The Great Mother

An Analysis of the Archetype

Erich Neumann

Translated by Ralph Manheim

With a new foreword by Martin Liebscher

This landmark book explores the Great Mother as a primordial image of the human psyche. Here the renowned analytical psychologist Erich Neumann draws on ritual, mythology, art, and records of dreams and fantasies to examine how this archetype has been outwardly expressed in many cultures and periods since prehistory.

The Seven Deadly Sins of Legal Writing

Theodore L. Blumberg

A most cogent guide to good legal writing. Blumberg emphasizes the importance of cultivating a clear and engaging prose style. He not only provides a typology of the profession's most common literary sins; he explores the motivations behind them. At once witty and exhilarating, The Seven Deadly Sins of Legal Writing will change the way lawyers and scholars do business.

$7.95 paper
56 pages
ISBNs: 1-934084-04-2
978-1-934084-04-5

Under pressure of disbarment this book should be read and understood by every lawyer, most of whom forget they, and the judges who read their miserable briefs, are human beings.

— Gerry Spence

A remarkable and concise roadmap to more effective, intelligible and persuasive legal writing. An invaluable desktop resource.

— Theodore B. Olson

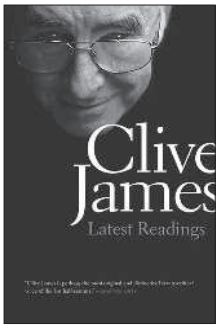

Theodore L. Blumberg practices corporate and entertainment law in Manhattan. A graduate of Temple University School of Law, he is a frequent contributor to The New York Law Journal and a lecturer in the Fahringer seminars in legal writing.

THE SCHOOL OF CRITICISM & THEORY at Cornell University

An international program of study with leading figures in critical theory invites you to apply for its 2016 Summer Session, June 19 - July 29

IN NEW YORK STATE'S FINGER LAKES REGION

"The SCT combines a relentless schedule of events with a pervasive spirit of conviviality."
Martin Moraw, Brandeis University

"In this community of critics, away from the familiar ecology of one's home institution, one is offered new ways of seeing, new questions, new connections."
David Russell, Princeton University

"One of the most enriching intellectual experiences of my academic life."
Karine Côté-Boucher, York University

"Six weeks in Ithaca gave me many moments of hopefulness: I made extraordinary friends; I found space, seven years into a faculty position, to think and to argue without the pressure of writing or publication."
Andrew van der Vlies, Queen Mary, University of London

Hent de Vries, Director
Russ Family Professor in the Humanities and Philosophy, Director of The Humanities Center, Johns Hopkins University

The Program
In an intensive six-week course of study, participants from around the world, across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, explore recent developments in critical theory.

Tuition
The fee for the session is $3000. Applicants are eligible to compete for partial tuition scholarships and are urged to seek funding from their home institutions.

Admission
We welcome applications from faculty members and advanced graduate students at universities worldwide. Applications must be submitted online by February 1, and admissions decisions are announced in March.

For online application and program information:

Fatal Glamour

The Life of Rupert Brooke

Paul Delany

978-0-7735-4557-1 $34.95 cloth
ebook available

"Delany gives us a less one-sided portrait of Brooke than we have yet seen. The central achievement of this book looms most largely in its cultural iconoclasm. Fatal Glamour, likely to become the definitive biography of Rupert Brooke, smashes the ancient myths and idols of a Georgian product of the old Renaissance grammar school."

Theatrical Jazz

Performance, Àṣẹ, and the Power of the Present Moment

Omi Osun Joni L. Jones

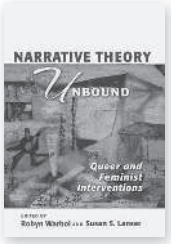

"Jones details a fascinating interconnection between Yoruba spirit practices and theatrical jazz art-making. In graceful and stunningly clear prose, Jones shows exactly how late twentieth- and early twenty-first-century black performers have molded American theater to manifest the critical, affirming, transformative characteristics of ritual."

