

Law's Empire

Ronald Dworkin

Here is the long-awaited, full-length presentation of Ronald Dworkin's theory of law. He begins with the interpretive process by which judges determine what the law is. He provides a masterful explanation of how the Anglo-American legal system works and on what principles it is grounded. Dworkin argues persuasively and forcefully that propositions of law are properly settled upon when they answer the requirement that a political community act in a coherent and principled manner toward all its members.

Integrity as the very heart of our legal system is a theory to be scrutinized deeply. Scholars, theorists, lawyers, judges, students, and political activists will debate Law's Empire for years to come.

Legalism

Law, Morals, and Political Trials

Judith N. Shklar

With a new Preface by the Author

Legalism deals with the area between political theory and jurisprudence. Incisively and stylishly written, this book constitutes an open challenge to reconsider the fundamental question of the relationship of law to society.

The Yolngu and Their Land

A System of Land Tenure and the Fight for Its Recognition

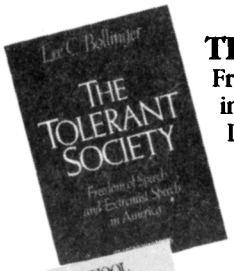

Nancy M. Williams. The Yolngu are an Aboriginal hunting-and-gathering people in the Northern Territory of Australia. Their ideas of the land are subtle, highly elaborated, and linked by symbolism to religion. This book is the first attempt to describe in detail an Aboriginal system of land tenure in terms an English-speaking reader can understand. It also recounts the litigation that the Yolngu resorted to from 1968 to 1971 in an attempt to win recognition of their ownership of the land. Although the verdict went against the Yolngu, the case led to the passage of the first Australian law to acknowledge the Aborigines' right to land. The author also traces the history of European ideas about proprietary interests in the land and shows how interpretations of societies based on a foraging economy have influenced that history. $35.00

Law & Society Review

BASIC STYLE SHEET

All manuscripts should be typed double spaced on one side only. Rejected manuscripts cannot ordinarily be returned. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include footnotes and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the author to conform to the style of the Review. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult recent issues of this journal for further illustrations. A more detailed style sheet is available from the editorial office.

1. CITATIONS: All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. They should follow the statement they support and be in the following style:

(last name of author, year: page number or numbers to which you refer, if any)

EXAMPLE: . . . the opposition in Paris (Rudé, 1967: 167).

2. FOOTNOTES: All footnotes should be numbered sequentially and placed immediately after the text. They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.

3. REFERENCES: References are to be placed at the end of the manuscript. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in chronological order beginning with the oldest. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a; 1970b).

a. BOOKS: LAST NAME, First name (year) Title of book. City: Publisher.

EXAMPLE: ARNOLD, Thurman W. (1935) The Symbols of Government. New York: Harcourt, Brace and World.

b. ARTICLES: LAST NAME, First name (year) "Title of article," volume number Journal initial page of article (month and day only if each issue is separately paginated).

EXAMPLE: STERN, Curt (1970) "The Continuity of Genetics," 99 Daedalus 882.

4. TABLES AND FIGURES: Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

5. ABSTRACTS: All articles should include an abstract of between 50 and 100 words.
