CRITICAL INQUIRY

Editor W. J. T. Mitchell
Executive Editor Arnold I. Davidson

Founded 28 years ago

In Critical Inquiry new ideas and reconsideration of those traditional in criticism and culture are granted voice. International authors express inspiring and often provocative ideas on literature, art, architecture, film, history, music, philosophy, science, and more. This wide interdisciplinary focus creates surprising juxtapositions and linkages of concepts, offering new grounds for theoretical debate.

Tim Brennan, Michael Hardt, and Antonio Negri grapple over the meaning of empire in the winter 2003 issue. And don't miss Fredric Jameson musing on the end of temporality.

WALLACE STEGNER

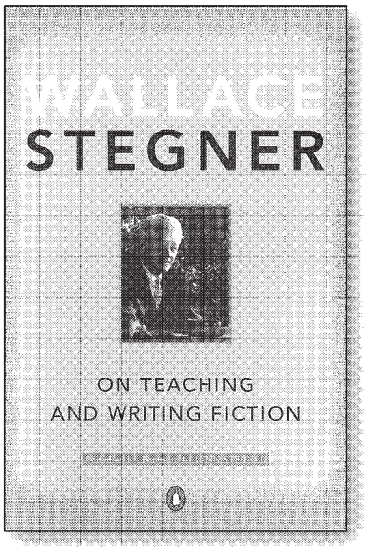

"Graceful, generous, passionate, and prolific—that was the late writer Wallace Stegner, who taught many people what it meant to care deeply about writing and wilderness and honesty." —Barry Lopez

ON TEACHING AND WRITING FICTION

EDITED WITH A FOREWORD BY LYNN STEGNER

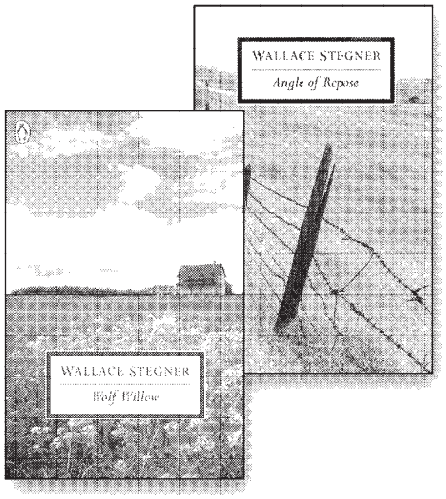

The beloved Pulitzer Prize and National Book Award-winning novelist, historian, and conservationist Wallace Stegner on the subject closest to his heart: the art of fiction—writing it, teaching it, living it.

This unique collection of previously uncollected work addresses every aspect of fiction writing, from the writer's vision to his or her audience; from the use of symbolism to swear words; from the mystery of the creative process to the recognizable truth it seeks finally to reveal. Stegner explores the process of composition as it relates to the writer's evolving character, what demands he makes on himself both as a member of the species and as a citizen of culture, his responsibilities as a serious artist, and the spiritual rigors of the life it describes.

THE BEDFORD GLOSSARY OF CRITICAL AND LITERARY TERMS

Second Edition

Ross Murfin
Southern Methodist University
Supryia M. Ray

December 2002/paper/512 pages

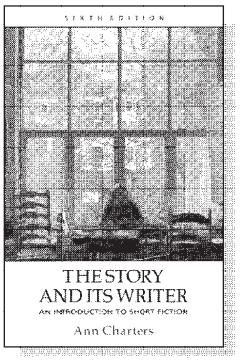

Like its highly-praised and widely-adopted predecessor, the second edition of The Bedford Glossary of Critical and Literary Terms presents definitions of more than 700 literary and critical terms for today's student. The second edition features many additional terms, both traditional and recent, with a greater array of examples, making it an even more useful and informative reference than the first edition.

THE STORY AND ITS WRITER
An Introduction to Short Fiction
Sixth Edition

Ann Charters, University of Connecticut

2003/paper/1800 pages/Instructor's Manual
bedfordstmartins.com/charters

The best-selling anthology of its kind continues to offer an exceptional array of stories and commentaries, showing students how writers and critics of short fiction think, write, and talk about their work and the works of others. Helpful but unobtrusive editorial features provide context and offer guidance for reading, thinking, and writing about short fiction.

"The selection of stories is outstanding. E.M. Forster said that a book is a machine to think with, and that certainly describes The Story and Its Writer. I have used and reviewed a considerable number of anthologies in the courses I teach. Too often the selection of stories is dull and predictable, the headnotes contain erroneous information, and the critical apparatus is unhelpful. On all counts, this anthology is outstanding; it is a strong, effective source for my students."
— Carolyn Foster Segal, Cedar Crest College

250 POEMS
A Portable Anthology

Peter Schakel
and Jack Ridl
both of Hope College

2003/paper/448 pages
bedfordstmartins.com/250poems

This well-chosen and comprehensive collection offers a compact and affordable alternative to larger and more expensive anthologies. Representing the tradition of poetry in English, this anthology features an abundant selection of classic and contemporary poetry with a succinct, practical complement of editorial features.

12 PLAYS
A Portable Anthology

Janet E. Gardner
University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth

2003/paper/704 pages
bedfordstmartins.com/12plays

A dozen plays that instructors want to teach and students like to read are gathered in this portable and economical volume. Arranged from classical times to the present, these works from the Western tradition are complemented by unobtrusive but effective editorial features, including biographical notes, a brief history of drama, and a glossary.

