Tort Reform and Related Proposals

Annotated Bibliographies on Product Liability and Medical Malpractice

Prepared for the American Bar Association Section of Insurance, Negligence and Compensation Law Special Committee to Study the Tort System
by the American Bar Foundation

Edited by Bruce A. Levin and Robert Coyne

The annotated bibliographies on product liability and medical malpractice review the leading literature in the field so as to analyze the strengths and weaknesses of the present tort liability system. In addition to the usual research sources, the American Bar Foundation received research materials from lawyers, law professors, consumer groups, insurance companies, business associations, governmental agencies, congressional committees, and many other groups and persons.

While it was impossible to annotate each of the thousands of documents received, the resulting compilation is believed to represent the leading thinking in the field. The documents annotated include published materials, proposed legislation, and statistical studies made by governmental groups and business interests.

Entries are arranged alphabetically by author, then by year, then either alphabetically by title or by exact date (whichever seemed more significant). Additionally, the bibliographies are indexed by author and subject.

This initial study—believed to be the first of its kind in this country—fulfills these objectives:

1. To identify the complaints being made of the present tort liability system
2. To identify those persons or groups making these complaints
3. To identify the proposals being advanced to "reform" the system
4. To identify both those persons or groups making these proposals and those who are criticizing them

The American Bar Foundation, in keeping with its agreement with the American Bar Association's Special Committee to Study the Tort System, researched and prepared the annotated bibliography with objectivity. The annotations do not, of course, represent the views of the annotators, the American Bar Foundation, the American Bar Association, or the ABA Section of Insurance, Negligence and Compensation Law and its Special Committee to Study the Tort System.

A special limited edition of

Sources of Our Liberties

Edited by Richard L. Perry

Consider this handsomely bound collection of historic documents for

- an addition to your personal or your firm's library
- an award for service to the bar or a firm
- a gift to commemorate an anniversary or retirement
- a tangible way to recognize professional or academic achievement

Each copy of Sources of Our Liberties may be personalized or commemorated by embossing in gold the name of an individual, a firm, or an event on the front cover at no additional cost.

The American Bar Foundation proudly presents this masterfully printed and handsomely bound collection of historic documents that constitute the major sources of our individual liberties. Among the documents included are: The Magna Carta, the Mayflower Compact and other charters drawn under British rule in America, Petition of Right, the Abolition of the Star Chamber, the Northwest Ordinance, and the Constitution and its amendments.

Each document is preceded by an editorial note on its political background, its effectiveness in its own time in meeting the problems it sought to solve, and its ultimate influence in the establishment of our liberties. These introductions, with marginal notes and bibliographies, tie together the documents as part of a long political process. This edition contains a bibliographical note by Stanley N. Katz, Professor of History, Princeton University, detailing publications since the 1959 edition.

xxii + 466 pages 1978 $50.00*

*Library, student, faculty, and dealer discounts are not applicable. Please allow six weeks for delivery.

Because this is a special deluxe edition of Sources of Our Liberties and no additional copies will be published again, you may at this time order a maximum of five prepaid copies, have them held in reserve for you for up to five years, embossed as needed and shipped individually. The name that you want to have appear on the cover should be printed or typed exactly as you wish it to be embossed.

Full payment must accompany all orders.
