Experimental Economics, 8:167 (2005)
© 2005 Economic Science Association

Dissertation Abstracts

Recent Ph.D.s (e.g., within 6 months of defending the thesis) are invited to submit abstracts, no longer than 400 words, for publication in this section of Experimental Economics.

Submissions should be accompanied by a short letter of support from the advisor/supervisor, which will not be published. These abstracts are not peer-reviewed, but they are assessed by the Co-Editors to determine whether their content and quality are suitable for the journal. Of course, an important criterion is that the dissertation should use laboratory or field experiments.

Abstracts should be submitted to the same Springer editorial office that receives regular submissions:

Experimental Economics
Editorial Office
Springer
101 Philip Drive
Norwell, MA 02061
U.S.A.

https://doi.org/10.1007/s10683-005-1846-z Published online by Cambridge University Press