MAKING LITERATURE MATTER

An Anthology for Readers and Writers

JOHN SCHILB
Indiana University

JOHN CLIFFORD
University of North Carolina at Wilmington

2003/paper/1650 pages
Instructor's Manual
bedfordstmartins.com/makinglitmatter

A widely adopted success in its first edition, Making Literature Matter wraps an innovative writing text around a uniquely organized anthology for introductory literature courses that emphasize critical thinking and writing. The writing instruction and opportunities in the second edition are even more extensive than in its groundbreaking predecessor.

- An innovative writing text. Part One helps students build their personal responses to literature into compelling arguments about it by emphasizing how argument provides techniques for finding, clarifying, and developing a position on literary issues.
- A uniquely organized anthology. Part Two is built out of 50 clusters of literature that focus on provocative issues within 5 broad themes — families, education, love, justice, and death. The sharp focus of each cluster stimulates critical comparison and engaged, effective writing.
- New to this edition. Overall, 50 of the 174 stories, poems, plays, and essays are new. Also new to the text is a section on writing comparisons and a thematic focus on "Work." In the anthology, each chapter now opens with provocative quotations and includes a new cluster that explores authors' revisions. Special clusters in each chapter now include author photographs and Web research assignments. A new appendix explains contemporary critical approaches to literature.

"I have been impressed by the difference your textbook makes for students in approaching literature. I enjoyed teaching it and my students liked it as well."
— Sabine A. Klein,
Purdue University

"The editors have done a wonderful job encouraging students to engage with the richness of literature."
— Steven Newman,
University of Nebraska – Omaha

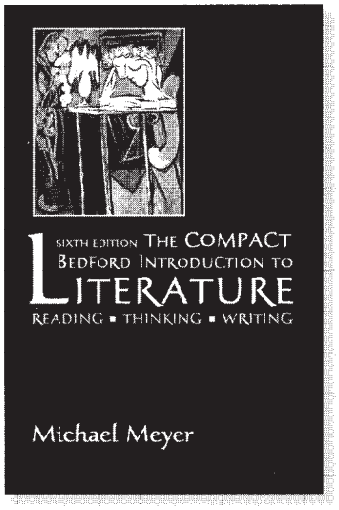

"The book contains excellent literary selections. . . . The sections on writing are excellent, as are the students examples and papers."
— Michael A. Cronin,
Northern Oklahoma College

SIXTH EDITION THE COMPACT BEDFORD INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE

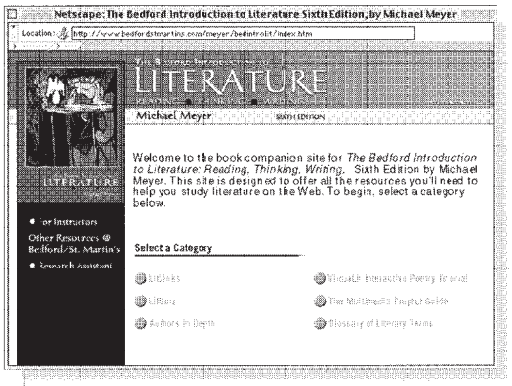

READING ■ THINKING ■ WRITING

Michael Meyer

2003/cloth/2300 pages
Extensive Ancillary Package
bedfordstmartins.com/meyer/bedintrolit

Ideally suited for courses emphasizing writing about literature, The Compact Bedford Introduction to Literature offers all the distinctive features of Michael Meyer's best-selling introduction to literature in a shorter, less expensive paperback format.

Stories, poems, and plays that students will read and remember are at the heart of a text that compels students to think and write critically about literature. The features that have made both editions so successful are all here, including integrated coverage of writing about literature; favorite authors treated in depth; useful tools for critical thinking about literature; fascinating critical and cultural case studies; and an extensive spiral-bound Instructor's Manual. The sixth edition gives students exciting new readings, more tools for thinking critically about literature, and better coverage of writing about literature — plus a fully integrated companion Web site. No other compact introduction to literature offers such a range of resources.

MY SOUL HAS GROWN DEEP

Classics of Early African American Literature

This is an unprecedented and thorough anthology of early black American literature. Edited by Rhodes scholar and professor John Edgar Wideman, My Soul Has Grown Deep is the first truly representative sampling of literature by African-American writers in the early centuries of American history.

"Narrative, poetry, and essay are all well-represented in this valuable compendium of early African-American literature."—William L. Andrews, editor of Classic Fiction of the Harlem Renaissance and co-editor of The Norton Anthology of African-American Literature

Media and technology have collided and readers—and their literature—have moved outside the proverbial box. In response, the Doubleday division of Random House introduces a new Graphic Novel Series—complex works of fiction that just happen to be told in panels and dialog balloons. This new series debuts this past Fall with three books: Shutterbug Follies, Narcissa, and In the Drink. Boldly illustrated, all three books in the Doubleday Graphic Novel Series are perfect examples of how to look at books differently.

Dante Alighieri

PURGATORIO

Translated by Robert Hollander and Jean Hollander

Coming in February, 2003, the second installation of Alighieri's theological poem is considered the most accurate translation to date. Princeton professor and renowned Dante scholar Robert Hollander and his wife, poet Jean Hollander, have faithfully adhered to the original Italian text of Purgatorio, incorporating all of Dante's nuances. As with The Inferno, the Hollanders' translation published in December 2000, Purgatorio is a product of four decades' worth of scholarship, yet is written so that it is easily accessible to all readers. Featuring the original Italian text side by side with the English translation, this work is indispensable for students studying the Italian classics. Stop by our booth for a complimentary advance reading copy (quantities are limited!)

