"An absorbing cultural study."*

A Culture of Corruption

Everyday Deception and Popular Discontent in Nigeria

DANIEL JORDAN SMITH

"By all measurements Nigeria, richly endowed with natural and human resources and the United States' fifth largest source of imported oil, should be one of the most prosperous of the world's developing countries. Instead it is one of the poorest. No one has done a better job than Daniel Jordan Smith of showing how and why the cancer of corruption has hobbled the giant of Africa. A Culture of Corruption is an absorbing cultural study by an anthropologist who deeply cares about the society into which he has married."
*—Walter Carrington,
former U.S. Ambassador to Nigeria

"Compelling, moving, and yet always rigorous."

In the Moment of Greatest Calamity

Terrorism, Grief, and a Victim's Quest for Justice

SUSAN F. HIRSCH

"Susan Hirsch has written a marvelous book that is compelling, moving, and yet always rigorous. In the Moment of Greatest Calamity is a rare combination of autobiography and first-rate ethnography. Hirsch skillfully draws her readers close to her pain and yet manages to provide a new way of seeing the possibilities and problems of taking on the identity of the victim. Her book tells a powerful story of the limits of law in the face of unimaginable personal tragedy. I know of nothing quite like it."

Victory in War
Foundations of Modern Military Policy
William C. Martel
This book explores historical definitions explaining how victory has evolved and been implemented in warfare. It also develops the intellectual foundations of a modern pre-theory of victory, and discusses the military instruments necessary — using case studies that include U.S. military intervention in Panama, Libya, Persian Gulf War, Bosnia/Kosovo, Afghanistan, and Iraq.
