From Owlworks

An Essay on the Original of Literature

Daniel Defoe

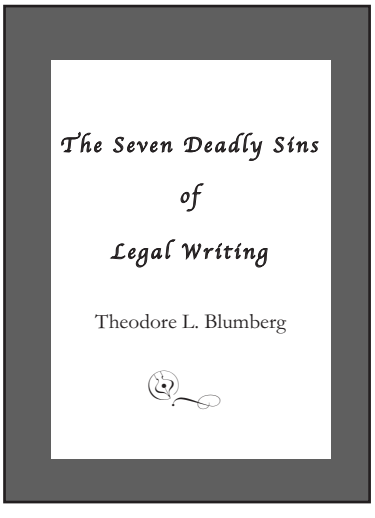

The young Daniel Defoe thought he was destined to become a Presbyterian minister. Instead, he became a man of letters: poet, political journalist, economic essayist, novelist. His Essay on the Original of Literature is a writer's glorification of the invention and craft of literature, radically understood.

The Seven Deadly Sins of Legal Writing

Theodore L. Blumberg

A supremely cogent guide to good legal writing. Blumberg not only provides a sleek typology of the profession's most common literary sins; he explores the motivations behind them. At once witty and exhilarating, The Seven Deadly Sins of Legal Writing will change the way lawyers and scholars do business.

NEW FROM KNOPF DOUBLEDAY

HOW LITERATURE SAVED MY LIFE

by David Shields

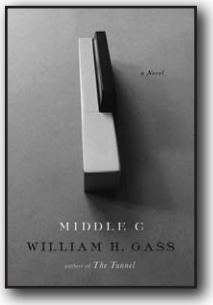

"Absolute and utter genius.... A big book in its thematic treatment and its scope of thought and feelings, this is Shields's most ambitious and deepest and best work, with an added dimension he's never quite gotten to before: serious melancholy. Perfectly timed and balanced, it builds subtly, beautifully."

—Matthew Specktor, editor of Los Angeles Review of Books

"A wildly fun and yet seriously personal book–intimate and touching while simultaneously biting and ingenious."

—John D'Agata, author of Life Span of a Fact

KNOPF | CLOTH | 224 PAGES | $25.95

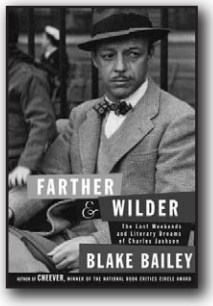

MIDDLE C

by William H. Gass

Struggling to find himself in a strange land, Joseph Skizzen—abandoned by the father who fled with his family from Austria to London before World War II—navigates the small Midwestern town of his upbringing and creates a fantasy self as a professor with a make-believe goal—to establish the "Inhumanity Museum."

The long-awaited novel, almost two decades in the making, from one of the most revered American writers of our time, Middle C is a journey—an investigation into the nature of human identity and the ways in which each person is really several selves, and whether any one self is more genuine than another.

FARTHER AND WILDER

The Lost Weekends and Literary Dreams of Charles Jackson

by Blake Bailey

The fascinating biography of the author of The Lost Weekend—the story of five disastrous days in the life of an alcoholic man—a writer whose life and work encapsulated what it meant to be an addict and a closeted gay man in midcentury America, and who is ripe to be rediscovered. Rich with incident and character, Farther and Wilder is the moving story of an artist whose commitment to bringing forbidden subjects into the popular discourse was far ahead of his time.

KNOPF | CLOTH | 496 PAGES | $30.00

THE SELECTED LETTERS OF WILLA CATHER

by Willa Cather

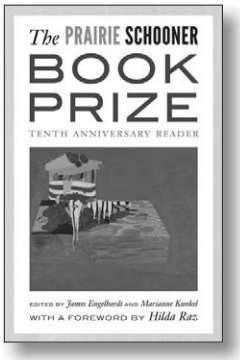

Edited by Andrew Jewell and Janis Stout

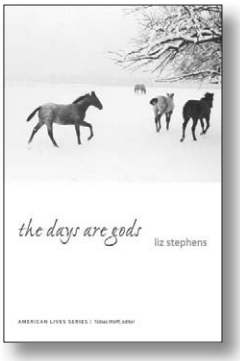

Willa Cather, wanting only her work to speak for her, clearly forbade the publication of her letters in her will. But now, over sixty-five years after her death, with her literary reputation as secure as can be, the letters have become available for publication. Here are 564 letters, nearly 20 percent of the entire cache that display a voice strikingly consistent with the voice of her fiction: confident, elegant, detailed, and open-hearted.