MASTERS OF TWO ARTS
Re-creation of European Literatures in Italian Cinema

Carlo Testa

Carlo Testa demonstrates that while pairings of famed directors and writers are commonplace in modern Italian cinema, the study of the interrelation between Italian cinema and European literature has been almost completely neglected in film scholarship. Looking at combinations such as Pasolini and Sade, Rossellini and Stendhal, Fellini and Kafka, and Visconti and Mann, Testa uses theoretical as well as historical methods, showing how the respective text undergoes not 'adaptation' but full 're-creation' (as defined by Èizenshtein) in a different art form and, even more significantly, in a new cultural context.

THE CENTURY OF WOMEN
Representations of Women in Eighteenth-Century Italian Public Discourse

Rebecca Messbarger

Structured as an extended disputation, this book tells the tale of five paradigmatic and ideologically divergent 18th-century Italian texts by male and female authors whose leitmotif is woman.

224 pp • November 2002
Cloth 080203652X $45.00

IN THE SHADOW OF THE MAMMOTH
Italo Svevo and the Emergence of Modernism

Giuliana Minghelli

Working at the intersection of post-structuralism, psychoanalysis, and gender and postcolonial theories, Minghelli performs a series of close readings of Svevo's works, exploring the construction of self as a constant contamination with the world and the other.

Cloth 0802037291 $24.95

HERMES' LYRE
Italian Poetic Self-Commentary from Dante to Tommaso Campanella

Sherry Roush

In this insightful and original work, Roush investigates poets' motivations for writing glosses, arguing that self-commentary differs fundamentally from standard commentary in presenting an intriguing ulterior poetic dimension and that it adds to the inherent tension of the text.

336 pp • November 2002
Cloth 0802037127 $50.00

BENEDETTO CROCE AND ITALIAN FASCISM

Fabio Fernando Rizi

Drawing on resources rarely used before in Croce studies, including police documents, archival materials, and the private edition of Croce's diaries, Rizi reconsiders Croce's contribution to the struggle against fascism, and demonstrates that Croce's anti-fascist resistance was not passive, as most critics have argued, but rather active in both the political and cultural arenas.

NARRATOLOGY AND TEXT
Subjectivity and Identity in New France and Québécois Literature

Paul Perron

A narratological and semiotic analysis of canonical non-fictional and fictional texts from New France and Quebec, and illustrates how citizens of French Catholic origins living in Canada have constructed their identity by defining the self as part of a closed community founded in race, language, and religion, and as radically opposed to the other, constituted as an omnipresent heterogeneous threat to the homogenous group.

SENSING CORPOREALLY
Toward a Posthuman Understanding

Floyd Merrell

Drawing on such diverse sources as Charles Peirce, Oliver Sacks, Jorge Luis Borge, Hilary Putnam, Richard Rorty, neurologist Antonio Damasio, and biologist Jakob von Uexküll, Merrell argues that human sensation and cognition should be thought of in terms of continually changing signs that can be accounted for in terms of topological forms. 'Merrell's book has a great deal to offer for the articulation of the new and much needed paradigm [of understanding]' – Nathan Houser, Indiana University-Purdue University, Indianapolis

IN LOVE WITH A HANDSOME SAILOR
The Emergence of Gay Identity and the Novels of Pierre Loti

Richard M. Berrong

Writing at first anonymously and later under the pen name Pierre Loti, French author Julien Viaud (1850-1923) produced a series of fictions that sympathetically portrayed male same-sex desire and its accompanying societal conflicts. Berrong presents a gay reading of the works of Viaud, tracing his development of a distinct homosexual identity and the strategies that he employed to discuss it in a way that would not be obvious to the general public. In so doing, Berrong asserts that Viaud's development of a homosexual identity undermined and realigned dominant constructions of masculinity, presented the need for gay community, and elaborated the role of literature for gay men.

WILDE WRITINGS
Contextual Conditions

Edited by Joseph Bristow

Thirteen original essays that examine Wilde's achievements as an aesthete, critic, dramatist, novelist, and poet, this provocative and ground-breaking collection ushers the field of Oscar Wilde studies into the 21st century. The contributors focus on three neglected areas of Wilde criticism – textual editing, the production and dissemination of Wilde's dramas, and the situating of Wilde's writings in cultural, political and social contexts – and cast fresh light on topics that include Wilde's early dramatic criticism, his engagement with socialist thought, his groundbreaking editorship of The Woman's World, and the relation of his plays to late-Victorian feminism and homosexual blackmail.

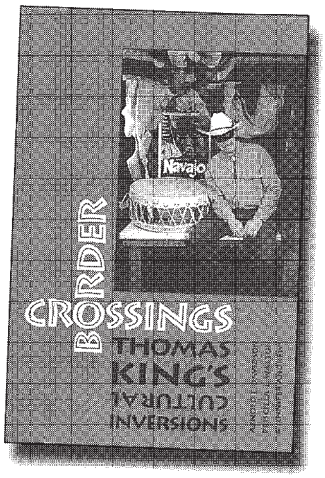

Published in association with the UCLA Center for Seventeenth- and Eighteenth-Century Studies and the William Andrews Clark Memorial Library.

BORDER CROSSINGS
Thomas King's Cultural Inversions

Arnold E. Davidson, Priscilla L. Walton, and Jennifer Andrews

Novelist, photographer, and creator of the popular radio serial Dead Dog Café, Thomas King is the first Native writer to generate widespread interest in both Canada and the United States. The authors argue that, by situating concepts of cross-cultural dynamics within a comic framework, King avoids the polemics that often surface in cultural critiques.

