. Now available in a single paperback volume.

Proust and Emotion

THE IMPORTANCE OF AFFECT IN À LA RECHERCHE DU TEMPS PERDU

A close reading of the hero-narrator's personal history shows how emotional paradigms (especially separation anxiety), involuntary memory, and other compelling impressions give focus and structure to Proust's novel. 'A very engaging, minute, scholarly study, which renews interest in Proust because it takes up, again, after the excesses of formalism, a traditional humanist question on the basis of new scholarship.' – Antoine Compagnon, Columbia University

Joseph A. Dane

The Myth of Print Culture

ESSAYS ON EVIDENCE, TEXTUALITY, AND THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL METHOD

Focusing on the disparity between levels of material evidence and levels of text, Dane demonstrates how the particulars of evidence are manipulated in standard scholarly arguments by the higher levels of textuality they are intended to support.

Cristina Farronato

Eco's Chaosmos

FROM THE MIDDLE AGES TO POSTMODERNITY

Farronato explores Eco's struggle in his novels for a composition of opposites, a tension between a typically medieval search for a code and the herme-neutic representative of deconstructive tendencies, between order and disorder.

272 pp Ê HC 0802087892 $50.00 Ê PB 0802085865 $27.95

Eugenio Bolongaro

Italo Calvino and the Compass of Literature

Bolongaro looks at five of Italo Calvino's early novels and argues that these works encompass a sustained meditation on the role of the intellectual and on the ethical and political dimension of literature.

The Academic Self An Owner's Manual

Donald E. Hall

A CHRONICLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION "Hot Type" selection

"[A] self-help manual for all those who toil in the groves of academe," —THE BOSTON GLOBE

"Hall offers sage advice to a new, young generation of junior faculty on how to take ownership of their academic selves,"— EXCHANGES: THE ON-LINE JOURNAL OF TEACHING AND LEARNING

"Hall offers excellent theoretical and practical advice about how to improve university life." "If only I could have read him earlier in my career."—Robert Bennett and Paul Trout, THE MONTANA PROFESSOR

A self-help book designed for academics, from graduate students to tenured faculty. Hall helps readers engage in an active process of career management, goal setting, prioritization, and reflection on the norms that constitute what he calls "academic selfhood." Hall encourages new and seasoned scholars to "own up to" the behaviors, attitudes, and complicities that compromise their professional identities. This book couples all its exhortations with clear, concrete, and practical strategies for responding productively to the many uncertainties of academic life.

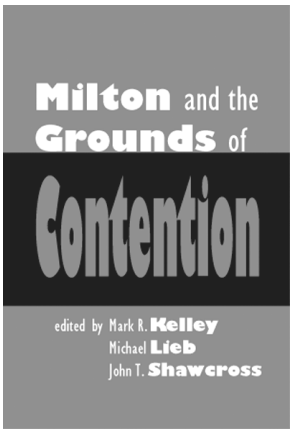

$16.95 paper 0-8142-5099-8 $44.95 cloth 0-8142-0907-6

"Hall's advice is courageous and sensible. It is about time that someone applied the insights of the self-help movement, as American as Emerson, to the fluctuations and uncertainties of the academic career. Hall is a wise guide to overcoming the accidents and dysfunctions of professional life, and an inspiring advocate for being true to oneself as the way to find genuine happiness and success."—Elaine Showalter, Princeton University

Milton and the Grounds of Contention

Edited by Mark R. Kelley, Michael Lieb & John T. Shawcross

Both in his writings and in his life, Milton became the very embodiment of contention. The ten new essays in this volume, all written by well-known and well-published Miltonists, examine major issues including the significance of women writers and readers, the nature of Milton's influence and the reception of his works, and the taint of heresy that Milton's theologial beliefs are said to betray. These issues, among others, have become the grounds of contention in the study and interpretation of Milton and his works.

Gender and the Power of Relationship

"United as one individual Soul" in Paradise Lost

Kristin A. Pruitt

In a truly innovative study, Kristin Pruitt offers a sustained analysis of the intersection of two of Milton's central concerns — theology and gender. Pruitt provides close readings of pivotal passages in Paradise Lost and views Milton's Eve and her relationship with Adam through the lens of selected interpretations of Genesis. Through such analysis, we see how Milton rejects, adopts, adapts and interrogates these interpretations in what emerges, overall, as a remarkably positive characterization of woman in what is (at least before the Fall) a remarkably egalitarian marriage.

