ASLIB CRIMINOLOGY GROUP

A Criminology Group has been formed by Aslib (Association of Specialist Libraries), to bring together those concerned with documentation in the field of criminology, whether as librarians, research workers, administrators or practitioners. Criminology is interpreted in its widest sense, to include abnormal psychology, social pathology, treatment and other related subjects.

Besides holding meetings and arranging visits to libraries, the Group intends to promote easier access to criminological literature by compiling lists of libraries and their holdings of periodicals, by examining abstracting and indexing services, and by promoting co-operation among libraries.

Membership of the Group is open to all who are members of Aslib, or work for a body, such as a university, which is a corporate member.

Further details are available from: Aslib, 3 Belgrave Square, London, S.W.1.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE INSTITUTE OF CRIMINOLOGY

Post-Graduate Course in Criminology

The University of Cambridge has established an annual Post-Graduate Course in Criminology, to be given by the Institute of Criminology. The seventh course will be held during the three terms of the academic year beginning October 1, 1967, ending in July 1968. A Diploma in Criminology will be awarded by the University to those who have diligently attended the course, and who, at its completion, pass a written examination in five papers.

Admission to the course will be open to those who