CONSTANCE LINDSAY SKINNER
Writing on the Frontier

Jean Barman

Barman examines the life of early 20th century writer Constance Lindsay Skinner, showing that the relationship with her frontier heritage that fuelled her popularity and prolific output in the United States also contributed to leaving her a virtual unknown in her native Canada.

CAROL SHIELDS, NARRATIVE HUNGER, AND THE POSSIBILITIES OF FICTION

Edited by Edward Eden and Dee Goertz

Examining the complexity and beauty of Shields' work and her contribution to the genre of the novel, these essays focus on Shields' use of popular romance, autobiography, and postmodernism, and contend that Shields' metafictional experiments question our ability to know one another, or even ourselves. As the first thorough examination of the Pulitzer Prize-winning author, this collection establishes the groundwork for future studies of Shields' oeuvre.

This list represents only a portion of the Victorian notables with whom Thomas and Jane Carlyle corresponded. Situated at the center of the thriving literary and political society of the 19th century, the Carlyles gathered around them a circle of radicals, feminists, revolutionaries, foreign exiles, and major and minor writers from across Europe and the United States.

The Collected Letters of Thomas and Jane Welsh Carlyle is regarded as one of the finest and most comprehensive literary archives of the nineteenth century.

PROOFTEXTS: A JOURNAL OF JEWISH LITERARY HISTORY

Alan Mintz and David G. Roskies, Editors

Prooftexts was founded in 1980 to create a forum for the growing field of Jewish literary studies. Integral to the journal's mission was an attempt to bring together the study of modern Jewish literatures (in Hebrew, Yiddish, and European languages) with the literary study of the Jewish classical tradition as a whole. Literary criticism and theory were proposed as a disciplinary lens through which all of Jewish writing–including the Bible and rabbinic and medieval literature–could productively be viewed. Published three times a year.

Subscriptions:
Individuals $32.00
Institution $75.00

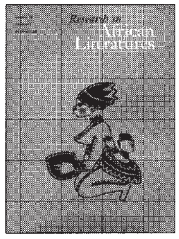

JOURNAL OF MODERN LITERATURE

Morton P. Levitt, Editor

On 'The Last Great Cause'

The Wound and the Dream

Sixty Years of American Poems about the Spanish Civil War

Edited by CARY NELSON

"A breathtaking collection of U.S. poetry responding to the Spanish Civil War that will surely attract international attention. Not only does Nelson bring forgotten voices back into our consciousness, but he also reaches out and demonstrates the impact on writers not normally associated with 'the last great cause.'"
— Alan Wald, author of Exiles from a Future Time: The Forging of the Mid-Twentieth-Century Literary Left

Represents the sixty-year tradition of American poetic responses to the Spanish Civil War and provides an overview of progressive American poetry as a whole. Four of the featured poets—Alvah Bessie, William Lindsay Gresham, James Neugass, and Edwin Rolfe—were members of the International Brigade. Their poetry appears alongside lesser-known works by some of the greatest American poets of the twentieth century, including Wallace Stevens, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Randall Jarrell, Langston Hughes, and Philip Levine. Nelson's introduction puts the poems in their international context, and provides a sturdy framework for interpreting the Spanish Civil War as a historical conjecture that has dramatically altered the ways we read and write poetry.

Remembering Spain

Hemingway's Civil War Eulogy and the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade

Edited by CARY NELSON

With essays by Milton Wolff and Cary Nelson

Accompanied by a cassette read by Ernest Hemingway, "On the American Dead in Spain"

One of only two known recordings of Ernest Hemingway's voice, this tape features the famed author reading and commenting on his essay, "On the American Dead in Spain." The tape was made in 1947 in Havana to be played at a New York dinner observing the tenth anniversary of the Lincoln Battalion's entry into the Spanish Civil War.

Booklet and Casette Tape, $15.95

Aura of the Cause

A Photo Album for North American Volunteers in the Spanish Civil War

CARY NELSON

"This book really does recall an old photo album. . . . The front matter offers a useful historical overview, complete with timeline, as well as an essay about the provenance of the images."

THE MEDIEVAL CRAFT OF MEMORY

An Anthology of Texts and Pictures

Edited by Mary Carruthers and Jan M. Ziolkowski

In antiquity and the Middle Ages, memory was a craft, and certain actions and tools were thought to be necessary for its creation and recollection. In The Medieval Craft of Memory Mary Carruthers and Jan Ziolkowski bring together the texts and visual images from the twelfth through the fifteenth centuries that are central to an understanding of memory and memory technique.

Material Texts

FAIRY GODFATHER

Straparola, Venice, and the Fairy Tale Tradition

Ruth B. Bottigheimer

Ruth Bottigheimer develops a case for ascribing the true origins of the fairy tale to Zoan Francesco Straparola, a sixteenth-century Venetian.

176 pages • 6 illus. • Cloth $36.50

SHAKESPEARE'S PERFUME

Sodomy and Sublimity in the Sonnets, Wilde, Freud, and Lacan

Richard Halpern

Drawing on theology, alchemy, psychoanalysis, philosophy, and literary criticism, Shakespeare's Perfume explores how the history of aesthetics and the history of sexuality are fundamentally connected.

EDGING INTO THE FUTURE

Science Fiction and Contemporary Cultural Transformation

Edited by Veronica Hollinger and Joan Gordon

Thirteen noted scholars and writers provide an overview of the state of contemporary science fiction and emphasize the diversity of ways in which science fiction comments upon contemporary cultural, political, and technological transformations.