CLEARING THE GROUND conveys the texture of Cavafy's written life through the course of a near decade — the threads of preoccupation, the unfolding elucidations, the occurrence of the poems in their shining clarity. What appears is an active and intimate image of Cavafy, the poet and the man.

I scanned Cavafy availed by 15 pundits of translation and criticism; only now I begin to discern this poet to be a man as I would be, a man whose diversified fulfillments and consummations were to be held within one apprehension, the which, I now discern, he had achieved. Thank you, Martin McKinsey. —Richard Howard

It strikes me as a must for anyone interested in modern poetry, queer studies, or (as I am most) how a poet discovers the courage and conviction to make a lasting mark in language. —Joshua Weiner

An important contribution to primary and secondary bibliographies of modern gay letters. —Josiah Blackmore

The notes put each poem in a new light. —Thomas W. Laqueur

Approaches to Teaching Tolkien's The Lord of the Rings and Other Works

Edited by Leslie A. Donovan

"This work fills a major need. It will give students and professors alike the confidence to teach Tolkien and the ability to construct a meaningful and challenging course."

—Janet Brennan Croft, University of Oklahoma

Although a philologist and scholar, J. R. R. Tolkien set out only to write a story that he and his friends would enjoy reading. In The Hobbit and in The Lord of the Rings, he created an entire world informed by his vast knowledge of mythology, languages, and medieval literature. Today, the readership for Tolkien's absorbing secondary world—filled with monsters, magic, adventure, sacrifice, and heroism—continues to grow.

Approaches to Teaching the Works of Jack London

Edited by Kenneth K. Brandt and Jeanne Campbell Reesman

"Outstanding. Necessary for newcomers to London and … for those who have taught the canonical texts before."

—John Dudley, University of South Dakota

A prolific and enduringly popular author—and an icon of American fiction—Jack London is a rewarding choice for inclusion in classrooms. London has garnered considerable attention, but the breadth of his personal experiences and political views and the many historical and cultural contexts that shaped his work are key to gaining a nuanced view of London's corpus of works, as this volume's wide-ranging perspectives and examples attest.

Approaches to Teaching Sand's Indiana

Edited by David A. Powell and Pratima Prasad

"This volume on Sand's Indiana is greatly needed not only because the novel is widely taught but also because it could be taught better—and this volume provides exciting new insights for teaching it."

—Annabelle Rea, Occidental College

Written in 1832, Indiana, George Sand's first solo novel, appeared during a period of French history marked by revolution and regime change, civil unrest and labor concerns, and slave revolts and the abolitionist movement, when women faced rigid social constraints and had limited rights within the institution of marriage. With this politically charged history serving as a backdrop for the novel, Sand brings together Romanticism, realism, and the idealism that would characterize her work.

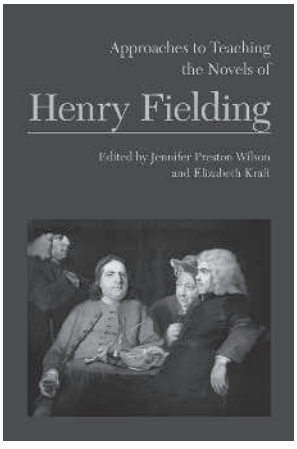

This volume gathers pedagogical essays that will enhance the teaching of Indiana and contribute to students' understanding and appreciation of the novel.

Approaches to Teaching the Novels of Henry Fielding

Edited by Jennifer Preston Wilson and Elizabeth Kraft

The works of Henry Fielding, though written nearly three hundred years ago, retain their sense of comedy and innovation in the face of tradition, and they easily engage the twenty-first-century student with many aspects of eighteenth-century life: travel, inns, masquerades, political and religious factions, the '45, prisons and the legal system, gender ideals and realities, and social class.

This volume discusses the available editions of Joseph Andrews, Tom Jones, Shamela, Jonathan Wild, and Amelia; suggests useful critical and contextual works for teaching them; and recommends helpful audiovisual and electronic resources.
