NOTHING NATURAL IS SHAMEFUL
Sodomy and Science in Late Medieval Europe
Joan Cadden

"Remarkable feats of historical research culminate in this sophisticated reflection on sex and sexuality. Joan Cadden teaches us many things we didn't know. What is more important, she challenges the categories and principles we have been using so confidently to narrate what we were sure we knew with certainty."
—Mark D. Jordan, Washington University in St. Louis

The Middle Ages Series
2013 | 368 pages | 8 illus. | Cloth | $85.00

ANIMAL BODIES, RENAISSANCE CULTURE
Karen Raber

"Materialist scholarship has been fascinated by bodies in recent decades, yet has neglected to consider embodiment exactly where it seems likely to be especially helpful: in the ecocritical study of our connections with other animals. Karen Raber resolves that paradox and many of the problems it reflects, in a highly readable study with vivid instances and large implications."
—Robert N. Watson, University of California, Los Angeles

COLLECTING ACROSS CULTURES
Material Exchanges in the Early Modern Atlantic World
Edited by Daniela Bleichmar and Peter C. Mancall

"The essays in Collecting Across Cultures offer a fascinating new perspective on Europe's encounters with an ethnically and culturally diverse early modern world. . . . Collections and the objects within them are thus themselves imaginatively reconceptualized as sites of encounter and exchange."
—British Journal for the History of Science

The Early Modern Americas
2013 | 392 pages | 12 color, 65 b/w illus. | Paper | $29.95

PARROTS AND NIGHTINGALES
Troubadour Quotations and the Development of European Poetry
Sarah Kay

"Written with clarity, grace, and wit, Parrots and Nightingales is an important book that will illuminate our understanding of the troubadours, the art of quotation, and the transition from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance."
—William Paden, Northwestern University

The Middle Ages Series
2013 | 400 pages | 9 illus. | Cloth | $79.95

ETHNOGRAPHY AFTER ANTIQUITY
Foreign Lands and Peoples in Byzantine Literature
Anthony Kaldellis

"It is a joy to read a book where the logic of the argument is so clear and so solidly based on the sources. Anthony Kaldellis argues for a new approach to Byzantine identity and self-definition, one that accepts Byzantines' own account of themselves as Romans surrounded by barbarians. A must-read not only for Byzantinists but also for those involved in broader conversations about identity in late antiquity, the Middle Ages, and the early modern period."

How Literature Plays with the Brain

The Neuroscience of Reading and Art

Paul B. Armstrong

"Armstrong explores the ways that neuroscience and literary theory can be mutually illuminating about the processes of reading and about the aesthetics of literary response. He makes explicit some of the most vital, yet heretofore overlooked, connections between the aims of literary criticism and cognitive neuroscience. There are wonderful insights in How Literature Plays with the Brain, and it is clearly the work of a strong critic who is well educated on both sides of the science-humanities divide."

—G. Gabrielle Starr, New York University

$49.95 cloth • $49.95 ebook

The Fairy Way of Writing

Shakespeare to Tolkien

Kevin Pask

"As Pask notes, a deep divide exists between literary studies and popular modern fantasy. Bridging this divide helps to illuminate what is on both sides of it and helps to combat the tendency on the part of scholarly readers to dismiss fantasy as childish. Pask's effort to bring the realm of fantasy into academic consideration alongside more standard canonical writing is no small achievement."

Being Cool

The Work of Elmore Leonard

Charles J. Rzepka

"Rzepka uncovers interesting patterns that link the individual works and identifies connections between incidents in Leonard's life and his fiction. This is an important work on an important writer."

—David Geherin, Eastern Michigan University

Matters of Fact in Jane Austen

History, Location, and Celebrity

Janine Barchas

"This is a book whose charm and clarity easily overcome any initial resistance one might have to its central claim that Austen's work actively partakes in what historians now call 'celebrity culture'. "

Lure of the Arcane

The Literature of Cult and Conspiracy

Theodore Ziolkowski

"An excellent book, an original and substantial contribution. I would expect it to find many readers, not just among fellow scholars. Since conspiracy, and conspiracy fiction, is a hot topic, I could imagine this book being invaluable as a guide to a university course that sought to place Umberto Eco and Dan Brown in their long-term intellectual context."

Black Soundscapes White Stages

The Meaning of Francophone Sound in the Black Atlantic

Edwin C. Hill Jr.

