ANOTHER THROAT
Twenty-First-Century Black US Persona Poetry and the Archive

Ryan Sharp

"Sharp's analysis and thoughtful treatment of different kinds of poetic projects—even as they all fit under the rubric of persona poems—demonstrate his dexterity as a thinker. His book offers an incisive and valuable portrait of African American poetry's powerful historical imagination."
—Keith D. Leonard, American University
288 pages $34.95 paper

INSCRIBING SOVEREIGNTIES
Writing Community in Native North America

Phillip H. Round

"Round reveals how Native North Americans put material literacy practices to decolonizing ends . . . This book puts to rest any lingering narratives of a divide between oral and written culture as it traces a number of ways in which Indigenous peoples brought spoken languages and linguistic practices into writing and back out again, sustaining living, vibrant vernacular languages."
—Laura Mielke, University of Kansas
304 pages $34.95 paper

COLORED WOMEN SITTIN' ON HIGH
Womanist Sermonic Practice in Literature and Music

Melanie R. Hill

"An expressive and passionate analysis. There is no other book-length treatment that brings together such disparate writers, speakers, and musical artists within an overarching eschatological, exegetical, and literary and cultural critical framework."
—Crystal J. Lucky, Villanova University
320 pages $29.95 paper

SALTWATER
Grief in Early America

Mary Eyring

"Treating equally the physical and the psychic, the experiential and the expressive, Eyring teaches us how to listen to those who grieve and how openness to pain changes our perception of the past, and of the present."
—Kathleen Donegan, University of California, Berkeley
Published by the Omohundro Institute of Early American History and Culture
280 pages $39.95

CONFEDERATE SYMPATHIES
Same-Sex Romance, Disunion, and Reunion in the Civil War Era

Andrew Donnelly

"From memoirs to dime novels to Henry James's canonical writings, Donnelly excavates compelling evidence of same-sex desire during a period that most historians have rendered silent. A major contribution to both Civil War history and sexuality studies."
—Jim Downs, Gettysburg College
304 pages $32.95 paper

NO RACE, NO COUNTRY
The Politics and Poetics of Richard Wright

Deborah Mutnick

"Mutnick has done a masterly job of buttressing recent revisionist scholarship on Wright through her use of new archival material."
—Bill V. Mullen, author of James Baldwin: Living in Fire
304 pages $34.95 paper

BLACK PROSE
Authorship and the Limits of Law in Nineteenth-Century African American Literature

Faith Barter

"Faith Barter remakes African American literary studies as a genealogy, and she is truly doing something spectacular for law and literary connections in nineteenth-century studies. [The book] belongs alongside other important texts in nineteenth-century history and literature. Original and necessary."
—Samantha Pinto, University of Texas at Austin
240 pages $34.95 paper

SHY OF THE SQUIRREL'S FOOT
A Peripheral History of the Jargon Society as Told through Its Missing Books

Andy Martrich

"This book makes a bold and counterintuitive argument for understanding how the failure to publish certain works allows us to understand the project of a press. It lingers with the specificities and nuances of outlier projects that work to revise canonical narratives of American poetry. All of this is in addition to offering a phenomenal demonstration of the bibliographic arts."
—Daniel Scott Snelson, University of California, Los Angeles
200 pages $24.95 paper

Resisting Big Tech
The Personalized is Political
Niels Niessen
August 2025 | 9781350504097

Part call to action and part cultural and philosophical meditation, this open access book alerts us to the ways in which Big Tech has come to structure the way we live and of the dangers of datafiction, urging us to resist it slowly colonizing our everyday lives.

Autism and the Empathy Epidemic
Janet Harbord
September 2025 | 9781350345058

Embedded in film studies and neurodiversity scholarship, this open access book challenges the widespread idea that autism is an epidemic characterised predominantly by a deficit of empathy, arguing that the reverse is true: we are living through an empathy epidemic in which autism is the outcast.

MODERN LANGUAGE ASSOCIATION

Have You Joined an MLA Forum?

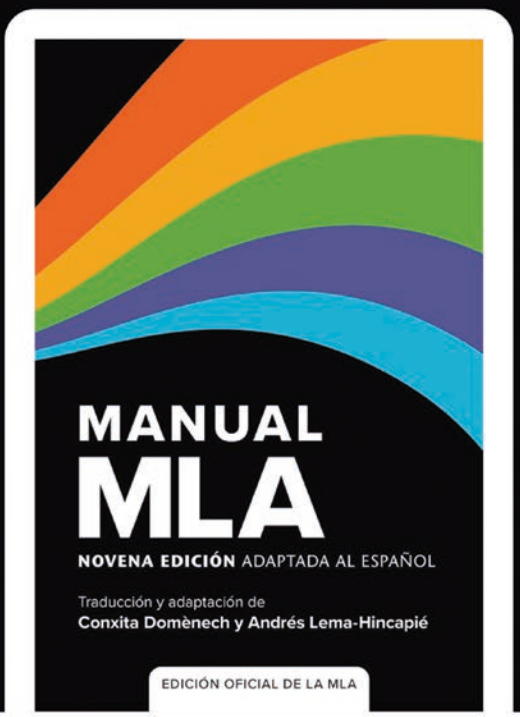

Forums are groups that represent areas of scholarly and professional interests for MLA members. In addition to providing a community of scholars with whom you can share your work, forums offer opportunities to participate in guaranteed convention sessions and—through forum delegate elections—ensure breadth of representation in the MLA Delegate Assembly.

Members may choose up to five primary forum affiliations. Selecting a forum allows you to vote in its forum delegate election—and you can join the affiliated MLA Commons group, where members post calls for papers and share scholarship and teaching resources.

To select your primary forums, visit My MLA between 15 December and 15 October.
