JUST OUT

HENRY SUSO, Saint and Poet by S.M.C.

The authoress, now an established hagiographer and also a well-known Catholic novelist, shows Blessed Henry Suso as a saint for our own times with his divine virtues of patience, humility and love of the Cross and his delicate humanity, springing from his intense mortification —a saint who could see Wisdom working in all creation.

DOMINICAN STUDIES

A quarterly review of Theology and Philosophy, published by the English Dominican Fathers.

The increasing interest shown in English-speaking countries in scholastic thought and method, and especially in the thought of St Thomas Aquinas, has suggested to the English Dominican Province the publication of a quarterly review. Its articles and reviews treat of Biblical, historical and systematic theology, all branches of philosophy both ancient and modern, and texts and questions relating to cultural and ecclesiastical history. Special attention is paid to thomistic thought and method as an instrument for the critical analysis and co-ordination of modern discovery and thought.

'Dominican Studies' appears in January, April, July, and October. The subscription is £1.1.0 per annum ($5.00 in the U.S.A.), or 6/6 per single copy.

BOOKPLATES FOR TERTIARIES

Books, now doubly valuable on account of their scarcity, seem to some people to be outside the moral law. A book lent becomes a book lost. A bookplate not only lends charm but adds the seal of the owner in a way that inscription seems to lack. Two Dominican plates have been designed by

In March, 1946, English-speaking Catholics throughout the world were intrigued by the appearance of yet another Catholic magazine, a modestly slim production of 28 pages named CONTEXT, The First British Catholic Digest. It has continued to appear each month, and by practising virtually acrobatic economies in the use of the small amount of paper available, the publishers have been able, since July, 1946, to produce a 52-page magazine. Launched with the object of serving the Church by doing a useful piece of work for Catholic Action in the field of journalism, CONTEXT aims to give its readers a widely varied monthly digest of current Catholic literature, selected from newspapers, magazines, books, sermons, and radio broadcasts. An increasing number of readers evidently find the magazine both entertaining and stimulating, and it now goes right round the world every month (yes, quite literally!). Copies of each issue are regularly on sale in places like Kuala Lumpur, Malaya; San Diego, California; Wanganui, New Zealand; and Wellawatte, Ceylon, as well as in such metropolitan centres as London, Bombay, New York, Birmingham, Manchester, Liverpool, Edinburgh, and Glasgow. If you really are impressed by the importance of the work of the Catholic Press in the perilous times we live in, you can hardly do better than take out a subscription to CONTEXT. It costs twelve shillings a year, and there is no charge for postage to any part of the world. The address is Context House, 34 North End Road, London, N.W.11.
