THE SOCIETY FOR THE PROMOTION OF ROMAN STUDIES

With almost 2,000 members worldwide, the Society is the leading organisation in the United Kingdom for those interested in the study of Rome and the Roman Empire. Its scope is wide, covering Roman history, archaeology, literature and art down to about A.D. 700.

THE SOCIETY SUPPORTS

- an extensive programme of publication:
  - two annual publications — the Journal of Roman Studies, which contains articles and book reviews dealing with the Roman world in general, and Britannia, which has articles and reviews specifically on Roman Britain
  - two monograph series — the JRS and Britannia monographs
  - an e-Newsletter — Epistula, circulated twice a year, keeping members up to date with news of recent discoveries, research, exhibitions, conferences, and publications.
- a library of over 152,000 volumes, including 700 current periodical titles, maintained jointly with the Hellenic Society and in conjunction with the University of London's Institute of Classical Studies. It has an international reputation as one of the world's foremost Classics lending libraries.
- a programme of public lectures and conferences, visits to sites and museums, and lectures arranged with local branches of the Classical Association
- schools, by the award of grants to help the teaching of all aspects of the Roman world
- university students, by the award of summer placement bursaries at museums and heritage organisations
- archaeology, through grants for excavations and bursaries to sixth-formers for archaeological fieldwork
- conferences, including the international biennial Roman Archaeology Conference
- a website, providing information about the Society, links to other useful sites, and hosting IMAGO, the Society's online image bank developed from the Library slide collection

MEMBERSHIP

Membership is open to all; no entrance fee or professional qualification is required.
Members are entitled to:

- receive annually in print form and via online access either the JRS or Britannia or both. Student members receive their journal(s) online only
- receive (by email) the biannual e-Newsletter
- receive advance notice of forthcoming monographs at special offer prices
- use the library and borrow the Society's books, either in person or by post, while living or resident in the UK
- attend the Society's lectures and other events, of which a programme is circulated in September

THE JOURNAL OF ROMAN STUDIES

POLICY STATEMENT

The Journal of Roman Studies (JRS) has appeared annually for over a century, and is recognised internationally as one of the premier journals in its field. The Journal publishes papers in the wide field which the Roman Society was established to promote, namely 'the study of the history, archaeology, literature, and art of Italy and the Roman Empire, from the earliest times down to about A.D. 700'. JRS welcomes submissions from across the full range of that field, including interdisciplinary approaches and reception. The key criterion for publication is that papers make a fresh and significant contribution to the understanding of the Roman world, and have the potential to stimulate further discussion. JRS also publishes Review Articles, surveying recent developments, and reviews of a wide selection of important new books in all scholarly languages.

SUBMISSION: Review Articles and reviews are commissioned by the Reviews Editor. Papers primarily concerned with the archaeology of Roman Britain should be sent in the first place to Britannia; those concerned with the archaeology of the Roman Empire at large are equally welcomed by JRS. The Editor will consider research papers of up to 15,000 words in length, including notes. Longer papers are accepted only in exceptional circumstances, and should only be submitted after discussion with the Editor. There is no minimum length: authors are expected to write concisely and the Journal welcomes papers of 10,000 words or less, so long as they address issues of general importance. All papers should be carefully thought through, with clear statement of the argument and of its broader significance, and adequate signposting to the reader of the steps in the argument. Papers should so far as possible be accessible to non-specialists. The language of publication is English, and we expect the English of submitted articles to be reasonably fluent. Please note that the Journal does not reprint material substantially published elsewhere (including online and/or in other languages, whether in original form or revised); nor will it accept papers under consideration elsewhere. Given the expectations of rigour and significance, we will not normally accept more than one submission from a given author in any twelve-month period. Submission is by e-mail to the Editor. Documents should be submitted in Word. All intending contributors must read the detailed instructions on format and style available online on Cambridge Core at <https://www.cambridge.org/core/journals/journal-of-roman-studies/information/instructions-contributors>. The print volume is scheduled to appear in November each year. Individual articles appear earlier on FirstView.

EDITORIAL PROCEDURE: The Journal is run by an Editorial Board (for membership see Society's website www.romansociety.org). Submissions which are clearly not suitable for the Journal are declined at the initial review stage on the joint decision of the Editor and one further member of the Editorial Board (who receives the submission in anonymised form). If an article is declined at the initial review stage, the author may expect to be notified within two weeks. All other submissions are circulated at the Editor's discretion to a minimum of two academic referees, at least one of whom will normally be a member of the Board; where appropriate, submissions may also be assessed by other specialist readers. In order to ensure maximum impartiality, all submissions are circulated to reviewers (including to those on the Board) without indication of authorship. The process of refereeing necessarily takes time, but authors may expect to receive a verdict within four to five months of submission. The Journal does not currently have a backlog of papers awaiting publication. Detailed comments are normally sent only to authors of submissions which have been sent for full peer review, or which are thought suitable for resubmission. Authors are frequently invited to revise submissions in the light of such comments.

ELECTRONIC MATTERS: The Society's website (www.romansociety.org) gives the table of contents and abstracts of all papers in the Journal. Recent issues of the Journal of Roman Studies can be accessed online via Cambridge Core by subscribers at <https://www.cambridge.org/core/journals/journal-of-roman-studies>. Once editing is complete, individual papers or reviews may be accessed by subscribers via FirstView in advance of the printed journal. Appearance on FirstView (with the issuing of a DOI) constitutes formal publication; only the page numeration will differ in the printed version. It is not possible to alter papers or reviews before the Journal is printed. The Society permits JSTOR (a system of electronic archiving) to put on its website back issues of the Journal (for more information see www.romansociety.org).

OPEN ACCESS: The Journal has a Green Open Access policy. The Journal currently has a 'hybrid model', allowing authors to choose publication of the Version of Record as Gold Open Access on payment of an article processing charge or under a transformative 'Read and Publish' agreement with its publisher, Cambridge University Press. Potential contributors may visit 'Open Access Publishing at Cambridge' (https://www.cambridge.org/core/services/open-research/open-access) for information on open access policies, compliance with major funding bodies and guidelines on depositing their manuscript in an institutional repository.

COPYRIGHT: All authors are required to sign a form assigning the Society an exclusive licence to produce and publish. If a paper includes textual or illustrative material not in the author's copyright, permission must be obtained from the relevant copyright owner for the non-exclusive right to reproduce the material worldwide in all forms and media. The author is held responsible for paying any fees required as a condition for obtaining such permission. Authors should initially seek the permission of the publisher to reproduce copyrighted material that has been published. For unpublished material, authors should seek permission of the owners, whether individuals or institutions.

Submissions and all general enquiries should be addressed to the Editor, Professor Myles Lavan (mpl2@st-andrews.ac.uk).

Correspondence relating to reviews should be addressed to the Reviews Editor, Professor Neville Morley (N.D.G.Morley@exeter.ac.uk).

Books for review should be sent to the Librarian, Hellenic and Roman Societies, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU, UK.

The Journal of Roman Studies is a member of COPE [Committee on Publication Ethics].