Patriotism, Power and Print

National Consciousness in Tudor England

Gillian E. Brennan

This study examines English patriotism in the sixteenth century to discern its nature and modes of cultural expression, and to consider its use in political and religious propaganda. Focusing on a time when patriotism had yet to be truly conceptualized, Brennan investigates the sixteenth century while giving voice to the controversy between modernist and revisionist writers concerning the timing of the birth of nationalism. This astute work deals with a broad range of historical and literary texts, many of which are not often explored.

Herman Melville's Whaling Years

WILSON HEFLIN

Edited by Mary K. Bercaw Edwards and Thomas Farel Heffernan

"Melville in Moby-Dick left his 'cetological System' standing unfinished, like the Cathedral of Cologne. Wilson Heflin's study of Melville's whaling years, magnificent in scope, dazzling in vastness and variety of sources, was left unfinished, his lifetime of devoted scholarship proving not long enough to put the copestone on so heroic an undertaking. Now Heflin's great narrative is brought into print by the dedicated scholarship of Thomas F. Heffernan and Mary K. Bercaw Edwards. The reader of Herman Melville's Whaling Years is offered the top-gallant delight of following a fine mind through decades of multifarious researches and profound analyses. In this masterpiece of scholarship, Heflin takes his rightful place as one of the handful of scholars who have added most bounteously to knowledge of Melville."

Gender and Nation in the Spanish Modernist Novel

ROBERTA JOHNSON

"This is a major contribution to modern peninsular studies. Regardless of discipline, the two issues perhaps of greatest importance to cultural and literary studies at this moment (gender and national identity) are precisely the topics Johnson is bold enough to grapple with vis-à-vis Spain at a crucial period of its history."

Ordinary Enchantments

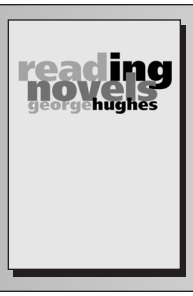

Magical Realism and the Remystification of Narrative

WENDY B. FARIS

"Synthesizing postcolonialist insight, feminist critique and narratology, Faris ranges widely across space and time, and her findings are as rich and strange as magical realist fiction itself. If the enchantments of magical realism are 'ordinary,' this book certainly is not."
—Brian McHale

THE PEARSON CUSTOM LIBRARY OF

American Literature

Pearson Custom Publishing is pleased to announce a new database for American Literature.

YOU CHOOSE THE CONTENT, you choose from six cover designs and we will create a book customized for your American Literature course.

It's a perfect match for your course.

The Pearson Custom Library of American Literature is a database of more than 1600 selections from classic to contemporary poetry, plays, and short stories. This collection also includes biographical headnotes; introductions to the historical periods; suggestions for research, secondary sources, and further reading; as well as a new feature "The Fluid Text" that highlights the revision process in literary works.

Make it YOURS.

The latest in printing technology allows us to create a customized literature anthology for as few as 25 students – even if you teach one section of American Literature, you can have a customized textbook of your very own.

You also have the option to add your own material including syllabi, course materials, campus-specific library guides, students' work, favorite readings, and just about anything else you can think of - up to 20% of the final anthology's length. Pearson Custom Publishing will obtain all necessary copyright clearances. We can also create a package for your custom anthology with Penguin titles at a substantial discount.

Features include:

- High quality editorial support and vision.

THE EDITORIAL TEAM INCLUDES:

- John Bryant, Hofstra University,General Editor
- Jacquelyn Y. McLendon, College of William and Mary
- Cristanne Miller, Pomona College
- Robin G. Schulze, Pennsylvania State University
- David Shields, University of South Carolina, Associate Editor

- Biographical headnotes for each author in the library and gloss notes for each selection.
- Suggestions for primary & secondary sources and further reading.
- On-line BookBuild system with extensive multivariable search function and on-line viewing capability.
- Anchor volumes for each period designed by the Period Editor.

It's available now!

Visit our website at: www.customliterature.com to learn more about this exciting new way to create a literature anthology especially for you.

What can you do at HarperCollins?