288 pages • Cloth $59.95 • Paper $22.50

SHAKESPEARE'S DOMESTIC ECONOMIES

Gender and Property in Early Modern England

Natasha Korda

A significant contribution to Shakespeare criticism that integrates feminism, materialist criticism, and legal history to offer an original look at how women's management of household goods became an important site of female struggle and resistance to England's patrilineal property regime.

288 pages • 11 illus. • Cloth $49.95

RED MATTERS

Native American Studies

Arnold Krupat

A work marked by theoretical sophistication, wide learning, and social passion, Red Matters is a major contribution to the imperative effort of understanding the indigenous presence on the American continents.

THE MIDDLE AGES SERIES

COURTLY LOVE UNDRESSED

READING THROUGH CLOTHES IN MEDIEVAL FRENCH CULTURE

E. Jane Burns

"Courtly Love Undressed is unique in its extended interrogation of the ways rich clothing and luxury possessions of courtly characters may be seen to subvert and rewrite the very hierarchies and distinctions they would seem to promote. The book offers something entirely new to medieval cultural and literary studies: a materialist analysis of the fantasy of courtly love." —Peggy McCracken, University of Michigan

336 PAGES • CLOTH $49.95

ALLITERATIVE REVIVALS

Christine Chism

Christine Chism argues that alliterative poems animate British history by reviving and acknowledging potentially threatening figures from the medieval past.

FELLINI LEXICON
Sam Rohdie

Fellini Lexicon accompanies Fellini's films, rather than seeking to possess them, taking pleasure in their incongruities, exaggerations, absurdities, and surprises.
$70.00 cloth, $19.95 paper

ALEXANDER DOVZHENKO
A Life in Soviet Film
George O. Liber

Based on archival research and interviews, Liber provides the first definitive account in any language of this important director's personal and professional life.
$58.00 cloth

TELEVISION STUDIES
Toby Miller, Editor

This text is the first to outline the theories and approaches to the study of the medium of television in a systematic form. Written by leading international figures it provides an accessible introduction to the subject's central debates, issues, and concerns.
$70.00 cloth, $24.95 paper

THE NEW MEDIA BOOK
Dan Harries, Editor

The New Media Book features twenty accessibly written, newly commissioned, provocative essays designed to be used in a range of courses, providing a critical framework for understanding the field of moving image studies.
$70.00 cloth, $24.95 paper

GENRE AND CONTEMPORARY HOLLYWOOD
Steve Neale, Editor

This wide-ranging text is one of the first to look in detail at some of the principal genres, cycles, and trends in Hollywood's output during the last two decades.
$70.00 cloth, $24.95 paper

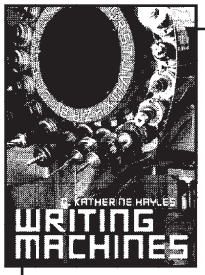

CINEMA OF INTERRUPTIONS
Action Genres in Contemporary Indian Cinema
Lalitha Gopalan

The book proposes an ambitious new framework for understanding the distinctiveness of Indian cinema within a global context. With its sudden explosions into song-and-dance sequences, half-time intermissions, and heavy traces of censorship, Indian cinema can be seen as a "cinema of interruptions."

Two went crazy. One was a bohemian. The other became a cynical old man. American authors—gotta love 'em.

Fitzgerald, Hemingway, and the Twenties

RONALD BERMAN

A noted scholar offers fresh ways of looking at two legendary American authors by considering their major works in the context of 1920s popular and intellectual culture and philosophy.

"This forceful, riveting work is a major addition to the existing body of criticism on these authors and an essential acquisition for every library. Highly recommended."

Mark Twain, Travel Books, and Tourism

The Tide of a Great Popular Movement

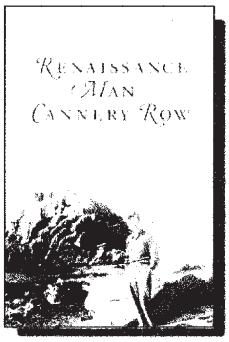

JEFFREY ALAN MELTON

This illuminating study reevaluates an often overlooked aspect of Mark Twain's writing—his travel narratives—and demonstrates their centrality to his identity and thinking.

"This assimilative overview, Melton's own felicitous prose style, and his tracing of Mark Twain's evolution from 'Innocent' to 'Nihilist' make his book provocative and compelling."

Renaissance Man of Cannery Row

The Life and Letters of Edward F. Ricketts

EDWARD F. RICKETTS
EDITED AND WITH AN INTRODUCTION BY KATHARINE A. RODGER

This portrait of one of John Steinbeck's closest friends illuminates the life and work of a figure central to the development of scientific and literary thought in the 20th century. Marine biologist Edward F. Ricketts is perhaps best known as the inspiration for John Steinbeck's most empathic literary characters, and his Monterey Bay laboratory was a haven of intellectual discourse and bohemian culture in the 1930s and 1940s.

"The letters do not disappoint. They are especially rich in the type of free-ranging discourse on art, literature, and music that attracted Ricketts's coterie, as well as in his special qualities as a friend."

Speaking Grief in English Literary Culture

Shakespeare to Milton

edited by Margo Swiss & David A. Kent

Expressing grief has been subject to varying degrees of religious and social constraint in different eras and in different cultures and traditions. This collection of 12 essays explores the question of grief expression in a wide variety of writers and genres in the period from Shakespeare to Milton. Contributors include Robert C. Evans, Louis L. Martz, P. G. Stanwood, Marjory E. Lange, John T. Shawcross and Paul Parrish, among others.