Narcoepics
A Global Aesthetics of Sobriety
Hermann Herlinghaus

Narcoepics foregrounds the controversial yet mostly untheorized phenomenon of contemporary Latin American "narcoepics." Dealing with literary works and films whose characteristics are linked to illicit global exchange, informal labor, violence, "bare life," drug consumption, and ritualistic patterns of identity, it argues for a new theoretical approach to better understand these "narratives of intoxication."

To the Spring, by Night
SEYHMUS DAGTEKIN
Translated from the French
by Donald Winkler

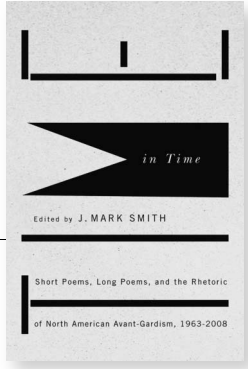

978-0-7735-4155-9 $19.95 paper
Ebook available

The first novel by the award winning Kurdish/French poet about a childhood lived in a Turkish mountain village.

"This is a poetic voyage to the well-spring of childhood emotions … In magnificent language, Dagtekin achieves universality. The sense of space, the small mythologies, allegories, lives and deaths, all are weighed, built in a succession of concentric circles, ultimately producing a beautiful panoramic image."

New Books from Yale

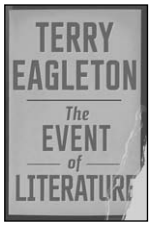

The Letters of T. S. Eliot
Volume 4: 1928-1929
Edited by Valerie Eliot and John Haffenden
During this period, Eliot secures the future of The Monthly Criterion, corresponds with writers and thinkers from Virginia Woolf to Robert Frost to W. H. Auden, and continues to publish his own poems and writings, all while nursing his wife back to health.

Franz Kafka
The Poet of Shame and Guilt
Saul Friedländer
"The book's main objective is to mine the question of Kafka's guilt and shame, and Friedländer is more probing, historical and impartial in examining these questions than just about any other scholar I know."— Mark Anderson, author of Reading Kafka and Kafka's Clothes
Jewish Lives

Distant Intimacy
A Friendship in the Age of the Internet
Frederic Raphael and Joseph Epstein
Over the course of a year, two writers who have never met (one American and one British) exchange weekly letters that are candid, wise, and totally irresistible, discussing all manner of topics, personal and professional.

How to Read Literature
Terry Eagleton
An eminent critic explains, with abundant examples, how to read literary works with deeper insight, better understanding, and much more enjoyment. "This is not only an entertaining book, it's an important one. . . . A book for every reader, not only beginners."—Jay Parini, author of Why Poetry Matters

In the Olden Time
Victorians and the British Past
Andrew Sanders
This groundbreaking cultural survey of Victorian responses to British history sheds new light on the intersection of architecture, art, literature, and religion in Victorian England.

Essays
A Fully Annotated Edition
Henry D. Thoreau
Edited by Jeffrey S. Cramer
This treasure trove of Thoreau's most noteworthy essays, annotated by a leading scholar, belongs on the bookshelves of every admirer of this endlessly fascinating figure.

Marcel Proust
A Life, with a New Preface by the Author
William C. Carter
Reissued with a new preface to commemorate the first publication of À la recherche du temps perdu one hundred years ago. "An impeccably researched and well-paced narrative that brings vividly and credibly to life not only the writer himself but also the changing world he knew."—New York Times Book Review
Henry McBride Series in Modernism and Modernity

The Event of Literature
Terry Eagleton
"This guidebook . . . [which] steers us confidently through some of the thickets of literary theory, is of the companionable and clever variety."—Times Higher Education [London]

Renegade
Henry Miller and the Making of "Tropic of Cancer"
Frederick Turner
"Turner tells a good story: how Miller's Tropic of Cancer came to be written, came to be banned and came to be an American classic."—New York Times Book Review, Editor's Choice
Icons of America

Out on Stage
Lesbian and Gay Theater in the Twentieth Century
Alan Sinfield
"An entertaining, highly readable history. . . . Full of interesting insights into the ways in which gay and lesbian people perceive themselves as evinced by the ways in which they're portrayed on the stage."— Gay & Lesbian Review

