

QUEERLY PHRASED
Language, Gender, and Sexuality
Edited by ANNA LIVIA and KIRA HALL
This pioneering collection examines the conversational patterns of queer speakers in a wide variety of settings and contexts. Truly global in scope, it sets a new standard in the study of language's impact on the construction of sexuality.

Possession
Cognitive Sources, Forces and Grammaticalization
Bernd Heine

Bernd Heine argues that the structure of grammatical categories is predictable to a large extent once we know the range of possible cognitive structures from which they are derived. The author uses as his example the structure of predicative possession, and shows how most of the possessive constructions to be found in the world's languages can be traced back to a small set of basic conceptual patterns. Using grammaticalization theory Heine describes how each affects the word order and morphosyntax of the resulting possessive construction.

Syntactic Theory and the Structure of English
A Minimalist Approach
Andrew Radford

A new textbook written for students with no background in syntax, and it introduces them to key concepts of Chomsky's Minimalist program (e.g. merger and movement, checking, economy and greed, split VPs, agreement projections), as well as providing detailed analysis of the syntax of a range of different contruction types. Illustrative material is mainly drawn from varieties of English (Belfast English, Shakespearean English, Jamaican Creole, etc.). There is a substantial glossary and extensive workbook section with helpful hints and model answers.

Anaphora and Conceptual Structure

KAREN VAN HOEK

Karen van Hoek presents a cogent analysis of the classic problem of constraints on pronominal anaphora within the framework of Cognitive Grammar. Integrating the results of previous work, Van Hoek develops a model in which some nominals function as "conceptual reference points" that dominate over stretches defined by the semantic relations among elements. With profound implications for the nature of syntax, this book will interest theoretical linguists of all persuasions.

Silence

Interdisciplinary Perspectives

1997. 23 x 15,5 cm. XI, 404 pages.
Cloth US$ 156.00
• ISBN 3-11-015459-5
(Studies in Anthropological Linguistics 10)

This fascinating volume gathers eighteen specially commissioned papers written by international specialists in linguistics, psychology, discourse and narrative analysis, culture and the arts, ethnography and pragmatics, representing a wide variety of approaches to the phenomenon of communicative silence.

JOHAN ELSNESS

The Perfect and the Preterite in Contemporary and Earlier English

1997. 23 x 15,5 cm. XVII, 432 pages.
Cloth US$ 177.00
• ISBN 3-11-014686-X
(Topics in English Linguistics 21)

In this study the author discusses various theories that have been put forward to account for the choice between the present perfect and the preterite in expressions of past time in English. The distribution between the two verb forms is examined in a varied corpus consisting of more than 13,000 recorded verb forms. The analysis is supplemented by elicitation tests carried out with British and American informants.

Cloth US$ 141.00
• ISBN 3-11-015509-5
(Contributions to the Sociology of Language 78)

This book is a collection of sixteen original articles on language planning in the wake of sociopolitical change. Each chapter covers a different language which underwent changes due to deliberate planning which has recently been rescinded or replaced by further planning for sociopolitical reasons. A theoretical epilogue draws together the findings into a general model. The volume contributes to the study of language and society and language change.

Modality in Germanic Languages

Historical and Comparative Perspectives

1996. 23 x 15,5 cm. VII, 319 pages.
Cloth US$ 141.00
• ISBN 3-11-014334-8
(Trends in Linguistics. Studies and Monographs 99)

This volume contains papers from the 1993 International Symposium on Linguistics in Troms¢, which was devoted exclusively to questions of Germanic linguistics, where modality lends itself particularly well to comparative study both synchronically and diachronically. The papers throw light on a great many aspects of modality and subjectivity in one or more Germanic languages. They represent a wide interpretation of the term modality, including discourse modality, subjectivity, various types of speaker-orientation, and pragmatic aspects.

Cloth US$ 177.00 DM
• ISBN 3-11-015491-9
(Trends in Linguistics. Documentation 14)

This is the fourth volume in the comprehensive compendium of the vocabulary of Hittite, one of the great languages of the ancient Near East and of paramount importance for comparative Indo-European studies. This basic research tool is based on cuneiform texts from the second millenium B.C.E., and covers both attestations and origins of words with special emphasis on cognates in other Indo-European and Near Eastern languages. Five further volumes are in preparation.

Cloth US$ 113.00
• ISBN 3-11-014967-2
(Speech Research 12)

This book contains studies by authors from eight countries focussed on the issue of how phonological differences between languages affect processing. It combines current treatments of relevant phonological issues with the newest constraint-based frameworks in theoretical phonology with accounts of empirical studies of listening performance (to native- and to foreign-language input) from psycholinguistic and phonetic laboratories. This is the first book to combine phonological and psycholinguistic approaches to the same issue in a cross-linguistic framework.

INFORMATION FOR CONTRIBUTORS

LANGUAGE, the journal of the Linguistic Society of America, carries technical articles dealing with problems of linguistic science, reviews of recently published linguistic works, and notes of interest to professional linguists.

MANUSCRIPTS for publication and exchange JOURNALS should be sent to the Editor of LANGUAGE (Mark Aronoff, Dept. of Linguistics, SUNY Stony Brook, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4376) BOOKS for review should be sent to the Review Editor (Edwin Battistella, 209 Humanities, Wayne State College, Wayne, NE 68787). Manuscripts of articles and reviews should be submitted in FOUR copies; they will not be returned. Normally at least one author of any article or review article submitted to Language must be a member of the Society.

An abbreviated LSA Style Sheet is provided below. For the complete Style Sheet, see the December LSA Bulletin, the Language web page at http://semlab2.sbs.sunysb.edu/Language/language.html, or write to the editors.

Manuscript form. Manuscripts should be typed double-spaced throughout (including footnotes, quotations, and reference list) on $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$ inch heavy-weight bond paper (ONE SIDE ONLY), with no less than 1 inch margins on all four sides. Type size should not be smaller than 12 characters per inch. Tables, charts, diagrams, extended quotations, and other passages to be set in smaller type (though not simple rules, examples, or formulae) must each appear on a separate sheet. All pages of the manuscript must be in a single pagination.

Abstract. Each manuscript submitted for publication should be accompanied by an abstract of about 100 words, summarizing the conceptual content of the article. It should be typed on a separate sheet of paper.

Text. Use only single quotation marks—never double except for quotes within quotes. Use a single straight underscore to indicate italic type, a double underscore for SMALL CAPITALS. Use normal capitalization. A letter, word, phrase, or sentence cited as a linguistic example or subject of discussion appears in italics—or else in phonetic or phonemic transcription, enclosed in square brackets or in slant lines.

Citations. Brief citations given in the text should take such forms as 'Examples are given in Nichols 1986', 'Bloomfield (1933:264) introduced the term ...', or 'Many coastal languages of the Northwest had sounds intermediate between nasal and voiced oral stops (Kinkade 1985).'

Footnotes. All footnotes must be typed (with double spacing) on a sheet or series of sheets following the main text. They must never appear on the same sheet with the text.

References. Full citation of literature referred to should be given in a bibliography at the end of each article or review, beginning on a separate page with the heading REFERENCES, and arranged alphabetically by surnames of authors. The format should be consistent with the following examples:

Bloomfield, Leonard. 1933. Language. New York: Holt.

Bolinger, Dwight. 1965. The atomization of meaning. Language 41.555–73.

Brugmann, Karl. 1906. Grundriss der vergleichenden Grammatik der indogermanischen Sprachen. 2nd edn., vol. 2, part 1. Strassburg: Trübner.