$60.00 Hardcover edition / ISBN 0-8207-0330-3 / 354 pages

Shifting Contexts

Reinterpreting Samson Agonistes

Joseph Wittreich

Samson Agonistes is the climax and completion of Milton's poetic vision. As such, it has become the work at which the critical controversies in Milton studies coverge and from which new critical perspectives on Milton's poems emerge. This book contends that there are several Samsons in the dramatic poem and multiple contexts and various traditions that bring to light Milton's unique rendition of a kaleidoscope protagonist. To achieve its purposes, this book forges and deploys a new critical vocabulary of paramount importance — not only to Miltonists but to critical theorists generally.

The Pedagogy and Influence of Milton's Latin Curriculum

Richard J. DuRocher

"In this important volume, DuRocher examines Milton's Latin curriculum, as detailed in Of Education (1644) and as commented on by Milton's nephews, in order to demonstrate the profound influence the Roman authors had on Milton's thought and works.... DuRocher provides clear references to and explanations and translations of the Latin authors Milton studied so that even those not familiar with classical Latin will find this work accessible." — Choice

The Satanic Epic

Neil Forsyth

The Satan of Paradise Lost has fascinated generations of readers. This book attempts to explain how and why Milton's Satan is so seductive.

By rooting his Satanic reading of Paradise Lost in Biblical and other sources, Neil Forsyth retrieves not only an attractive and heroic Satan but a Milton whose heretical energies are embodied in a Satanic character with a life of his own.

Culture, 1922

The Emergence of a Concept

Marc Manganaro

Culture, 1922 traces the intellectual and institutional deployment of the culture concept in England and America in the first half of the twentieth century. With primary attention to how models of culture are created, elaborated upon, transformed, resisted, and ignored, Marc Manganaro works across disciplinary lines to embrace literary, literary critical, and anthropological writing.

The Notebooks of Samuel Taylor Coleridge

Volume 5: 1827–1834

Edited by Kathleen Coburn and Anthony John Harding

This final volume covers the material Coleridge wrote in his notebooks between January 1827 and his death in 1834. Twenty-eight notebooks are published here in their entirety for the first time. Following previous practice for the edition, notes appear in a companion volume.

The Collected Works of Samuel Taylor Coleridge

Volume 15: Opus Maximum

Edited by Thomas McFarland

The Opus Maximum gathers the last major body of unpublished prose writings by Samuel Taylor Coleridge. These writings represent all that exists of what Coleridge considered to be "the principal Labour" and "the great Object" of his life.

With this volume, The Collected Works of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, begun forty years ago under the sponsorship of the Bollingen Foundation and the editorship of the late Kathleen Coburn, is now complete.

A MAJOR NEW TEXTBOOK

The New Anthology of American Poetry

Volume I: Traditions and Revolutions, Beginnings to 1900

EDITED BY STEVEN GOULD AXELROD, CAMILLE ROMAN, AND THOMAS TRAVISANO

{ "This work establishes a new benchmark for poetry anthologies."
—Emory Elliott, editor, The Columbia Literary History of the United States }

THE ANTHOLOGY:

- Demonstrates how a succession of canons of American poetry have evolved.
- Gives more attention to women poets and to artists from African American, Asian American, Latino, and Native American cultures than in any previous anthology.
- Offers concise introductions to periods and styles, brief bibliographies of key primary and secondary texts, and critical selections on the art of poetry by the poets themselves.

VOLUME I
Traditions and Revolutions, Beginnings to 1900

Designed to become the standard text for college courses in American Poetry, Volume One begins with a generous selection of Native American materials, then spans the years from the establishment of the American colonies to a world on the brink of World War I and the modern era.

Includes well-recognized names:
Anne Bradstreet
Edward Taylor
Phillis Wheatley
Edgar Allan Poe
Herman Melville
Walt Whitman
Emily Dickinson
Stephen Crane

And less frequently anthologized poets:
Sarah Helen Whitman
Elizabeth Oakes-Smith
Frances Harper
Rose Terry Cooke
Helen Hunt Jackson
Adah Menken
Sarah Piatt
Owl Woman (Juana Manwell)
Sadakichi Hartmann
James Weldon Johnson
Paul Laurence Dunbar

Walter J. Ong, SJ: Ahead of His Times!

Hailed by Northrop Frye as a seminal thinker, Walter J. Ong, SJ (born 30 November 1912) has also been described by Jacob Neusner as the "leading philosopher of culture of our century, a mighty figure in the inquiry into the human condition in the social order." Ong is most widely known for his book Orality and Literacy: The Technologizing of the Word, which is now available in twelve languages. It grows not only out of his seminal work in cultural and religious history in The Presence of the Word, but also out of his earlier massively researched work on Peter Ramus (1515-1572) and Ramism. Considered together with his seminal books, the essays in the four volumes of Faith and Contexts help show why Ong is a mighty figure in cultural studies and our leading philosopher of culture today.

NEW!

An Ong Reader: Challenges for Further Inquiry

A past president of the Modern Language Association of America and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Walter J. Ong, SJ (born 30 November 1912) has been dubbed a knight by the French government ("Chevalier dans l'Ordre des Palmes Académiques") for his studies of the sixteenth-century French logician and educational reformer Peter Ramus and his milieu. With Charles J. Ermatinger, Ong has translated Milton's "Logic." Ong also supplied a magnificent introduction to it. Over the years he has been selected to deliver the Terry Lectures at Yale University, the Messenger Lectures at Cornell University, and the Alexander Lectures at the University of Toronto, with his lectures subsequently being published in book form by the respective university press. In addition, Ong was selected to be a Lincoln Lecturer, as part of the commemoration of the Fulbright Act.