SHIRLEY JACKSON

COME ALONG WITH ME
Classic Short Stories and an Unfinished Novel

Foreword by Laura Miller

A haunting and psychologically driven collection from Shirley Jackson that captures her gothic vision of small-town America and the full spectrum of her literary genius. In addition to Come Along with Me, Jackson's unfinished novel about a lonely widow, this collection features sixteen short stories—including her famous "The Lottery"—and three lectures she delivered during her last years.
Penguin Classics • 288 pp. • 978-0-14-310711-8 • $16.00

RICHARD ALDINGTON

DEATH OF A HERO

Introduction by James H. Meredith

An honest and brilliantly satirical World War I anti-war novel based on the author's own experience on the Western Front. Aldington's chilling depiction of Britain's ignorance of the suffering of its soldiers evokes the morally degrading nature of combat and features a cynical hero who rapidly rises through the ranks as his superiors and comrades die.

THE MAKING OF A MONSTER

The Fascinating True Story Behind Mary Shelley's Frankenstein

"A macabre romp through 18th and 19th century Europe . . . a delicious and enticing journey into the origins of a masterpiece."
—Publishers Weekly
[starred review]

"Sick, shocking, and spellbinding . . . a dual history of literature and science."
—Booklist
[starred review]

Told with the verve and ghoulish fun of a Tim Burton film, The Lady and Her Monsters is a highly entertaining blend of literary history, lore, and early scientific exploration that traces the origins of the greatest horror story of all time—Mary Shelley's Frankenstein.

Be It Ever So Humble
Poverty, Fiction, and the Invention of the Middle-Class Home
Scott R. MacKenzie
$49.50 | CLOTH | COWEN PRIZE WINNER
Expanding its scope beyond the parameters of literary history and previous studies of domesticity, Be It Ever So Humble pursues the origins of the modern middle-class home through an extensive set of discourses, including philosophy, law, religion, economics, and aesthetics.

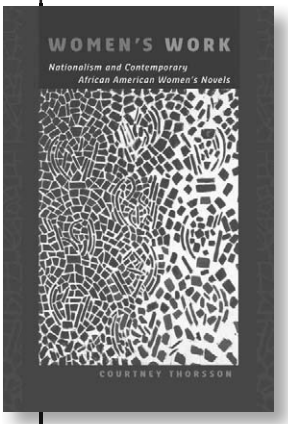

Upon Provincialism
Southern Literature and National Periodical Culture, 1870–1900
Bill Hardwig
$24.50 | PAPER | AMERICAN LITERATURES INITIATIVE
Drawing on tourist literature, travelogues, and local-color fiction about the South, Bill Hardwig tracks the ways in which the nation's leading interdisciplinary periodicals translated and broadcast the predominant narratives about the late-nineteenth-century South.

Artistic Ambassadors
Literary and International Representation of the New Negro Era
Brian Russell Roberts
$24.50 | PAPER | AMERICAN LITERATURES INITIATIVE
In addition to offering a narrative of the formative dialogue between black transnationalism and U.S. international diplomacy, Artistic Ambassadors also illuminates a broader literary culture that reached both black and white America as well as the black diaspora and the wider world of people of color.

Drawing the Line
The Father Reimagined in Faulkner, Wright, O'Connor, and Morrison
Doreen Fowler
$35.00 | CLOTH
In an original contribution to the psychoanalytic approach to literature, Doreen Fowler focuses on the fiction of four major American writers to examine the father's function as a "border figure."

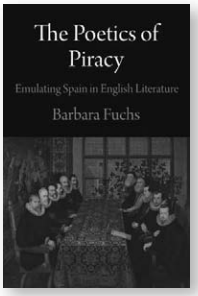

Women's Work
Nationalism and Contemporary African American Women's Novels
Courtney Thorsson
$27.50 | PAPER | AMERICAN LITERATURES INITIATIVE
In Women's Work, Courtney Thorsson reconsiders the gender, genre, and geography of African American nationalism as she explores the aesthetic history of African American writing by women.

—Hawaiian Journal of History

2013 | 248 pages | 34 illus. | Paper | $24.95

TRUE RELATIONS
Reading, Literature, and Evidence in Seventeenth-Century England
Frances E. Dolan

"True Relations pairs a methodological inquiry with historical analysis of specific case histories connecting fact to fiction in the early modern period. No other book to date has traced the particular way that scholars of the early modern period devise a practice of reading once they affirm the axiom that the 'real' is constructed. Dolan offers an unusually lucid and crisp tour of the social stakes involved in reading strategies and evidentiary standards."—Wendy Wall, Northwestern University