"Hill breaks new ground in the field of Francophone studies with his nuanced intersection of film studies, musicology, and literary criticism. His analyses of the musical form the biguine and the poetry of Léon-Gontran Damas, probably the least studied of the major Negritude poets, are especially important. An engaging, enlightening read."

JOHN UPDIKE
The Collected Stories
Christopher Carduff, editor

Here, in two career-spanning volumes, are 186 classic stories, from "Ace in the Hole" (1953), written when Updike was a Harvard senior, to "The Full Glass" (2008). Based on new archival research, each story is presented in its final definitive form and in order of composition, established here for the first time.

"It is in his short stories that we find Updike is most assured . . . and almost without fail they give pleasure, a quality not to be taken lightly."

THE SCHOOL OF CRITICISM & THEORY at Cornell University

An international program of study with leading figures in critical theory invites you to apply for its 2014 Summer Session, June 15 - July 25

IN NEW YORK STATE'S FINGER LAKES REGION

"One of the most enriching intellectual experiences of my academic life."
Karine Côté-Boucher, York University

"This summer odyssey transformed not only many ideas I previously had about theory and criticism, but also the very experience of being an academic."
Katarzyna Bojarska, Polish Academy of Sciences

"In this community of critics, away from the familiar ecology of one's home institution, one is offered new ways of seeing, new questions, new connections."
David Russell, Princeton University

"At SCT the exposure to learning is absolutely open and continuous."
Stefano Selenu, Brown University

"At SCT there is a spirit of lively, respectful exchange, serious commitment to critical dialogue, and actual interest in listening to others."
Lynda Paul, Yale University

"Our classroom was a rich mosaic of heterogeneous disciplinary backgrounds and interests."
Alicia Garcia, Johns Hopkins University

The Program
In an intensive six-week course of study, participants from around the world, across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, explore recent developments in critical theory.

Tuition
The fee for the session is $2700. Applicants are eligible to compete for partial tuition scholarships and are urged to seek funding from their home institutions.

Admission
We welcome applications from faculty members and advanced graduate students at universities worldwide. Applications must be submitted online by February 1, and admissions decisions are announced in March.

The Haverford Discussions
A Black Integrationist Manifesto for Racial Justice
Edited by Michael Lackey
$35.00 | CLOTH

In 1969 a group of distinguished African American intellectuals met at Haverford College in order to devise strategies to dissuade young blacks from adopting a separatist political agenda. This volume makes the historic discussions available, rescuing for the modern reader some of the most eloquent voices in the intellectual history of black America.

Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry: A Postdoctoral Program in the Humanities and Social Sciences

Washington University announces the fourteenth year of Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry, a postdoctoral fellowship program endowed by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and designed to encourage interdisciplinary scholarship and teaching across the humanities and social sciences. We invite applications from recent Ph.D.s for the position as Fellow. In September 2014, the selected Fellows will join the University's ongoing interdisciplinary programs and seminars. Fellows will receive a two-year appointment with a nine-month academic year salary beginning at $50,000 per year. Postdoctoral Fellows have an opportunity to plan and pursue their own continuing research in association with a senior faculty mentor at Washington University, and, over the course of their two-year appointment, to teach three undergraduate courses and to collaborate in leading an interdisciplinary seminar on theory and methods for advanced undergraduates and beginning graduate students in the humanities and interpretive social sciences.

There is no application form, but further information on Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry is available on the web at http://mii.wustl.edu/. Applicants should submit a cover letter, a description of their research program (no more than 1800 words), a brief proposal for the seminar in theory and methods, and a curriculum vitae. Please include all relevant contact information on your cover letter, and your name on each page of your application. Applicants should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of recommendation.

Submit materials by email, post, or online document handler by December 2, 2013 to Joseph Loewenstein (mii@artsci.wustl.edu). The mailing address is: Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry, Washington University, Campus Box 1029, One Brookings Drive, St. Louis, MO 63130-4899. For express mail, please send materials to: Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry, Washington University, Umrath Hall, Room 231, One Brookings Drive, St. Louis, MO 63130-4899. Washington University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Employment eligibility verification requested upon hire.

