Ethnic Politics after Communism

edited by Zoltan Barany and Robert G. Moser

"In chapters of uniformly high quality, eminent authors address processes of nation-building and state-building, the intersection of each with international norms and transnational actors, and the role of institutional structure, rational choice, and identity reproduction in determining ethnic politics."

SOCIALISM IN GEORGIAN COLORS

THE EUROPEAN ROAD TO SOCIAL DEMOCRACY, 1883–1917

Stephen F. Jones

"A splendid account, which breaks new ground. Stephen Jones brings Georgian Marxism back to life on its own terms and in its own time. He is brilliant at setting the national, social, and cultural context, and he succeeds in relating the Georgian movement to the wider frame of Russian imperial and indeed global history."

REVOLUTION IN ORANGE
The Origins of Ukraine's Democratic Breakthrough
edited by Anders Åslund and Michael McFaul

The dramatic series of protests and political events that unfolded in Ukraine in the fall of 2004—the "Orange Revolution"—were seminal both for Ukrainian history and the history of democratization. This volume seeks to explain why and how this nationwide protest movement occurred.

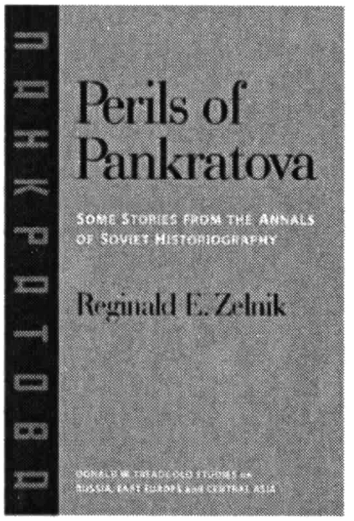

Chapters explore the role of former president Kuchma and the oligarchs, societal attitudes, the role of the political opposition and civil society, the importance of the media, and the roles of Russia and the West.

Reginald E. Zelnik

Perils of Pankratova: Some Stories from the Annals of Soviet Historiography

University of Washington Press
ISBN 0-295-98520-8 $12.95

Professor Reginald E. Zelnik, who died in a tragic accident in May 2004, was one of the most respected and beloved historians of Russia. His last manuscript is a biography of Anna Pankratova, a woman from Odessa who became a leading labor historian and academic administrator in the Soviet Union from the 1920s to her death in 1957. Her experience during World War II in Kazakhstan, in Soviet Central Asia, led her to champion the national cause of the Kazakhs.

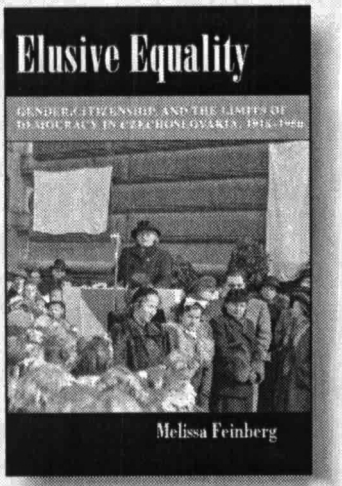

Accompanying Zelnik's monograph are essays by Laura Engelstein, David A. Hollinger, Benjamin Nathans, Yuri Slezkine and Glennys Young. The volume also encompasses excerpts from two Soviet texts mentioned in Zelnik's monograph, a list of his PhD students at Berkeley and his curriculum vitae.

Elusive Equality

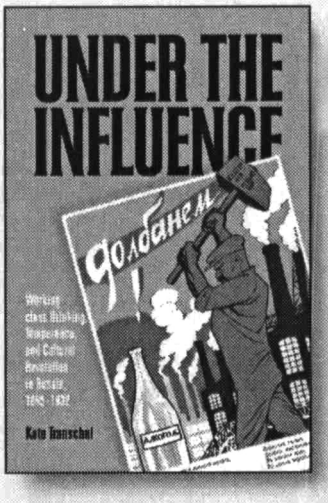

Gender, Citizenship, and the Limits of Democracy in Czechoslovakia, 1918–1950

Melissa Feinberg

0-8229-4281-X • 272 pp. • Cloth $35.00

"Melissa Feinberg cogently analyzes conflicts over the meaning of women's citizenship in Czechoslovakia, arguing that the issue of gender equality was central to Czech politics during the interwar period and immediately after. This well-researched volume fills a lacuna in the historiography of the country, indeed, of the region."

—Nancy M. Wingfield, Northern Illinois University

Under the Influence

Working-Class Drinking, Temperance, and Cultural Revolution in Russia, 1895–1932

Kate Transchel

0-8229-4278-X • 234 pp. • Cloth $35.00

"Using drinking as a lens through which to assess cultural revolution in Russia, Transchel persuasively reveals how practices steeped in everyday life limited state-sponsored efforts to remake society. In elegantly lean prose, she demonstrates how workers effectively resisted Bolshevik efforts to establish cultural hegemony and what this ultimately meant for the Soviet project."
