Sixth pupils who plan to read computer sciences at university; with the single reservation about the absence of answers, it is an excellent book for self-study. While probably too elementary mathematically for the needs of more stringent university courses, the book is recommended to teachers of Further Mathematics as well as to students who are interested in these fields.

10.1017/mag.2019.134

OWEN TOLLER

4 Caldwell House, 48 Trinity Church Road, London SW13 8EJ

e-mail: owen.toller@btinternet.com

Acknowledgements

The Editor wishes to thank the following for refereeing items for the Gazette in the last year.

Referee (Affiliation)

Stephen Abbott (Felixstowe); Mohamed Ali Abudayah (German Jordanian University, Amman, Jordan); Ian Anderson (University of Glasgow); Margaret Anthony (London); John Appleby (University of Newcastle); Paria Assawi (Hamedan, Iran); Jessica Banks (University of Hull); John Baylis (Haverfordwest); Alan Beardon (University of Cambridge); Tom Bennison (Long Eaton); Michael Bradley (St Briavels); David Brannan (Bedford); Bob Burn (Exeter); Alan Camina (Norwich); Robin Chapman (University of Exeter); Mark Cooker (University of East Anglia); Tony Crilly (St Albans); Michael de Villiers (Doonside, South Africa); Stan Dolan (St Albans); Michael Fox (Leamington Spa); James Gazet (Eton College); Peter Giblin (University of Liverpool); Martin Griffiths (University of Colchester); Roger Heath-Brown (University of Oxford); Ray Hill (University of Salford); Graham Hoare (Chalfont St Peter); David Hopkins (London); Graham Jameson (Lancaster University); Martin Josefsson (Markaryd, Sweden); Jeremy Kun (Oakland, USA); Paul Levrie (Turnhout, Belgium); Barry Lewis (London); Nick Lord (Tonbridge School); David Lowry-Duda (University of Warwick), Martin Lukarevski (Skopje, Macedonia); Des MacHale (University of Cork); John Mahony (Christchurch, NZ); Adam McBride (Edinburgh); Robin McLean (University of Liverpool); Alex Paseau (Wadham College, Oxford); Tomas Persson (Centre for Mathematical Sciences, Lund, Sweden); Peter Ransom (Southampton); Anthony Robin (Colchester); Chris Robson (Earswick); Tom Roper (University of Leeds); Peter Shiu (Sheffield); John Silvester (King's College, London); Alan Slomson (Leeds); David Stirzaker (St John's College, Oxford); Owen Toller (St Paul's School, London)

10.1017/mag.2019.135

https://doi.org/10.1017/mag.2019.135 Published online by Cambridge University Press