Rediscover Thornton Wilder

Our Perennial imprint has created a cause celebre with its new editions of Thornton Wilder's oeuvre. In their forewords, the likes of John Updike and Kurt Vonnegut remind us that Wilder wrote novels and plays that stand the test of time. Come take a look– and remember why Theophilus North, The Skin of Our Teeth, The Ides of March, The Bridge at San Luis Rey, Heaven Is My Destination, and others should be on your reading list.

Perennial An Imprint of HarperCollins*Publishers*

Read a masterful translation

"Though there have been many valuable translations of Don Quixote into English, I would commend Edith Grossman's version...Reading her amazing mode of finding equivalents in English for Cervantes' darkening vision is an entrance into further understanding of why this great book contains within itself all the novels that have followed in its sublime wake."
–Harold Bloom, from the Introduction

- December 2003

Redefining composition to include conscious attention to images and design, Picturing Texts is the first writing textbook to show students how to compose visual texts as well as how to read them. Both reader and rhetoric, it combines 40 readings and more than 200 images with instruction on how to think rhetorically about both words and images. Written and designed by a team of 3 composition scholars and a professional book designer, Picturing Texts is itself a model for composing with words and images.

"The first textbook to tackle the tasks of both analyzing and composing visuals in a way applicable to writing classrooms. . . . Incredibly well-designed activities, interesting images, and engaging readings." —Danielle DeVoss, Michigan State University

Updated with new essays and new coverage of spoken and visual texts, The Norton Reader maintains the quality that has made it a best-seller—an unwavering commitment to excellent writing. Twenty-five percent of the essays are new, and they uphold the Reader's long-standing balance of classic and contemporary, canonical and less-known selections. A new chapter on the spoken word introduces texts written to be heard, and the many new photographs, paintings, and drawings are all ones that accompanied the essays when they were first published.

"Still sets the standard."
—Allston James, Monterey Peninsula College

TRADITION & innovation

The Heath Anthology of American Literature, Concise
Paul Lauter, General Editor
©2004 • 0-618-25663-6

This long-awaited anthology gives students a rich survey of American literature in one volume. This concise edition retains the distinctive features of its groundbreaking two-volume parent text: diversity of writers, variety of forms, historical and cultural contexts, and a multitude of subjects and styles that constitute the rich literary culture of the United States. A timeline of literary, historical, and cultural events on the companion web site brings literature to life and continues to be one of the most frequently used study resources that Houghton Mifflin offers.

Understanding Literature: An Introduction to Reading and Writing
Walter Kalaidjian · Judith Roof · Stephen Watt
©2004 • Student Text (MLA Update Edition) with Free Interactive CD-ROM
0-618-41478-9

This ground-breaking collection includes discussions of the formal literary elements—and then goes a step further to integrate relevant and accessible coverage of literary criticism within each genre. Thorough overage of reading and writing about literature shows students how to read each genre and craft effective essays. Annotated student papers serve as models of good student writing, and a separate section teaches students MLA guidelines and how to conduct research and incorporate other sources into their writing. A CD-ROM and companion web site offer a wealth of reference material, including video and audio clips, links to relevant resources, and study and research projects.

Exile according to Julia

Gisèle Pineau

Translated by Betty Wilson with an afterword by Marie-Agnès Sourieau

"[Pineau is] among the best of women writers from the Third World. L'exil selon Julia is one of the richest, most enjoyable books to appear recently from the group of remarkable women novelists from Guadeloupe."
—World Literature Today

CARAF Books

Journal of a Residence in Chile during the Year 1822, and a Voyage from Chile to Brazil in 1823

Maria Graham

Edited by Jennifer Hayward

Journal of a Residence in Chile (1824) tells the gripping story of a gothic heroine in a dangerous but fascinating new land. The author has an eye for detail and a gift for storytelling, and so she creates a travel narrative with a compelling plot and vividly realized characters.

Shorewords
A Collection of American Women's Coastal Writings

Edited by Susan A. C. Rosen

Susan A. C. Rosen has compiled an imaginative and beautifully balanced anthology of selections from more than forty important writers connected by their love for the coastline.

