Notes on Contributors

Esther Helena Arens is currently completing her dissertation, 'The political economy of West German and Dutch development aid to Indonesia during the 1960s', in the Department of History at the Rheinische Friedrich-Wilhelms-Universität, Bonn.

Shelley Baranowski is Professor of History at the University of Akron (Ohio). She specialises in modern German history and the history of tourism, and has just completed a book on the Nazi leisure organisation, Kraft durch Freude (Strength through Joy: Consumerism and Mass Tourism in the Third Reich), to be published by Cambridge University Press in 2004.

Gérard Bossuat is Professor of Contemporary History, Jean Monnet Chair, at the University of Cergy-Pontoise (France). He is director of the history department and of a Master (DESS) 'Manager of projects on European affairs'. He is a member of the Liaison Group of the Historians at the European Communities (EU), the Jean Monnet Foundation (Lausanne), the Institut Pierre Mendès France (Paris), the Office Universitaire de Recherche Socialiste (Paris) and the research group UMR IRICE (Paris–1, Paris–4, CNRS). His recent books are: Les aides américaines économiques et militaires à la France, 1938–1960 (Paris, 2001); Les fondateurs de l'Europe unie (Paris 2001); with N. Vaibourg, eds., Etats-Unis, Europe et Union européenne, histoire et avenir d'un partenariat difficile (1945–1999) (Berne, 2001, 2002); with G. Saunier, eds., Inventer l'Europe, histoire nouvelle des groupes d'influence et des acteurs de l'unité européenne, Euroclio, études et documents, Vol. 27 (Berne, 2003).

Elena Calandri teaches the history of international organisations and European integration at the Faculty of Political Sciences of Florence University. She has written on various aspects of West European political and diplomatic history of the 1950s and 1960s. She is currently working on EEC external relations in 1958–65 and on Italian policy towards 'the South' in the 1960s and 1970s. Recent publications include, with A. Varsori, eds., The Failure of Peace in Europe 1943–1947 (Basingstoke, 2001); 'Strategic thinking, military co-operation and political interests in France, Britain and the United States. NATO policies in the Mediterranean: from co-operation to crisis 1948–1951', in S. Dockrill et al., eds., L'Europe de l'Est et de l'Ouest dans la guerre froide

Contemporary European History, 12, 4 (2003), pp. 585–587 © 2003 Cambridge University Press
DOI: 10.1017/S0960777303009329 Printed in the United Kingdom

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0960777303009329 Published online by Cambridge University Press

1948–1953 (Paris, 2002); 'Il Mediterraneo nella politica estera italiana', in L'Italia repubblicana nella crisi degli anni settanta, Vol. 1: Tra guerra fredda e distensione (Rome, 2003).

Marc Frey is an assistant professor at the University of Cologne. He is currently fellow-in-residence at the Netherlands Institute for Advanced Studies in Wassenaar. Among his major publications are Der Erste Weltkrieg und die Niederlande (The First World War and the Netherlands) (Berlin, 1998) and Geschichte des Vietnamkriegs (History of the Vietnam War), 6th edn (Munich, 2002). He also co-edited a history of decolonisation in south-east Asia, entitled The Transformation of Southeast Asia. International Perspectives on Decolonization (Armonk, NY, 2003). He is currently completing a study on US policies in south-east Asia from the 1930s to 1961, in which he looks at US strategies (politics, propaganda and information, development) to create an informal empire as the organising regional superstructure following the breakdown of colonial rule.

Helge Ø. Pharo is Professor of International History at the University of Oslo. His main research interests are Cold War history, the history of development aid and Norwegian foreign and foreign economic policy. His most recent book is Kald krig og internasjonaliseirng 1949–1965 (Oslo, 1997), Vol. 5 of A History of Norwegian Foreign Relations, with Knut Einar Eriksen. He is currently completing a volume in English on the history of Norwegian development aid from 1952 to 2002, commissioned by the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Edith Raim has since 1999 been a research fellow at the Institut für Zeitgeschichte, Munich. Her current research interest is in judicial dealings with crimes of the Third Reich in the Federal Republic. Her publications include Die Dachauer KZ-Außenkommandos Kaufering und Mühldorf (Landsberg, 1992) and Ein Ort wie jeder andere (Reinbek bei Hamburg, 1995).

Joan-Anton Sánchez de Juan is policy analyst on spatial planning and co-ordinator of ODECAT, the Observatory of Strategic Spatial Development of the Government of Catalonia. Awarded his Ph.D. at the European University Institute, Florence, in 2001, he has most recently published 'La imaginación histórica de la ciudad: conocimiento histórico, conciencia cívica y reforma urbana en Barcelona, 1892–1929', Revista Historia Contemporánea, 24, I (2002), and 'Riforma municipale e reti intercomunali spagnole nel movimento comunale Europeo, 1900–1936', in Patrizia Dogliani and Oscar Gaspari, eds., L' Europa dei Comuni. Origini e Sviluppo del Movimento Comunale Europeo dalla fine dell' Ottocento all'Unione Europea (Rome, 2003).

Heide-Irene Schmidt is a historian and researcher associated with projects at the Ruhr-University Bochum. She is currently working on German-US co-operation in international monetary and economic affairs. Her publications include 'Der regionale Aspekt in der amerikanischen Außenwirtschaftsstrategie, 1955–1960. Die Rolle Deutschlands und Japans', in G. Schmidt and C. F. Doran, eds., Amerikas Option für Deutschland und Japan (Bochum, 1996), 'The Debate on Economic Reconstruction

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0960777303009329 Published online by Cambridge University Press

and Interallied Economic Cooperation', in H. Berghoff and R. von Friedeburg, eds., Change and Inertia. Britain under the Impact of the Great War (Berlin, 1998) and '"The Embarrassment of Strength". Die deutsche Position im "International Monetary System", 1958–1968', in U. Lehmkuhl, C. Wurm and H. Zimmermann, eds., Deutschland, Großbritannien, Amerika: Politik, Gesellschaft und internationale Geschichte im 20. Jahrhundert (Stuttgart, 2003).

Jim Tomlinson is Professor of Economic History at Brunel University and has written extensively on British economic policy in the twentieth century. His most recent book is The Politics of Decline: Understanding Post-war Britain (London, 2001).

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0960777303009329 Published online by Cambridge University Press