THE ARDEN SHAKESPEARE

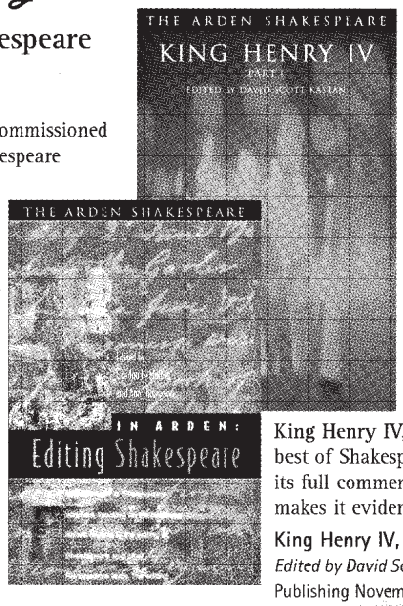

Think Shakespeare? Read Arden!

New for 2002

In Arden: Editing Shakespeare

Essays in Gordon McMullan and Ann Thompson

A collection of new and specially commissioned essaysby an eminent team of Shakespeare scholars, focusing on the particular issues relating to the editing of Shakespeare and other Renaissance texts. The editing of dramatic and other literary texts has always been an important aspect of literary studies. In recent years, editing and the theoretical frameworks that underlie editing practises have become a lively and controversial focus of debate, sparked both by philosophical discussion on the 'death of the author' and by technological challenges presented by the possibilities of electronic texts.

In Arden: Editing Shakespeare

Essays by Gordon McMullan and Ann Thompson, both from King's College London, UK

Publishing: December 2002 • 256 pp • Pb: 1-904271-31-6

King Henry IV, Part I

Edited by David Scott Kastan

David Scott Kastan lucidly explores the remarkable richness and the ambitious design of King Henry IV, Part I and shows how these complicate any easy sense of what kind of play it is. Conventionally regarded as a history play, much of it is in fact conspicuously invented fiction and Kastan argues that the non-historical, comic plot does not simply parody the historical action but by its existence raises questions about the very nature of history.

King Henry IV, Part I is regarded by many as the very best of Shakespeare's histories and this new edition, with its full commentary and lively and learned introduction, makes it evident why this is.

Pearson Custom Publishing

The Pearson Custom Library of American Literature

You choose the content, you choose the cover and we will create a book customized for your American Literature course.

A database of more than 1700 selections, The Pearson Custom Library of American Literature gives you the option to create a customized book specifically tailored to your own American Literature course.

The editorial team, John Bryant, Jacquelyn Y. McLendon, Cristanne Miller, Robin G. Schulze, and David Shields, brings an innovative approach to American Literature. They have created a database containing a broad range of authors of classic and contemporary pieces of literature. Selections include complete essays, letters, plays, poems, short stories and the standard excerpts from major works.

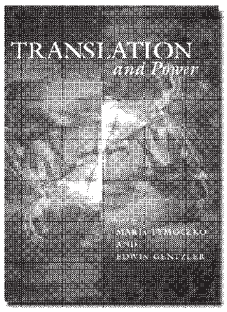

You also have the option to add your own material including syllabi, course materials, campus-specific library guides, students' work, favorite readings, and just about anything else you can think of - up to 20% of the final anthology's length. Pearson Custom Publishing will obtain all necessary copyright clearances.

For more information, to view the selections, or to compile your own book, go to the Pearson Custom Library of American Literature website site at www.pearsoncustom.com/database/americanlit.html.

1. To publish, give to the world a literary work, indispensably and imperfectly . . .

Research and training in editorial methods and in creating editions constitute an important academic discipline: the textually sound, contextually annotated edition is central to the many aspects of intellectual life. Current technologies for storing and disseminating information, new legal considerations concerning copyright and intellectual property, and recent theorizing about texts, authorship, and publishing now play a substantial role in editing. The Editorial Institute at Boston University offers advanced degrees (M.A. and Ph.D.) in Editorial Studies. With the support of an Advisory Committee drawn from many disciplines at the University (art history, classics, English, history, law, modern foreign languages, philosophy, political science, and theology), the Institute is co-directed by Archie Burnett, Geoffrey Hill, and Christopher Ricks.

The Writings of James Fenimore Cooper (www.wjfc.org) and AMS Press are pleased to announce the publication of a scholarly edition of Cooper's first major novel, The Spy (1821), edited by James P. Elliott, Lance Schachterle and Jeffrey Walker.

AMS Press is pleased further to announce its intention to publish new titles in "The Writings of James Fenimore Cooper" as they become available.

Afloat and Ashore (2 volumes) is planned for 2003, with The Bravo and Water-Witch under way.

The Writings of James Fenimore Cooper (Lance Schachterle, Editor-in-Chief) and AMS Press are also pleased to invite all scholars interested in Cooper to a reception at the December MLA. We are especially eager to hear from Cooper scholars interested in textual projects.

If you would like to attend this reception or discuss the edition, please e-mail us at wjfc@wpi.edu.

DOUBLE DIALECTICS

Between Universalism and Relativism in Enlightenment and Postmodern Thought

By Claudia Moscovici

"In a series of lucid and persuasive readings of major texts in the fields of philosophy, literature, and cultural criticism, Double Dialectics proposes an insightful way of moving beyond the impasse in which much thinking about universalism and relativism remains locked. Moscovici brings Enlightenment epistemology and ethics into productive dialogue with postmodernism and postcolonialism, revealing a new philosophical attitude towards the Enlightenment heritage, as well as the latter's compelling pertinence for ethical thought in a multicultural postmodernity."