$59.50 cloth, $19.95 paper

Violent Adventure
Contemporary Fiction by American Men

Marilyn C. Wesley

Questioning both the popular condemnation of violent representation and the notion that violence can be constructive by empowering the "identity" of an integrated adult self, Wesley identifies a revealing pattern of "violent adventure" in recent fiction by American men.

$55.00 cloth, $18.50 paper

Social Stories
The Magazine Novel in Nineteenth-Century America

Patricia Okker

By exploring how magazine novelists addressed audiences that differed from one another in terms of race, region, class, and gender, Social Stories offers a narrative of the American magazine novel that emphasizes its direct engagement with social, political, and cultural issues of its day.

$37.50 cloth

Practical Ecocriticism
Literature, Biology, and the Environment

Glen A. Love

"Love's reputation precedes him: He was the single most influential intellectual spirit behind the takeoff phase of the ecocritical movement. A substantial, original contribution to the field, Practical Ecocriticism will be a widely influential book."—Lawrence Buell, author of *Writing for an Endangered World: Literature, Culture, and Environment in the U.S. and Beyond

Where I Come From

Vijay Agnew

Paper $24.95 • 0-88920-414-4 • Life Writing series

A reflective memoir of an immigrant professor's life in a Canadian university from 1967, when immigration was opened up to third-world immigrants, to the present. This multilayered story reveals the complex ways in which race, class, and gender intersect in an immigrant woman's life.

Teaching Places

Audrey J. Whitson

Paper $24.95 • 0-88920-425-X • Life Writing series

The story of a woman's spiritual journey that takes her to many unique wilderness places in Alberta and into the exploration of old and new traditions — Aboriginal, mystical Christian, and European.

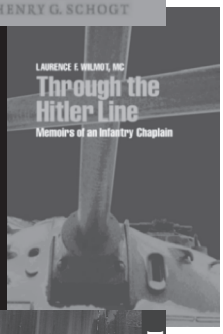

The Curtain

Witness and Memory in Wartime Holland

Henry G. Schogt

Paper $19.95 • 0-88920-396-2 • Life Writing series

Seven haunting stories with interwoven characters and events focus on the circumstances and dilemmas faced by Jewish and non-Jewish families in the Netherlands during the German Occupation.

Through the Hitler Line

Memoirs of an Infantry Chaplain

Laurence F. Wilmot, M.C.

Cloth $34.95 • 0-88920-426-8 • Life Writing series

A rare first-hand account of front-line battle by an army officer who is a resolute non-combatant. It is such paradoxes that make this story unique and compelling. Wilmot, as an Anglican chaplain, is a priest dressed as a warrior, and at the centre of the book is Wilmot's witness of the murderous battle at Arielli, Italy.

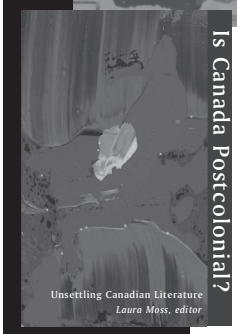

The Water Lily Pond

A Village Woman's Journey in Maoist China

Han Z. Li

Paper $24.95 • 0-88920-431-4 • Life Writing series

We are drawn into the inner life of a young Chinese peasant girl, May-ping, and her first glimmerings of youthful love and idealism under the Maoist regime in China. As she grows into a mature woman, she becomes increasingly aware of the strife around her. Her story reveals how political change during the Maoist regime left its mark on ordinary people.

Is Canada Postcolonial?

Unsettling Canadian Literature

Laura Moss, editor

Paper $34.95 • 0-88920-416-0

The twenty-four articles collected here wrestle with the problems of situating Canadian literature in the ongoing debates about culture, identity, and globalization and of applying the slippery term of postcolonialism to Canadian literature.

THE AHMANSON-GETTY FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM FOR 2004–2005

of the
UCLA CENTER FOR 17TH- & 18TH-CENTURY STUDIES

and the
WILLIAM ANDREWS CLARK MEMORIAL LIBRARY

STRUCTURES OF FEELING IN SEVENTEENTH-CENTURY CULTURAL EXPRESSION

The interdisciplinary program, to be directed by Susan McClary, UCLA, will explore transformations in conceptions of the self across a range of arts and disciplines. Themes will include • TEMPORALITIES: the emergence of different and even mutually antagonistic ways of rendering and experiencing time • DIVINE LOVE: images of mystical union that bring the erotic into religious experience and representation • EXPRESSION AND THE LAW: attempts to codify and police new forms or procedures • GENDERS AND SEXUALITIES: phenomena such as theatrical cross-dressing, castrati, suggestions of same-sex eroticism. Fellows will be expected to make a substantive contribution to program seminars.

