NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

John Davies was until his retirement a Principal Lecturer in History and Director of the M.A. in Contemporary History at Liverpool Hope University. He is currently chairman of the North West Catholic History Society (14, Honiton Road, Aigburth, Liverpool, L17 6BB).

Liesbeth Corens is an MPhil student at the University of Cambridge, who has a particular interest in Early Modern confessional identities in a cross-border perspective. She completed an MA thesis at the University of Louvain on the religious outlook of English Protestant travellers, and is currently researching the community and identity formation among lay English Catholics in the Southern Netherlands in the second half on the seventeenth-century (Jesus College, Cambridge, CB5 8BL).

Peter Nockles is a librarian in the Printed Books Department of John Rylands University Library, University of Manchester and a curator of its Methodist Church Archives and Research Centre. He is a Research Fellow of the University of Manchester and Visiting Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. He is the author of The Oxford Movement in Context: Anglican High Churchmanship 1760–1857 (1994; paperback, 1997) and is currently co-editing a volume of essays entitled Reinventing the Reformation in the Age of Invention and also The Oxford Movement 175th Anniversary Conference Papers. He is editor of the projected OUP Handbook of the Oxford Movement (46, Viceroy Court, Wilmslow Road, Manchester, M20 2RH).

Rev. Peter Milward, S.J. is Emeritus professor of English Literature in the University of Sophia, Tokyo and founder and Director of the Renaissance Institute of Sophia. He has written and published extensively on Shakespearian drama. His major publications include: Shakespeare's Religious Background (1973), Religious Controversies of the Elizabethan Age (1977), Religious Controversies of the Jacobean Age (1978) and Shakespeare the Papist (2005), in addition to several books on Gerard Manley Hopkins (SJ House, 7-1 Kiochi, Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo, Japan 102-8571).

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0034193200013054 Published online by Cambridge University Press