—Daniel Brewer, University of Minnesota

"Claudia Moscovici deepens the work begun in her two previous books reappraising the tenets of postmodern thought in light of the founding documents of our tradition. Reading Kant, D'Alembert, Diderot and Chateaubriand alongside Lyotard, Fanon and Said, she charts a path through entanglements that often constrict our collective—and above all, for Moscovici, our civic life. The approach is original and the writing clear."

what do Tarzan, Borges, and Modernism have in common?

Artificial Africas
Colonial Images in the Times of Globalization
Ruth Mayer

"Ruth Mayer's erudite and insightful exploration of American culture's imaginings about Africa makes an important contribution to transnational cultural criticism . . . Mayer shows that Africa looms large in the American imaginary . . . [her] achievement requires us to rethink the role of stereotypes in our collective cultural life, to ask how and why a relatively small number of images come to take on such generative power." —George Lipsitz, author of American Studies in a Moment of Danger

400 pp. 16 illus. Paper, $24.95 • Reencounters with Colonialism Series

Atlantic Poets
Fernando Pessoa's Turn in Anglo-American Modernism
Irene Ramalho Santos
Foreword by Harold Bloom

"Readers of Ramalho Santos' Atlantic Poetry will come away with a heightened sense of at least four great poets: Walt Whitman, Fernando Pessoa, Álvaro de Campos, and Hart Crane. Although there are other authentic achievements in [her] book, her vision of Atlantic poetry matters most . . . for its sublime linkage of the four great Atlantic poets."

Books and Bombs in Buenos Aires
Borges, Gerchunoff, and Argentine Jewish Writing
Edna Aizenberg

"Aizenberg has written a study that manifests insightful specialization on Borgesian and Argentine Jewish writing in addition to sophisticated breadth by intelligently placing this material, with originality and conviction, in the context of World Literature. Persuasive and compelling, it challenges existing studies, introduces new material, and calls attention to material that has been overlooked."
—Nelson Vieira, Professor of Brazilian Studies and Fellow in Judaic Studies, Brown University

Recovering the New
Transatlantic Roots of Modernism
Edward S. Cutler

In an innovative look at the development of nineteenth-century modernism, Cutler argues that modernity is best understood as a translantic urban phenomenon and that aesthetic practices which consolidate under modernism in the early twentieth century are themselves historically implicated in the very mass culture against which they declared "autonomy."

Mervyn Nicholson, Thirteen Ways of Looking at Images: The Logic of Visualization in Literature and Society. 238 pages. Hardcover. $29.95. ISBN: 0-9631478-5-4.

What is a mental image? Thirteen Ways surveys the various answers to this question, and, starting with Freud's Interpretation of Dreams, poses a further and more important question: is there a logic peculiar to visualization—a logic distinct from abstract reasoning but just as powerful? Thirteen Ways explores a broad range of literary texts considered as an expression and illustration of that logic. The results are surprising. Literature emerges as a complex of visualizations, not an aggregate of separate texts. In tracing the logic of visualization, Thirteen Ways also shows how society—and not just individuals—thinks in images, and how this "imagethinking" informs social constructs, not just literary texts.

FRESH PRAISE FOR MERVYN NICHOLSON'S MALE ENVY:

- "A landmark achievement in an important area."—Bill McKenzie, Amazon.com.
- "A provocative and psychologically penetrating study that ranges widely in intellectual history, literature and culture."—Tilottama Rajan.
- "A compelling piece of work, bristling with intelligence and wit. A must read for its illumination of literary treatments of the dark side of the human psyche."—Joseph Adamson.
- "Hard hitting and grand, and also, it needs saying, right."
—Donald Wesling

THE AHMANSON-GETTY FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM FOR 2003–2004

of the UCLA CENTER FOR 17TH- & 18TH-CENTURY STUDIES and the WILLIAM ANDREWS CLARK MEMORIAL LIBRARY

THE AGE OF PROJECTS

Changing and Improving the Arts, Literature, and Life during the Long Eighteenth Century, 1660–1820

The program, to be directed by Maximillian E. Novak, UCLA, will examine the Restoration and the eighteenth century as an "age of projects," conceiving of "projects" both literally and as a metaphor for a certain type of inventive and creative thinking during the period. Attention will be paid to the idea of the "new" and to conceptions of time past, present, and future in a broad sense. The series intends to be interdisciplinary, with emphasis placed on both literary and historical perspectives. Participating fellows will be expected to make a substantive contribution to program seminars.

Eligible: Scholars in any field who have received a Ph.D. in the last six years and whose research pertains to the announced theme
Awards: Two consecutive quarters in residence at the Clark Library
Stipend: $18,400 for the two-quarter period
Application deadline: 1 February 2003

Literature in English:

A Guide for Librarians in the Digital Age

Betty H. Day and William A. Wortman, Editors

Fifteen humanities specialists provide an overview of the evolving nature of academic libraries and literary research. The essays cover such topics as the nature, management, and assessment of literature collections; the significance of primary records; electronic text collections; scholarly editing; library instruction; and fruitful partnerships between librarians and faculty.

The publication of this book has been sponsored by the Literatures in English Section (LES) of the Association of College and Research Libraries. LES is a group made up of librarians, faculty, and others responsible for library collections and services for English.