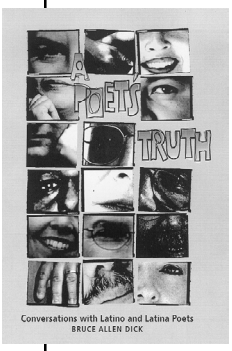

Eligible: Scholars in any field who have received a Ph.D. in the last six years and whose research pertains to the announced theme
Awards: Two consecutive quarters in residence at the Clark Library
Stipend: $18,400 for the two-quarter period
Application deadline: 1 February 2004

what do Frost, Rousseau, and Chanukah have in common?

Abandoned New England
Landscape in the Works of Homer, Frost, Hopper, Wyeth, and Bishop
Pricilla Paton

Abandoned New England focuses on five modern American visual artists and poets who portrayed the stark traditional beauty of the New England landscape. Ultimately, Paton's analysis of the works of these beloved New England artists demonstrates a postmodern yearning to reinvent nature and reimagine Eden.

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME

University of Notre Dame
Ph.D. in Literature

The Ph.D. Program in Literature at the University of Notre Dame is an innovative interdisciplinary program, which focuses on the study of literature from a transnational and intercultural perspective. Combining in one doctoral program the forces of several departments and programs—Classics (Arabic, Greek, Latin, Syriac), East Asian Studies, French and Francophone Studies, German, Iberian and Latin American Studies (Portuguese, Spanish), Irish studies, Italian studies, philosophy, and theology—the Ph.D. Program in Literature brings together outstanding faculty and resources to enable doctoral students to study literature both within traditional disciplines and across disciplinary and national boundaries.

Designed for the intellectually creative student, the Ph.D. in Literature requires both depth and breadth of language study while offering curricular flexibility in a program of study responsive to the individual student's own interests. Taking advantage of Notre Dame's many resources; the Program offers an unprecedented level of intellectual as well as financial support.

For Program, Admissions, and Fellowship information, please visit ww.nd.edu/~litprog/.

Application deadline: 15 January 2004.

David Lyle Jeffrey
Houses of the Interpreter
Reading Scripture, Reading Culture

"…From the purely scholarly point of view Houses of the Interpreter deals confidently and with finesse with disparate phases of rich and variegated history of Christian thought…but Houses of the Interpreter is also refreshed and animated by an authorial faith-perspective shared by great humanists from Augustine through Erasmus and Moore to Toynbee and R.W. Southern."

John V. Fleming
Fairchild Professor of English and Professor of Comparative Literature, Princeton University; ex-President, the Medieval Academy of America

"An astute literary critic, Jeffrey constantly reminds readers of the intersection of scripture and culture…Jeffrey's call for the reconnection of criticism and theory with the scriptural understanding that has been the tradition of the Church carries with it radical implications for the Christian reader…"

aperçus

Relations among historiography, culture and textual representation are presently rich in possibilities. aperçus is a series of books, each taking the form of essays by several contributors on important and related issues, and exploring the connections between these crucial terms. Revisionist in intention, aperçus seeks to open up new possibilities for humanistic knowledge and study, and thus to deepen and extend our understanding of what history, culture, and texts have been and are, as these terms are made to bear on each other by new thinking and writing.

To inquire about aperçus, contact Greg Clingham

In Step-daughters of England Jane Garrity shows how four British women modernists; Dorothy Richardson, Sylvia Townsend Warner, Mary Butts and Virginia Woolf used experimental literary techniques in order to situate themselves as national subjects. Reading literary texts through the lens of material culture, this interdisciplinary book makes a major contribution to the new modernist studies by arguing that women's imaginative work is inseparable from their ambivalent and complicated relation to Britain's imperial history.

By locating both canonical and non-canonical works of female literary modernism within broader cultural discourses, Garrity demonstrates the intersections among nationalism, imperialism, gender and sexuality in the construction of English national culture.