2013 | 344 pages | 10 illus. | Cloth | $59.95

FICTIONS OF CONVERSION
Jews, Christians, and Cultures of Change in Early Modern England
Jeffrey S. Shoulson

"Ambitious, beautifully written, and sweeping while not losing sight of historical context or of the telling detail, Fictions of Conversion offers a new analysis of a crucial topic, and connects that analysis to a number of compelling readings of literary works both familiar and less so."
—Katherine Eggert, University of Colorado at Boulder

2013 | 288 pages | Cloth | $65.00

THE SCHOOL OF CRITICISM & THEORY at Cornell University

An international program of study with leading figures in critical theory invites you to apply for its 2013 Summer Session, June 16 - July 26

IN NEW YORK STATE'S FINGER LAKES REGION

"One of the most enriching intellectual experiences of my academic life."
Karine Côté-Boucher, York University

"This summer odyssey transformed not only many ideas I previously had about theory and criticism, but also the very experience of being an academic."
Katarzyna Bojarska, Polish Academy of Sciences

"In this community of critics, away from the familiar ecology of one's home institution, one is offered new ways of seeing, new questions, new connections."
David Russell, Princeton University

"At SCT the exposure to learning is absolutely open and continuous."
Stefano Selenu, Brown University

"At SCT there is a spirit of lively, respectful exchange, serious commitment to critical dialogue, and actual interest in listening to others."
Lynda Paul, Yale University

"Our classroom was a rich mosaic of heterogeneous disciplinary backgrounds and interests."
Alicia Garcia, Johns Hopkins University

The Program
In an intensive six-week course of study, participants from around the world, across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, explore recent developments in critical theory.

Tuition
The fee for the session is $2700. Applicants are eligible to compete for partial tuition scholarships and are urged to seek funding from their home institutions.

Admission
We welcome applications from faculty members and advanced graduate students at universities worldwide. Applications must be submitted online by February 1, and admissions decisions are announced in March.

MARCEL PROUST

Cahiers 1 à 75 de la Bibliothèque nationale de France

Marcel Proust collection conserved in the 'Manuscrits' department of the Bibliothèque nationale de France (French National Library) was started in 1962 and completed in 1984 and is remarkable for its exceptional richness. Seventy-five school exercise books, cahiers, used by the author between 1908 and his death in 1922 represent its centre piece. Their approximately eight thousand hand-written pages have played a central role in generating the unfinished part of À la recherche du temps perdu and bear witness to the most extraordinary intellectual and creative adventures of the 20th century. Currently, barely a quarter of the works have been published in a simplified format. Today's project is to progressively publish the entire contents.

Each cahier will result in two volumes :

- Volume I contains a colour copy of the manuscript in its original format.
- Volume II contains an exhaustive diplomatic transcription and a rich critical analysis.

The two complementary volumes will provide an appreciable comfort read and contain an amount of information that is unprecedented in the study of Proust.

REVIEW:

"The importance of this and future editions of the cahiers for scholars working in the field of genetic criticism is immeasurable. These volumes also offer a fascinating addition to Proustian scholarship more generally by making such high-quality and meticulously annotated reproductions accessible outside the BnF.

(M. Topping, in: Modern Language Review 105/1, January 2010, p. 252)

NEW

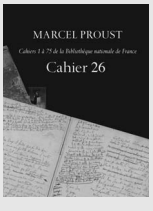

Cahier 53

Edited by N. Mauriac Dyer, K. Yoshikawa, P. Wise

Vol. I : xi + 209 p.; Vol. II : xl + 255 p., 2013, ISBN 978-2-503-54338-3, € 245 / US$ 318.50

As a rudimentary version of La Prisonnière, Cahier 53 was written at the beginning of the First World War and was heavily influenced by the preceding "Cahier d'Albertine". The diplomatic transcription and notes by the editors allow you to grasp the dynamism so typical of Proust's writings.

Elizabeth Singer Rowe and the Development of the English Novel

Paula R. Backscheider

"An important, pioneering work, this book clears many hurdles with one jump, propelling a previously neglected author firmly into her appropriate place in the canon. Backscheider reveals Rowe's importance as an indispensable voice in literary history and models sophisticated interpretive strategies for the future. A vast achievement."

Blake's Agitation

Criticism and the Emotions

Steven Goldsmith

"A fresh and bracing assessment of the role of affect in some of the most important cultural criticism of the last century, by no means limited to the field of affect studies. I found myself productively provoked by the book's arguments about the power we critics habitually attribute to critical reading and to literature's appeal to a non-rational dimension of experience."
