Law & Society Review
BASIC STYLE SHEET

All manuscripts should be typed double spaced on one side only. Rejected manuscripts cannot ordinarily be returned. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include footnotes and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the author to conform to the style of the Review. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult recent issues of this journal for further illustrations. A more detailed style sheet is available from the editorial office.

1. CITATIONS: All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. They should follow the statement they support and be in the following style:

(last name of author, year: page number or numbers to which you refer, if any)

EXAMPLE: . . . the opposition in Paris (Rudé, 1967: 167).

2. FOOTNOTES: All footnotes should be numbered sequentially and placed immediately after the text. They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.

3. REFERENCES: References are to be placed at the end of the manuscript and double spaced. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in chronological order beginning with the oldest. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a; 1970b).

a. BOOKS: LAST NAME, First name (year) Title of book. City: Publisher.

EXAMPLE: ARNOLD, Thurman W. (1935) The Symbols of Government. New York: Harcourt, Brace and World.

b. ARTICLES: LAST NAME, First name (year) "Title of article," volume number Journal initial page of article (month and day only if each issue is separately paginated).

EXAMPLE: STERN, Curt (1970) "The Continuity of Genetics," 99 Daedalus 882.

4. TABLES AND FIGURES: Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

5. ABSTRACTS: All articles should include an abstract of between 50 and 100 words.

BELONGING IN AMERICA

Reading between the Lines

Constance Perin

In the seven essays of this groundbreaking work, Constance Perin departs from the "community studies" tradition to reveal what the study of cultural systems in their own right can help us to discover about American society in particular and human behavior in general. Like peoples everywhere, Americans try to reduce the unsettling ambiguities of human existence and find meanings they can live by. With that proposition, Perin examines the lines of life those meanings etch by tracing out the social significances of the ideas behind such modern complex institutions as privacy, kinship, friendship, homeownership, neighborhoods, suburbanization, racism, dog ownership, cleanliness training, and gender stratification.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF WOMEN

Cases in Law and Social Change

Leslie Friedman Goldstein

Using a wide variety of cases involving women's rights, Leslie Friedman Goldstein examines the ways in which the U.S. Supreme Court initiates and responds to social change. This book assumes no prior knowledge of law and is the only such comprehensive casebook, a thorough revision, update, and reorganization of Goldstein's 1979 work. It is current through the May 1987 Supreme Court decisions.

Students in political science, women's studies, and law courses will welcome Goldstein's thorough and clear presentations of these legal issues. Readers will also appreciate both the careful historical treatment of women's constitutional rights and the helpful introduction to legal terms and the judicial process.

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT
Deadlines Announced for LSA Student Research Awards

The Trustess of the Law and Society Association voted at the 1987 annual meeting to initiate a program of awards for undergraduate and graduate student research. The awards of $100 each will be based on submissions and nominations made by nonstudent members of the association to the Committee on Student Awards. The committee encourages members of the association to submit examples of meritorious student papers.

The subject matter and methodology of recommended papers should participate in the tradition of interdisciplinary law and society research, and should approximate the type of article that appears in the Law & Society Review. All papers entered in the competition should be authored by matriculated students at any (U.S. or non-U.S.) institution of higher education between September 1987 and January 1989. Submissions from undergraduate students will be evaluated separately from those by graduate and law students. We hope to announce two awards at the annual meeting in June 1989.

Submissions for the June 1989 awards should be received by January 5, 1989 and sent to Susan S. Silbey, Department of Sociology, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181. The papers will be read and evaluated by the Committee on Students Awards: Lawrence Baum, Ohio State University; Sheldon Messinger, UC–Berkeley; John Monahan, University of Virginia; Marjorie Zatz, Arizona State University; and Susan S. Silbey, Wellesley College.
