The Plot to Kill God

Findings from the Soviet Experiment in Secularization
PAUL FROESE

"The story of the survival of religion in the Soviet Union is one of the great surprises of the end of the twentieth century. Indeed, it is so surprising that many social scientists write it off, attribute it to cultural nationalism, or ignore it. It is assumed that religion simply was given a temporary reprieve and would shortly succumb to 'secularization.' Froese demolishes this assumption."

Serbia, Croatia and Slovenia at Peace and at War:
Selected Writings, 1983—2007
by Sabrina P. Ramet (NTNU, Trondheim)

For the past 30 years, Sabrina Ramet has been a frequent visitor to the region now known as the former Yugoslavia and has conducted extensive fieldwork, consisting of both interviews and archival research. Today, she is generally regarded as one of the great chroniclers of Yugoslav and post-Yugoslav history and politics. This volume brings together some of her best work on Serbia, Croatia, and Slovenia, written over a period of 25 years.

Croatia since Independence:
War, Politics, Society, Foreign Relations
edited by Sabrina P. Ramet (NTNU, Trondheim), Konrad Clewing (Südost Institut), and Reneo Lukić (Laval University)

Since the collapse of socialist Yugoslavia in 1991, Croatia has charted an independent course. Croatia successfully defended its borders in a four-year war against Serb insurgents backed by Belgrade and is now on track to join the European Union and NATO. This collection brings together essays examining a wide range of topics from politics, economics, and foreign policy to religion, literature, gay/lesbian issues, and anarchist activism, providing a unique insight into Croatian society and politics today.

Exotic Moscow under Western Eyes: Essays on Culture, Civilization and Barbarism
By Irene Masing-Delic
ISBN 978-1-934843-40-6
270 pp. • Price: $59.00 USD (cloth)

This collection of essays on Turgenev, Goncharov, Conrad, Dostoevsky, Blok, Briusov, Gor'kii, Pasternak and Nabokov presents a unified vision of diverse voices. Recurring themes in Masing-Delic's work include the distinction between "culture" and "civilization" with Russia as the bearer of culture because it is "barbaric." Another deals with the synthesis of "sense and sensibility" and the vision of "Apollo" and "Dionysus" creating a "civilized culture" together. Voices that delight in the artificiality of civilization are complemented by those apprehensive of the dangers of barbarism. Adding new perspectives to the much-debated opposition of vital Russia and a declining West, Masing-Delic offers novel interpretations of classics from Oblomov to Lolita and The Idiot to Doctor Zhivago.
