George Eliot
A BIOGRAPHY

By GORDON S. HAIGHT, Yale University. Professor Haight's long-awaited study of George Eliot will stand as the definitive biography of the great English novelist. No other work tells her story so fully or with such sympathy and dramatic interest. Based on Professor Haight's research begun in 1933, which has already produced GEORGE ELIOT AND JOHN CHAPMAN and the monumental seven-volume edition of THE GEORGE ELIOT LETTERS, the biography uses much newly discovered manuscript material, including the opening scene of a historical novel written when George Eliot was only fifteen—her earliest fiction. The "need to be loved," a dominant element of her personality, appears in her relations with John Chapman, Herbert Spencer, and with several other men before she formed the union with George Henry Lewes that scandalized the Victorians for twenty-five years. The details of this extraordinary affair are revealed completely for the first time in these pages. Lewes's invaluable role in fostering her diffident genius and—despite the irregularity of their "marriage"—securing her acceptance by society makes fascinating reading. 12 halftones. $12.50

The Dynamics of Literary Response

By NORMAN N. HOLLAND, State University of New York, Buffalo. Applying psychoanalytic principles to a variety of literary figures ranging from Chaucer to Antonioni, Professor Holland develops a dynamic model of man's response to literature. "The most systematic and detailed of all attempts to put literary criticism on psychoanalytic ground. The book is lucid, patient, and ingratiating without any sacrifice of theoretical rigor. I believe it will come to be recognized as the indispensable reference point for future discussion of the subject it treats."—FREDERICK CREWS, University of California, Berkeley. Line illustrations. $8.00

James Joyce Remembered

By CONSTANTINE CURRAN. Mr. Curran first met James Joyce in 1899 when they were both students at University College in Dublin, and the two remained close friends until Joyce's death forty-two years later. From this lasting friendship, his intimate understanding of Joyce's Dublin background, and from his direct knowledge of Edwardian Ireland, Mr. Curran has provided this sensitive and perceptive portrait of the artist. 4 plates. $4.75

A STATEMENT OF EDITORIAL POLICY

PMLA endeavors to represent the most distinguished contemporary scholarship and criticism in the modern languages and literatures. It welcomes either new or traditional approaches by either young or established scholars, providing only that whatever it publishes is well written and likely to be of permanent value. The distribution of papers in PMLA should reflect work of distinction actually being done from year to year, regardless of periods or languages. Members who feel their interests neglected by this policy are urged to write and to encourage others to write articles good enough to be published.

Since its audience is the total membership of the Association, PMLA is reluctant to publish minor articles or highly technical studies addressed to specialists in limited fields. Nor does it encourage brief notes or unduly long papers. PMLA does not review books. Articles should be written in a clear, concise, and attractive style, with documentation held to a necessary minimum.

Any member of the Association has the privilege of submitting papers for publication in PMLA. Each paper submitted will be read by at least one consultant with special competence in the field concerned and, if in any way recommended, it will also be read by at least one member of the Editorial Committee. Attempt is made to publish papers within nine months of acceptance. If a decision to accept or reject a paper seems unduly delayed, contributors are reminded that the consultant readers and the Editorial Committee are distinguished men and women who generously contribute their scant leisure to the advancement of scholarship in humane letters.

An abstract in English on the standard form must accompany every article submitted to PMLA. Printed abstract forms and guidelines may be obtained from the Editor.

Manuscripts, prepared in conformity with the MLA Style Sheet, should be addressed to the Editor of PMLA, 62 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10011. Carbon copies are not needed, but should be made and retained by the author. Pamphlets On the Publication of Research and on The Publication of Academic Writing may be purchased from the MLA Materials Center.