What W. H. Auden Can Do for You

Alexander McCall Smith

"Alexander McCall Smith's voice in this splendid book is instantly recognizable as the calm, sympathetic, psychologically shrewd, and morally generous one that narrates his novels. This is not only a convincing account of W. H. Auden's poetry and life. It is also a self-portrait of McCall Smith himself and a testimony to the wisdom and courage he has found in Auden's poems. This is a valuable and memorable book."

For the Time Being

A Christmas Oratorio
W. H. Auden
Edited and with an introduction by Alan Jacobs

For the Time Being is Auden's only explicitly religious long poem, a technical tour de force, and a revelatory window into the poet's personal and intellectual development. This edition provides the most accurate text of the poem, a detailed introduction by Alan Jacobs that explains its themes and sets the poem in its proper contexts, and thorough annotations of its references and allusions.

Reiner Stach
Translated by Shelley Frisch

This volume of Reiner Stach's acclaimed and definitive biography of Franz Kafka tells the story of the final years of the writer's life, from 1916 to 1924—a period during which the world Kafka had known came to an end. Stach's riveting narrative, which reflects the latest findings about Kafka's life and works, draws readers in with a nearly cinematic power, zooming in for extreme close-ups of Kafka's personal life, then pulling back for panoramic shots of a wider world scarred by World War I, disease, and inflation.

Security

Politics, Humanity, and the Philology of Care

John T. Hamilton

"This is an important and absolutely timely exploration of security in all its intonations, structures, and puzzlements, from the classical world to the present. Hamilton moves with breathtaking ease between different languages, contexts, traditions, and periods, as well as different discourses, including literature, philosophy, anthropology, religion, political theory, painting, and film. Lucid, persuasive, and enlightening, this is a tour de force."

Mirages and Mad Beliefs

Proust the Skeptic

Christopher Prendergast

"Through exemplary close reading and remarkable attention to textual detail, this book offers a high-powered critical argument that essentially pits Proust against himself—the romantic aesthete against the ironic doubter, the writer who conquers time against the one who understands how thoroughly lost it can be. This work will challenge and alter many current readings of Proust and, by implication, other writers."

European Literature and the Latin Middle Ages

Ernst Robert Curtius
With a new introduction by Colin Burrow

"This is the sort of book which takes much of a man's lifetime to produce and which can be read again and again with profit and pleasure. . . . [A] powerfully presented and richly informative study of medieval standards, values, assumptions and literary conventions."

The Correspondence of Henry D. Thoreau

Volume 1: 1834–1848

Henry D. Thoreau
Edited by Robert N. Hudspeth

This is the inaugural volume in the first full-scale scholarly edition of Thoreau's correspondence in more than half a century. When completed, the edition's three volumes will include every extant letter written or received by Thoreau—in all, almost 650 letters, roughly 150 more than in any previous edition, including dozens that have never before been published. Correspondence 1 contains 163 letters, ninety-six written by Thoreau and sixty-seven to him. Twenty-five are collected here for the first time; of those, fourteen have never before been published.

the SHELBY CULLOM DAVIS CENTER
for HISTORICAL STUDIES

http://www.princeton.edu/dav/

In the Aftermath of Catastrophe

During the academic years 2014/15 and 2015/16, the Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies will take as its theme "In the aftermath of catastrophe." What happens in the wake of cataclysmic experiences: war, civil war, genocide, imperial collapse, natural disaster? The aim in part is to understand processes of reconstruction but not only that. How was the experience of catastrophe remembered and memorialized; how was trauma conceived and dealt with; how was the post-catastrophic present understood in relation to the pre-disaster past? As always, we hope to address these questions from a wide variety of periods and places, from prehistory to the present and from all parts of the world.
The Center will offer a limited number of research fellowships for one or two semesters, running from September to January and from February to June. Early career scholars must have their doctoral degrees in hand at the time of the application. Fellows are expected to live in Princeton in order to take an active part in the intellectual interchange with other members of the Seminar. Funds are limited, and candidates are, therefore, strongly urged to apply to other grant-giving institutions as well as the Center if they wish to come for a full year.
To apply please link to: http://jobs.princeton.edu, requisition #1300300. The deadline for receipt of applications and letters of recommendation for fellowships for 2014/2015 is December 1, 2013. Please note that we will not accept faxed applications. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, cover letter, research proposal, abstract of proposal, and contact information for three references. For further information about the Davis Center, please go to http://www.princeton.edu/dav. Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and complies with applicable EEO and affirmative action regulations.
