The Mouton Interactive Introduction to Historical Linguistics of German offers an extensive overview of the language-historical development of the German language from its origins to the German spoken today and describes how the phonology, morphology, syntax, and vocabulary of German have changed.

Newly developed visualizations and numerous audio samples make this Introduction an indispensable tool for teachers and students of the German language:

- Depth of understanding is facilitated through dynamic visualizations, well-structured schemata and selected maps;
- Old, Middle, and Early New High German source texts become living contemporary documents through recordings spoken by practiced speakers;
- Diverse functions make it possible for the user to tailor the application of the program to meet his or her individual needs;
- Extensive text and graphic material provided for all three language periods;
- Detailed treatment of the area of syntax and discussion of current theories on language change.

The Introduction is aimed at students of linguistics and the German language. It is an effective autodidactic tool and a useful aid in preparation for exams in the field of historical linguistics. The program is also suitable for linguists who would like to learn more about language change processes in German. Teachers and instructors can use the program to enhance their classroom presentations. The application is in German and English.

Readings for College Writers
Ninth Edition
Paul Eschholz, Alfred Rosa, Virginia Clark
all of University of Vermont

The original language reader for composition courses has been thoroughly revised to reflect today's students, today's course, and today's language issues. The ninth edition retains many of its classic readings and themes, but also introduces many exciting new selections that highlight cultural diversity in America and current arguments about language.

"There are two things I particularly appreciate: the focus on language gives students the opportunity to read and write about language and writing while they are learning to communicate and write better themselves. In that sense, the topics do double duty."

INFORMATION FOR CONTRIBUTORS

LANGUAGE, the journal of the Linguistic Society of America, carries technical articles dealing with problems of linguistic science, reviews of recently published linguistic works, and notes of interest to professional linguists.

MANUSCRIPTS for publication and exchange JOURNALS should be sent to the Editor of LANGUAGE (Brian D. Joseph, 202 Mount Hall, The Ohio State University, 1050 Carmack Road, Columbus, OH 43210; language@ling.ohio-state.edu). BOOKS for review should be sent to the Review Editor of LANGUAGE (Stanley Dubinsky, Linguistics Program, University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC 29208; dubinsky@sc.edu). Manuscripts of articles and reviews should be submitted in FOUR ANONYMOUS copies; they will not be returned. An anonymized pdf and/or Word version of the paper should also be sent, either as an e-mail attachment or on a diskette; such electronic submissions are NOT to be sent in place of hard copies, however. Authors should also send a brief (c. 250-word) abstract to language@ling.ohio-state.edu. Normally at least one author of any article or review article submitted to LANGUAGE must be a member of the Society.

Manuscript form. Authors of articles submitted to LANGUAGE are not required to follow the LANGUAGE style sheet in preparing their manuscripts for initial submission to LANGUAGE. There is no restriction on the format of manuscripts, although authors should make their submissions as reader-friendly as possible. Any manuscript, however, that has been accepted for publication as an article will have to be revised so as to conform strictly to the LANGUAGE style sheet. For the complete style sheet, see the December LSA Bulletin, the LANGUAGE web page at www.lsadc.org/language/, or write to the editors.

This policy does not apply to book reviews and book notices. These are all solicited by the Review Editor and they must adhere as closely as possible to the LANGUAGE style sheet on first submission.
